BIG B-29 ATTACK ON OSAKA!

Yanks Break Thru at Shuri; Kill 13,000 Japs in 13 Days

DAYLIGHT RAID FIRES SECOND LARGEST CITY

3,200 Tons of Bombs Are Dropped

GUAM, June 1 [Friday]—(AP)—At least 450 Super Fortresses, escorted by about 150 Mustang fighters based on Iwo Island, poured 3,200 tons of fire bombs on Osaka, Japan's second largest city, in a daylight raid today. On Okinawa American troops broke thru Japanese defenses.

It was the second daylight incendiary strike by fighter escorted B-29s in three days. It came 72 hours after an equally strong force dropped an equivalent load of fire bombs on Yokohama, the enemy's fifth greatest city.

Osaka was hit once before by B-29 incendiaries, on March 14, when 300 planes struck. More than 2,000 tons of bombs on that raid destroyed or damaged 8.1 square miles of the city.

Today's target area was a section bordering Osaka and south of the Shin Yodo river—probably the city's most highly industrialized district.

Important among the objectives today was the Dural sheet metal and aircraft propeller plant. Near this are shipyards, two large electrical equipment plants, machinery factories, textile mills, and several power stations.

Harbor Facilities Targets

The main Osaka railway station, with an extensive rail network and freight yards, stands near the Shin Yodo river. Destruction there would break the heart of the city's communications.

The target area included Osaka's harbor facilities—the customs house and municipal harbor department besides important docks and warehouses.

Tokyo radio's version of the Osaka strike was that "some 300" B-29s dealt the blow and were engaged by Japanese interceptors as well as opposed by anti-aircraft fire. These "counter-attacked the enemy with good results," said the broadcast. "Damage caused on the ground remains to be made known later, pending a checkup."

Osaka, located centrally on Japan's main island of Honshu, has a population of 3,252,340 and ranks among the three most densely populated cities in Japan, with an average of 45,000 persons per square mile.

Kill 1,000 a Day

United States 10th army divisions, killing more than 1,000 Japanese daily, crumbled enemy defenses across southern Okinawa yesterday in a general assault which gained up to 1,200 yards and virtually pinched off Shuri.

The fall of Naha on the west coast and Yonabaru on the east had left only Shuri in the center and, for all practical purposes, the Japanese around Shuri are thru.

First marine division patrols advancing yesterday thru the wrecked city of Shuri were within sight of westbound forward elements of the 96th infantry division.

Thus one encirclement virtually has been completed around any enemy troops within Shuri's boundaries and another is forming more than a mile to the south.

61,519 Japs Killed

Today's fleet bulletin, disclosing these successes, listed 61,519 Japanese dead in the campaign up to May 30 and 1,353 taken prisoner. The new total was an increase in 13 days of 13,416.

Adm. Nimitz' bulletin, in a highly optimistic view of the situation, said the once stoutly defended Naha-Shuri-Yonabaru defense line "has now been outflanked and the entire Shuri position is being pinched out."

Looking from west to east across that defense line, this is the current situation:

On the west end, the 6th marine division which captured Naha has advanced southeast as one arm of a pincers around Shuri, reached the Kokuba river, and by nightfall

Canning Sugar Ration Halted; 40% Cut Due

Home canning sugar allotments in Chicago and a large area of the middle west were suspended by the office of price administration last night in a national campaign to conserve sugar and particularly to prevent it from being diverted to racket channels.

Rae E. Walters, OPA regional administrator, explained the suspension will be in effect until new and lower quotas—about 60 per cent of the 1944 amounts, he predicted—have been fixed. He promised this will be done as speedily as possible.

In addition to fixing new quotas, OPA will require users of canning sugar to sign pledges covering its use. Those who make false statements will face one year's imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

Black Market Is Target

The home canning sugar situation is serious, Walters said. He added that the quota suspension was conceived to stop black market operators from applying for canning sugar and diverting it into bootleg canning, candy making, and liquor distilling.

In Washington, OPA Administrator Bowles said that the sugar shortage has been "aggravated by home canning chislers." Last year and again this year, he said, many persons applied for canning sugar which they intended to use for other purposes.

Bowles warned that thousands of bakeries and other industrial sugar users may be forced out of business if the situation is not remedied. Home canning sugar racketeering, he said, has reduced the average family table ration by 37 per cent.

Use Reports to Be Made

Walters said issuance of home canning sugar will be conditioned on the signed pledge in which the home user not only vows to use the sugar for canning, but to report to the local board later how much food was canned and how much sugar was used, and to turn in the equivalent in regular sugar stamps for the amount not used for canning.

The OPA also announced more points will be required for canned spinach and tomatoes. During June No. 2 cans of spinach will need 20 points instead of the current 10, and No. 2½ cans will need 30 instead of 20 points. No. 2 cans of tomatoes will go up from 30 to 40 points. However, point values for tomato and vegetable juices will go down.

Red points V-2, W-2, X-2, Y-2, and Z-2 become valid today for four months, as do blue stamps E-2 thru H-1. Red stamps E-2 thru J-2 expire June 30, and blue stamps N-2 thru S-2 also expire then.

REDS REPORTED SEEKING SECOND 6 BILLION IN U.S.

San Francisco, Cal., May 31 (AP)—Soviet requests for long term United States credits may rise from $6,000,000,000 to $12,000,000,000 it was indicated today, if Russian financing terms are met.

Soviet delegates, in conversations outside the security conference here, have said that commerce with the United States can form a firm basis for post-war coöperation and that such trade will be limited only by the extent of American credit.

With credit terms and interest rates acceptable to the Russians, an informed source said, the original estimate of $6,000,000,000 required by the soviet union might be doubled.

Actual negotiation of loans awaits determination of general United States policy toward credit for foreign countries.

British Set Up Sydney Air Line, World's Longest

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, May 31—British Overseas Airways company today inaugurated the world's longest air line, a 13,257 mile service to Sydney, Australia, in 70 hours, against the pre-war time of 9½ days. Until more aircraft are available, B. O. A. C. and its Australian associate, Quantas Empire airways, will fly the route once a week in each direction via Burn, Dorsetshire; Lydda, Palestine; Karachi, India, and Ceylon.

WALLS OF GAS FLAMES GUIDE PLANES THRU FOG TO SAFE LANDING

BY JAMES SLOAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, May 31—Britain tonight disclosed a secret device which enabled allied bombers to take off and land safely on fog-bound air fields, saving the lives of thousands of airmen, and announced that a munitions plant was in operation below the parliament building.

The anti-fog device is a wall of flame fed by thousands of gallons of gasoline. It is expected to play a big part in post-war aviation by eliminating the fog hazard which frequently cripples commercial flying.

The invention, known as "FIDO" from its full title, fog investigation dispersal operations, consists of a huge "box" of metal pipelines which provide lanes of fire along airdrome runways and burn off ground fogs.

The huge sheet of flame consumes 75,000 gallons of gasoline an hour at the rate of 6,000 gallons per aircraft landed. In two and one-half years of experimentation and operation FIDO has burned up 100,000 tons of gasoline.

FIDO at the outset was only a line of orchard heaters like the smudge pots used in America. Later a gigantic coke brazier a thousand yards long was tried successfully, but gasoline subsequently proved the best medium to fight the British fog, which had become a worse menace than the flak over Germany.

The first FIDO went into operation Nov. 19, 1943, and since then 2,500 planes have been safely landed at all fields with a FIDO, in addition to hundreds of lost craft that used the flames as a beacon light.

The long secret munitions factory is being operated in the Guy Fawkes cellar under the parliament building.

Kills 2 Cows Hurt by Train; OPA Put Out

Early Monday three cows on the farm of Berge Skartveit, a mile west of the village of Hinckley, De Kalb county, wandered onto the Burlington tracks which run past the farm. A freight train ran into them, killing one and breaking the legs of the two others.

When Skartveit found the two injured cows he notified Elmer Bastian, co-owner of the farm with Bert Best, and proprietor of a general store in Hinckley. Bastien hurried out to the pasture. There was nothing he could do but slaughter the moaning animals.

He had just killed one when W. L. Pratt, an office of price administration agent from Elgin, drove by. Pratt stopped and yelled at Bastien to hold everything.

Demands to See Permit

"Have you got a permit to kill these cows?" he demanded. Bastien explained what had happened.

"Don't touch these animals until you hear from me," Pratt ordered, and walked to the farmhouse where he telephoned the Chicago OPA office.

That office referred him to the OPA office in Sandwich, but for some reason Pratt failed to get in touch with it. Instead he instructed Bastian, waiting beside the suffering cow, to do nothing until he received further instructions. He then left.

The plight of the cow, too weak to regain its feet, was too much for Bastian, however, and he killed her and proceeded with the butchering. He then telephoned the Sandwich OPA, explained what had occurred, and received permission to store the meat in the cooler of his store, and to sell it if he collected points.

Hearing Set for Today.

Yesterday Pratt and an OPA investigator from Chicago, George Greenaway, called at Bastian's store. They handed him a summons, made out for Skartveit, which read: "Appear in room 799, at 222 W. Adams st., Chicago, at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow [Friday] to interview Edward Jordan, OPA supervisor. Fail not at your peril."

"What's this for?" Bastian wanted to know. He was told that Jordan would give him instructions about slaughtering the second cow, and what to do with the carcass of the one he had killed.

Bastian was astounded. "Those cows were injured three days ago," he said. "Do you think I left that carcass of the dead cow and the injured one lying out there in the field all this time?" Then he showed them the two dressed carcasses hanging in his cooler.

What followed then was described by Bastian as the "dangdest exhibition of tantrums" he ever had witnessed. The OPA men turned scarlet with rage, he said, and began calling him all sorts of names and swearing at him.

The demonstration soon attracted a crowd of about 30 townsfolk who listened for a while in shocked disbelief. Then they began muttering, and somebody yelled: "Tip over their car! Run 'em out of town!"

As the crowd moved closer the two agents jumped into their car, yelling to Bastian, as the car pulled away: "You'll hear from us."

Bastian, still bewildered at the agents' actions, watched the car out of sight.

"Dangdest thing I ever heard of," he said finally.

NORTHWEST GERMAN PROVINCES LISTED AS BRITAIN'S ZONE

CANADIAN ARMY HDQ., Germany, May 31 (AP)—Britain's zone of occupation in Germany was disclosed today. It will comprise four provinces in the northwestern section of the country—Schleswig-Holstein, Hannover, Westphalia, and the Rhine province.

Four army corps under command of Field Marshal Montgomery will comprise the military force maintained in this zone and the Canadian army of Occupation—the so-called 3d division—will form part of the Hannover district corps under British command.

REPORT FRENCH ORDER 'CEASE FIRE'; WITNESS TELLS OF SYRIAN BATTLE

Damascus Fighting Costs Hundreds of Casualties

BY CLAY GOWRAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

DAMASCUS, Syria, May 30 [Delayed]—Savage street warfare, which already has cost hundreds of casualties, has been raging in this ancient city for 18 hours. Hostilities, which day by day had been looming closer and closer between the Syrians and bitterly hated French colonial forces, flared into all-out action a few minutes before 7 p. m. yesterday [Tuesday].

The Syrians are poorly armed, with only rifles and a few antiquated machine guns, yet the French subjected Damascus to indiscriminate mortar fire, shelling by 75 millimeter artillery, and several bombings by American lend-lease Baltimore medium bombers.

French armored cars and tanks prowled the streets, blasting ruthlessly at any Syrians in sight. Senegalese [French colonial] infantrymen and machine gunners poured withering fire from the roof tops.

Civilians Smashed Down.

Game, frightened little groups of Syrian gendarmes and civilians, many armed only with revolvers, were smashed down by all weapons of modern warfare.

With Frank O'Brien, Associated Press correspondent, I was trapped in the Syrian government house for the first three hours of the fighting. Then we went thru black, bullet riddled streets to the British officers' club and finally to the Orient Palace hotel. Thruout the night and morning [Wednesday] the hotel was pounded by French machine guns and mortars despite the fact that the Syrians avoided placing even one gendarme in the building, hoping thereby to protect British, Americans, and other neutral citizens within from retaliatory fire.

About noon we draped a large American flag over us and went to the British legation.

[A Reuters dispatch from Cairo, Egypt, said that telegraphic communication from Syria to Egypt and Palestine was reported to have been cut off Thursday.]

French Begin Attack

There was no doubt the French opened the attack, despite the fact they repeatedly claimed Syrian snipers started it. I was standing on the steps of the Syrian government house [serail] watching a well-ordered Syrian demonstration against the French in front of the building when the first French machine gun cut loose a few hundred yards down the street. The demonstrators broke for cover. Within a few minutes machine guns were hammering away all around the government house.

O'Brien and I hurried inside. Syrian gendarmes were springing to battle posts thruout the building, but held their fire until they were certain the French had started a real battle. Then the combat began. The gen-

RUSSIA'S BROKEN VOWS ASSAILED BY LA FOLLETTE

The mounting concern over the struggle for supremacy in Europe is described in a dispatch by Walter Trohan on Page 3.

BY PHILIP DODD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 31—Russian violation of pledges made to her allies respecting the freedom of European nations endanger the future peace of the world, Sen. La Follette [Prog., Wis.] told the senate today in a three hour speech in which he demanded revisions of the Dumbarton Oaks world peace formula.

Sen. La Follette

La Follette declared the power of one big nation to veto international action against an aggressor nation, contained in the Dumbarton Oaks proposals now under discussion at the San Francisco world security conference, would not guarantee peace and warned the provision would endanger senate ratification of any plan agreed upon at San Francisco.

La Follette also criticized the "dogmatic, and at times arrogant, refusal" of Prime Minister Churchill of England to discuss plans for the freedom of the people of the British empire.

Assails Propaganda

"I am no more prepared," La Follette said, "to commit the United States to enforcing British rule over India, Burma, or Malta, than I am to commit my country to enforcing Russian dominion over Poland, Romania, or Austria."

Other highlights of La Follette's speech included:

1. The American people have been oversold by misleading propaganda to put over the "fantastic idea" that the San Francisco conference is the beginning and the end of the peace making process.

Hits Weak Diplomacy

2. "Americans must constantly remember that nebulous internationalism was used during the first World war as a cloak to cover the secret bargains of war breeding imperialism."

3. American diplomatic activities in Europe show "marked evidence of an inferiority complex" and it is time we stood up to our allies.

4. The United States must throw her moral strength on the side of justice and freedom, but that does not mean we must give indiscriminating support to every international proposal.

5. We must resist the "Pied Pipers who would take us down some easy road which can only end in bitter disillusionment and the loss of our fundamental liberties."

In his attack on Russian policies,

De Gaulle Is Silent on Churchill's 'Ultimatum'

BY E. R. NODERER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, June 1 [Friday]—The French government has instructed Gen. Humboldt, French commander-in-chief in Syria and Lebanon, to cease firing, according to the French controled Levant radio at Beirut. London morning newspapers printed the report, but there was no confirmation from official sources and the situation remained confused. There had been no official declaration of an end to the hostilities.

Gen. Bernard Paget

The broadcast from the Beirut [Beyrouth] radio was reported as saying:

"The British commander-in-chief in the middle east [Gen. Bernard Paget] approached the commander-in-chief of French forces in the Levant today [Thursday]. The French government previously transmitted instructions to comply with the British wishes. French troops today completed their task of reëstablishing order in the greater part of Syria."

Churchill Makes Demand

However, the British Broadcasting corporation reported that reception was poor and said it was not clear whether this meant the French had complied with Prime Minister Churchill's demand for French troops "immediately" to cease fire and withdraw to their barracks "in order to avoid a collision between British and French forces."

Churchill notified Gen. De Gaulle that Gen. Paget had been ordered to "intervene" with his powerful middle eastern army to prevent further bloodshed in Syria and to protect allied communication lines for the Japanese war.

"Once the firing has ceased and order has been restored, we shall be prepared to begin tri-partite discussions here in London," Churchill said.

De Gaulle Gives No Answer

Dispatches from Paris said the government there was stunned by the note. De Gaulle met with the cabinet at a hastily called meeting. It broke up last night apparently without a decision on how France was to respond. De Gaulle left his office for home at 9:30 p. m. without issuing a statement.

A Paris dispatch said that the lapse of eight hours after the note was received without a "cease fire" order being given was interpreted in Paris as a tacit refusal by De Gaulle of what several French officials described as a British ultimatum.

It was disclosed in Washington, D. C., that the United States last Monday sent a note to France urging it to review its policy toward Syria and Lebanon and saying there was an impression in America that the French were using the threat of force to obtain concessions in the two middle eastern states. [Text of United States' note appears on page 2.]

Claim Damascus Is Quiet

The Beirut radio said that Damascus, the Syrian capital 75 miles to the east, was "relatively calm" in the last 48 hours and that the situation in Aleppo also had improved. The broadcast, described as an official French statement to the press, said:

"Occasional rifle duels continue in Damascus. The French had to defend their buildings, which housed women and children evacuees. They did so by counter-attacking. Mopping up has continued in several quarters of the town. In Hama clashes continue, while Homs is calm. When the strike started in Beirut [yesterday], no new unrest or clashes broke out."

A dispatch from Damascus, however, said the French mortar fire

Seize All Clothing in Paris Stores

BY ROBERT SAGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, May 31—Stirred to action by increasing gravity of the food and clothing riots staged daily by returning war prisoners and political deportees, the French government today dispatched 100 trucks, protected by armed guards, to requisition all remaining stocks of wearing apparel in Paris stores.

The attempt to calm the clamor of ragged and hungry prisoners of war came on the eve of the celebration which will mark the repatriation of the 1,000,000th allied prisoner.

Prices Rise Daily

To French civilians the move means the end of any hopes they might have entertained of obtaining new clothes or shoes this year unless they are willing to pay black market prices, which are rising daily due to the growing scarcity of merchandise. To buy a black market man's suit of fairly good quality today requires the outlay of 25,000 francs, or $500.

The crew of government trucks today swooped down on big department stores, neighborhood tailor shops, and the famous open air bazars in the Flea Market and the Swiss Village, seizing their meager stocks and turning a deaf ear to bitter protests of dealers, many of whom were holding merchandise in expectation of selling it on the black market.

Uniform Prices Paid

Prices paid by the collectors, regardless of the requisitioned goods' quality, were:

Man's suit, $40; man's shirt, $6.40; man's drawers, $2.80; pair of socks, $1.60; woman's dress, $32; woman's slip, $4.40; pair of stockings, $2.80; cotton children's suit, $20. These prices were one-half to one-tenth of what the same articles could bring on the black market.

there had continued until 4 p. m. yesterday and that there were an estimated 400 dead and 500 wounded, with possibly thousands more dead and wounded lying in the narrow streets of the town.

Despaired of Further Appeals

Foreign Secretary Eden, in making his disclosure of the British note to France in the house of commons, announced he did not think a further appeal to the French and Syrians would have any effect and the British government had reached the conclusion it could no longer stand aside.

The British action was taken, according to Eden, in the interests of the security of the whole middle east which involves communications for the war against Japan and followed reports that Prime Minister Churchill had phoned President Truman overnight to secure a complete identity of viewpoints.

Eden disclosed that the government of Syria had sent an urgent appeal to the British government recalling that Britain had endorsed promises of independence and guaranteed treaty negotiations with France to be conducted freely and not under duress. Under these circumstances, Eden declared, the British government "with profound regret" had ordered the commander in chief to take necessary measures to check the fighting.

De Gaulle Invited to London

It was disclosed in diplomatic circles that Churchill suggested to Washington several days ago that De Gaulle be invited to come to London to discuss the whole situation with the British prime minister, Eden, and an American representative, possibly Acting Secretary of State Grew. This proposal, which Truman was said to have approved, depended on an avoidance of open hostilities in the Levant and fell thru as a result of the outbreak of violence.

DEATH TOLL GROWS

BY FRANK O'BRIEN

DAMASCUS, Syria, May 31 (AP)—This Syrian capital was lying tense but at least momentarily quiet tonight under a column of smoke rising from the shattered center of the town where all during the night Wednesday and thru to 4 p. m. today the French had poured a barrage of mortar fire.

The latest estimates of the dead and wounded were given by the director general of public health, Dr. Ahmet Kadry, who said that during brief truces his ambulances had picked up 400 dead and 500 wounded.

Americans Removed

American nationals were removed from the capital during a truce today. They were taken to a British military camp on the Bagdad road, along with British nationals.

The announcement that British troops had been ordered to intervene in the strife was not heard by Damascenes because the French cut off the electric current in the center of the town just as the radio started to broadcast Prime Minister Churchill's statement. The British announcement was heard elsewhere at 6 p. m.

The road to the Lebanese capital of Beirut, 75 miles away, was busy with British motor transport during the day, perhaps moving to a rendezvous from which to carry out Churchill's instructions.

I traveled this highway twice during the day and when returning across the mountains after 7 p. m. saw British tanks with alert crews parked near some villages.

Rush Government House

At 1 a. m. Thursday the French turned a terrific barrage of fire by 75s and mortars on the serail [government house] and French troops later rushed it. The parliament building was occupied by Senegalese troops.

During the morning the French shelled a deserted American school in the Amas sector, but when Charge d'Affaires Satterthwaite telephoned to say that he was going to the school and place a bigger American flag on it the French ceased fire on that area.

A French officer this morning refused to allow American Vice Consul William Porter of Fall River, Mass., to return to his room in the Orient Palace hotel after the building had been taken over by Senegalese troops.

Eye-witnesses said the Senegalese began serious looting in Damascus during the afternoon following their occupation of the Orient Palace hotel. American and British consular officials said they saw them looting in the hotel, which contains the personal effects of many American, British, and other nationals, including consular and diplomatic officials such as Porter. The Bank of Syria and Lebanon also was looted, it was said.

TRIBUNE WRITER TELLS STORY OF DAMASCUS FIGHT

Americans Under Fire in Hotel Rooms

Mortars Open Fire

Within half an hour French 60 mm. mortars were smashing around the building and machine gun fire was punctuated by bursting grenades. Jamil Bardam Bey, the elderly foreign minister who at present is acting prime minister, directed operations, moving among the panicky civilians and attempting to calm them, also pointing out new defensive positions for extra Syrian gendarmes in the building.

An hour later, just after dark, we heard the first plane coming. It roared low over the government house and then we heard explosions as it dropped two bombs on the Damascus citadel, which is headquarters of the Syrian gendarmerie. Reports this morning varied, one reporting only one dead, another 18 dead, and still another 80. Accurate figures are impossible, with all telephone lines cut and the streets death traps.

Conducted to Basement

In the midst of the fighting there was comic relief of a sort. When the bomber came a second time, a huge Syrian lieutenant kicked a locked door leading to the basement off its hinges and led us there. The first thing I saw in the narrow dungeon were two huge tanks. I asked what they were.

"You will be all right. They contain only kerosene and won't burn very well," he answered. We had a difficult time convincing him we preferred death by bullet or bomb to barbecuing.

Believing the Senegalese would sack the building during the night, we decided to make a break for it. We didn't know then, but the French tactics seem to be not to attempt to capture vital buildings but simply to pound them to pieces slowly with high explosives, causing as much damage as possible.

Cabbie Demands Fare

We had just screwed up nerve to dash thru the streets when some one tugged my arms. A taxicab driver, who had brought us there, was demanding his fare. His cab, parked in the street, was probably riddled and he had an excellent chance of not living thru the night but still he wanted his 10 pounds [$40]. We told him if we were all alive after the trouble he would get it and a bonus.

Twice on the two block trip to the Officers' club we threw ourselves flat when bullets flicked out of the night. Finally we made it, then with a half dozen British officers trod boldly up Center street to our hotel without a shot being fired at us. One, a British major, is dead now and another, a South African captain, is in a British hospital with a score of fragment woundr.

Room Bullet Torn

When I saw my room it was another shock. It is on the front of the hotel facing the French garrison across the open central square. The Senegalese had riddled the room thru and thru with machine gun fire. Great chunks were torn out of the walls, gaping rents showed in the mosquito netting over my bed and everything in the room was covered with a layer of broken plaster and rubble.

This morning when I went back to get my clothes all was quiet until just as I crossed the room to get a picture of my wife and child from the bedside table. A machine gunner cut loose again. I fell flat on the bed with bullets whizzing into the wall inches overhead. Then I rolled off into the debris on the floor and inched my way out again—with the picture.

Last night was miserable. We first tried to sleep on beds in O'Brien's room when mortars began pounding the roof of the hotel and we dragged mattresses to the floor and caught catnaps there between blasts. Finally a shell hit directly across the street and we gave up and moved across the hall to the room of William Porter, Fall River, Mass., the American vice consul.

Americans Assemble

Already there with him were most of the other Americans, among them Lt. David Dodge of New York City, son of President Bayard Dodge of the American university at Beirut [Beyrouth] and nephew of Cleveland Dodge, executive vice president of Phelps Dodge corporation. Joseph Satterthwaite, Tecumseh, Mich., the American consul, had gone off in a British armored car to get aid to move us before the hotel came down around our ears. We sat huddled in the bathroom because of the heavy mortaring just outside the window.

Suddenly the door smashed open and the South African captain rushed in, his face and shirt dripping blood. He stammered that he and the major had been descending to the hotel basement when a rifle grenade hit the stairway beside them. We stopped his wounds the best we could, then went searching for the major. We found him huddled at the foot of the stairway with a severe head wound and an arm slashed open to the smashed bone. He died an hour later in the British hospital. The grenade which killed him was fired thru the basement window.

On to British Legation

Finally during a comparative lull we made our way afoot under flag protection to the British legation. There we learned what had happened while we were cooped up. Thruout the night and morning the French shelled steadily. Learning that Mardam Bey and members of his government had left the government house for refuge in the Suruja district of the city they poured shells and mortar bombs into the densely packed men, women, and children in that area.

The French had smashed the front of the Syrian parliament building with shells. They had continued shelling and bombing the citadel and also shelling the government house. The American legation had a bullet hole thru it.

Copy of Proclamation

We also saw for the first time a copy of a proclamation written by Gen. Oliva-Roget, the French military commander. Roget has admitted to both the British and American legations that he wrote it but said he later changed his mind and had it withdrawn. The last paragraph said:

"We know them [the Syrians]. We know those in command. We have the names of those who are carrying out their orders. I demand from French subjects a few days, perhaps only a few hours, of patience. We are off for the big row. Let every man hold himself in readiness. All accounts will be settled in one blow."

The order was dated May 26.

Satterthwaite said he had been in communication with the president of Syria, Chucri Kuwatly, now lying seriously ill in his home. Kuwatly told the American consul that if Britain and America did not do something within two days he would lead his gendarmes against the French, himself hoping by his suicide to gain help for his little country.

AID 'BEYOND ADVICE' EXPECTED FROM U. S., BRITAIN, SYRIAN SAYS

BEIRUT, Lebanon, May 31 (AP)—Syria expects "assistance beyond advice from Britain and America, considering both powers responsible for the loss of hundreds of Syrian lives," Saadula Jabri, speaker of the Syrian parliament, said today.

Jabri, here en route to Cairo for a meeting of the council of the league of Arab nations on June 4, charged that France was aiming at domination over Syria, either by mandate or by treaty and was using troops on the "absurd" ground of protecting communications with the far east.

Lebanon, which thus far has not experienced the violence that has swept over Syria, moved to prepare for resistance if the battle should spread. A decree provided for immediate creation of a volunteer army. All business was at a standstill as the result of a four day general strike called to protest what the Lebanese national congress called "acts of aggression" by France in Lebanon and Syria. The council of ministers approved a memorandum of protest against French use of force in Syria and dispatched Premier Karami and three deputies to Cairo for the meeting of the Arab council.

Firing Squad Executes Belgian Woman Traitor

BRUSSELLS, Belgium, May 31 (AP)—Irma Swervaeger, 40, the first Belgian woman executed as a traitor, was shot at Brugge yesterday. She was accused of having given to the enemy information that led to the killing of seven Belgian patriots.

U. S. NOTE URGES FRANCE: REVIEW LEVANT POLICIES

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—The United States has sent a note to France urging it to review its policy toward Syria and Lebanon to facilitate a solution of the controversy there.

Acting Secy. of State Grew said today that the note was delivered in Paris last Monday by Ambassador Jefferson Caffery to the French provisional government. The note said:

"I [Ambassador Caffery] have been instructed by my government to convey to the government of France the deep concern which my government feels with regard to recent developments in Syria and Lebanon.

"An impression has been created in the United States and elsewhere that French representatives have been using the threat of force to obtain from Syria and Lebanon concessions of a political, cultural, and military nature. It is understood that, at a time when the French delegate general to the Levant states was presenting to the governments of Syria and Lebanon proposals which, if accepted, would give France a special position in those countries, a French warship was landing fresh armed forces in Beirut.

Independent Countries

"Syria and Lebanon are recognized by France and the United States as independent countries. They are also members of the united nations whose representatives, including representatives of France and the United States, are now discussing in San Francisco means for guaranteeing world security and for combatting aggression.

"It is important, at the very time when the international security organization is in process of being created at San Francisco, that in order to inspire confidence in its future effectiveness all nations, both great and small, refrain from any act which might give rise to a suspicion — however unjustified — that a member of the future organization may be pursuing a policy not in conformity with the spirit and principles which that organization is being established to defend.

Historic Friendship

"The United States places a great value upon the historic friendship which since its founding has bound it to France. It considers that France and the United States, which share the inheritance of a common democratic past, have a particular responsibility for the vitality and influence of the democratic tradition, and that the extent to which that tradition will continue to influence the course of history depends upon the manner in which the great nations which are its exponents make use of their position and their power and upon their willingness to coöperate with one another.

"The government of the United States, therefore, in a most friendly spirit earnestly urges the government of France carefully to review its policy toward Syria and Lebanon with the purpose of finding a way to make it clear to those countries and to all the world, that in its dealings with the Levant states, France intends to treat them as fully sovereign and independent members of the family of nations."

No Reply Received

Grew said no reply has as yet been received. He said President Truman approved the British intention to take such action as might be necessary to avoid further bloodshed.

Asked if American equipment sent to France under lend-lease was being used in the Levant, Grew replied that lend-lease goods were supplied to France in accordance with an agreement by which such equipment was to be used for the defense of France against the axis. He said the United States government does not intend to provide military equipment for any other purpose. He said this government has not assigned any material for use in Syria.

French Ambassador Bonnet called on Grew today but later told reporters that the Levantine situation had not been discussed.

The White House announced that the whole situation in the Levant states "is under consideration by the President and the state department."

Press Secy. Charles G. Ross reiterated an assertion of yesterday, however, that President Truman has not been asked to intervene in the dispute.

IKE'S CHIEF OF STAFF TELLS PLAN TO TRAP GERMAN ASSASSINS

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, May 31 (AP)—In a statement designed to end confusion about the use of a "double" for Gen. Eisenhower last winter, Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith said today that the supreme commander's automobile had been borrowed and an officer placed in it by the counter-intelligence corps as a means of trapping enemy agents who reportedly were plotting to assassinate Eisenhower and other allied generals.

Lt. Col. B. B. Smith

The story of the deception was carried exclusively by the Associated Press last week and named Lt. Col. Baldwin B. Smith of Chicago as the officer who rode in the car on trips between St. Germain and Versailles.

Smith said that the ruse was intended to assist in the capture of a group of Germans headed by Lt. Col. Otto Skorzeny, gestapo aide of Heinrich Himmler, and not to provide Eisenhower with a double for his personal safety. Within three or four days "more than 100 men definitely proved to be associated with Skorzeny's organization" were arrested or shot and "the security people felt they had the matter well in hand," Smith said.

Red Accuses Argentina of Harboring High Nazis

MOSCOW, May 31 (AP)—The soviet commentator Vladimir Linetsky accused Argentina in the newspaper Moscow Bolshevik today of continued service to Hitler by harboring his henchmen. "During recent days," he said, "the reception room embraced the fascist spy and intimate of Adm. Doenitz, Count Karl von Lusburg; Richard Schroeder, Robert Ley's chief assistant; and the leading Gestapo men, Wilkening and Schekenbrack."

CONCERN GROWS OVER EUROPE'S TROUBLED STATE

Britain, Russia Jockey for Dominant Position

BY WALTER TROHAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 31.—In the short space of 24 days the general rejoicing which followed the fall of Germany has given way to mounting uneasiness as Britain and Russia jockey for the predominant position in Europe.

While there is increasing concern over the mounting tension as the old international game of power politics is aligning Europe into regional blocs, there is little serious fear of war, altho conflict is not beyond the realm of possibility.

It is widely acknowledged that neither Britain nor Russia wants to fight and that the United States certainly has no wish to trade one war for another. However, it is recognized that there is no spark for war so explosive as a clash at the borders of power spheres.

Small Nations Are the Chips

Most conservative observers feel that a huge game of international power is being played by Britain and Russia with the small nations of Europe as the chips. Each of the players is holding on to all the chips in sight and in the meantime putting on a grand bluff, these observers say.

While the British and the Russians both are protesting that they are occupying portions of the shattered continent of Europe only temporarily, it is felt by some that neither can be expected to yield any ground unless the other also gives ground. Other observers feel that British occupation may be dictated by such considerations, but they feel that Stalin is playing for keeps and will yield little, if anything, when the British offer to withdraw.

The complete military, industrial, and social collapse of Germany provoked the race of a new alignment on the continent. It is recognized that Germany no longer is in the ranks of the major powers. It is doubted whether she ever will return to the stature of a great power.

Thirteen Nations

Before the European war began there were 13 nations, stretching from the arctic to the Mediterranean, lying between Germany and Russia. These were Finland, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Greece, Albania, Austria, and Hungary. They had a total population of more than 115 million.

Today all of these nations, with the possible exception of Greece, are under Russian influence. Latvia, Lithuania, and Estonia have been formally annexed to the soviet union. Portions of Finland, Poland, and Romania have been swallowed by the soviets.

In the other portions of these three nations and in the other countries, the governments which have been set up have Communists in key positions.

Hold Germany to the Elbe

Further, the Russian army holds Germany to the Elbe river. The portion of Russian occupation extends roughly from Wismar on the Baltic to the westernmost tip of Czechoslovakia. This occupation gives Russia control of the Baltic, particularly in view of the "temporary" occupation of the Danish island of Bornholm, some 20 miles off the Swedish coast.

Russian held German territory puts the soviets within striking distance of the important German North sea ports of Hamburg and Bremen. The Russians are within 445 miles of London, 435 miles of Paris, and 315 miles of Antwerp, easy bombing ranges.

Against this formidable array, the British can claim an impressive bloc. There are British troops in Norway, Denmark, Holland, France, Belgium, Italy, and Greece. The British do not run the local governments in these countries, as the Russians do in their sphere, but they are there.

"Allied Occupation"

In official British circles the presence of British troops in liberated countries is ascribed to Britain's desire to help these countries get on their feet. The British insist, that except for the northern portion of Germany, their occupation is not British, but allied and as such decided upon by the joint command.

Official Russian statements also deny permanency in the Russian occupations. The soviets say they are helping democratic Poland, democratic Austria, democratic Hungary, democratic Romania, democratic Yugoslavia, and the like to establish democratic governments.

The British acknowledge having sizable forces in Italy, which have spread over to Trieste, where they are face to face with the ambitions of Marshal Tito, Yugoslav pal of Dictator Stalin. There is only a handful of Americans in this tense sector. The British also are in force in Greece, where soviet Greeks and other Greeks still eye each other warily in the wake of recent clashes.

Help to Restore Order

In Holland and France, the British say, only a small number of British troops are on duty to maintain supply lines for troops being returned from the war zone and for the German occupation. British troops in Norway and Denmark are around to help authorities of those nations round up Quislings and reestablish order, the British say.

Portugal has been aligned to Britain by alliances stretching back 200 years. Spain is neutral, but can be counted in the British bloc as the soviets are clamoring for an end to the present government, headed by Gen. Franco. Franco put down the soviets in his country in the civil war in which he was aided by troops from Italy and Germany.

Of the two remaining nations in Europe, one, Sweden, is deeply worried over the tension created by the latest play of power politics. Sweden is being surrounded by the spreading Russian sphere and has long feared that the soviets would demand Swedish bases on the ground they are essential to soviet security.

The remaining neutral, Switzerland, has dodged war for centuries by keeping out of power politics and playing a strict policy of no favorites. The mountainous country and the strategic control of the Alp tunnels connecting Italy with the rest of Europe have helped the Swiss hold to peace.

A New Military Alignment on the Continent of Europe

(Story in adjoining column)

Black areas on the map comprise Russian and Russian dominated territories in Europe. The crosses define the boundary of pre-war Russia. Distances shown between the western border of the "black" areas and strategic points farther west are all less than what is regarded as a reasonable bombing range.

HEAR 5 IN HOUSE WILL TOUR LANDS RULED BY RUSSIA

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—Five members of the house foreign affairs committee are reported planning a trip to Poland, Romania, and other Russian occupied countries.

A congressman who asked that his name not be used said he understood the group had full backing of the White House and the state department for its proposed "investigation" in these countries.

Representatives Gordon [D., Ill.], Ryter [D., Conn.], and Mundt [R., S. D.] were listed among those who will make the trip.

GERMAN CITIES GET SELF RULE, RUSSIANS SAY

MOSCOW, May 31 (AP)—The Russian army newspaper Red Star said today civilian self government has been established in all German cities under Marshal Ivan S. Konev's 1st Ukrainian army, which covers the southern half of Russian occupied Germany.

Altho Red Star did not elaborate, it was believed here that its reference to organs of self government included burgomeisters operating under the supervision of Red army commandants, with the Germans free to choose representatives in the municipal governments, cooperatives, ration boards, and other institutions.

TELL HOW TITO ESCAPED NAZIS WITH YANKS' AID

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—American soldiers lowered Yugoslav Marshal Tito down a rope by a cliff under fire to escape the Germans, Field Marshal Henry Maitland Wilson disclosed here today.

"Some time before the attack," said Wilson in a statement issued by the British information service, "it was recognized by the various allied military missions attached to Tito's headquarters that the Germans had located the headquarters because of the extensive increase in radio activity which emanated from Dravar from the time of Tito's arrival there.

Refused to Leave

"The British, American, and Russian missions withdrew to the adjoining hills and tried to persuade Tito to withdraw with them. He, however, persisted on remaining.

"When the German parachute attack developed on June 3, there was general fighting in the area, and Lt. Col. Street of the British army took a mixed Anglo-American party to the village. They found that Tito's position was precarious as the Germans were preparing to attack the front of the cave.

Under Machine Gun Fire

"They managed to get Tito out by a back entrance of the cave, using a rope to lower him down the face of a cliff. All this was carried out under medium range machine gun fire. The whole party then took to the hills, where they were under constant attack by enemy planes.

"Marshal Tito was evacuated to Bari in southern Italy by a Russian plane on the night of June 4-5. Tito then went from Bari to the Island of Vis, where he once again took over active command of the Yugoslav forces."

War in Levant Is Casting Pall Over Parley

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., May 31—With the war among the allies in the Levant casting a pall over the international security conference, the Big Five powers—the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France, and China—met today to deal with the greatest crisis since the 49 nation convention assembled five weeks ago.

The Big Five confronted numerous controversies that are impeding progress of the conference in constructing a new league of nations to enforce peace. Among them are:

1. The opposition of small nations to the power of any one of the Big Five to veto peaceful settlement of an international dispute.

Veto Has Wide Range

2. The question of future amendment of the league's charter and of the Big Five's power to veto amendments.

3. The election of the secretary general, chief administrative officer of the league, involving the Big Five veto and the power of the general assembly to override the security council.

4. The election of judges to the international court, likewise involving the veto power.

5. The expulsion of members provision which is demanded by Russia but opposed by the small nations favoring suspension only.

6. The question whether the international police force shall be formed by agreements among the nation or by agreements by nations with the security council.

7. Numerous economic and social problems.

'Self Government' Only

Concurrently with this development, it was disclosed that Great Britain has won its fight against any provision holding out hope of independence for India, Burma, or any other British dependency. Independence is to be an objective of dependent peoples in territories held in trusteeship by the league of nations, like Palestine and former German colonies for which Britain holds mandates issued by the Wilson league and like the Italian colonies for which Britain expects to be the trustee.

But the existing British, French, and Dutch colonies cannot look forward to independence under the new peace league's dispensation. The most they can expect is "self government in forms appropriate to the particular circumstances of each territory."

Contrary to report it appears that the Russians have not demanded the elimination of the provision that the rights of peoples in mandated countries, like Palestine, are not altered by the trusteeship arrangements. The phraseology may be modified but not the content.

Canada Gains Victory

The Russians have been convinced that the provision does not freeze the status quo permanently but is intended to safeguard the rights of populations of mandated territories in the interim of their transfer to trusteeship, which involves liquidation of the old league of nations and its mandate system.

Canada, the Netherlands, and other middle sized nations gained a victory in their "no vote, no fight" drive. They demanded a seat and a vote in the security council whenever that body considers employment of their armed forces for peace enforcement purposes. A conference committee agreed on an amendment conferring this privilege on any country contributing to the international police force.

The veto is the most vexatious matter before the conference. The small nations, numbering a majority of the conference, are clamoring for the elimination of the power of a single big nation to prevent conciliation or other pacific measures to settle a dispute. The big powers have prepared an interpretation of the veto privilege intended to appease the small nations.

The interpretation has been referred to the capitals of the powers for approval but instructions have not been received by the Russian delegation from Moscow.

The charter amendment question is generating much heat. The Big Five are determined to retain the power to veto any amendment. Also, there is controversy over calling a general conference of the nations 7 to 10 years hence to revise the charter. The United States opposed any set date on the ground that the security council at the time might be turning out the international police force against an aggressor. That would create an insalubrious "climate" for revising the system to abolish war.

Levantine Cross-Currents

The Russians were defeated when they opposed an amendment authorizing the assembly to approve or disapprove reports by the security council on what it is doing to preserve peace and to recommend to the council that it do whatever it may have failed to do in this respect. The Russians contended this would subordinate the council to the assembly, but they were voted down and the amendment approved in committee, 29 to 3, the three Russian states being the negative votes.

With the French fighting the Syrians and Lebanese and with Great Britain moving British troops against the French, apprehensions are spreading that the conference to abolish war may be wrecked on the rocks of big power discord.

The conference is torn with conflicting views of the controversy and sympathies for the principals in the dispute.

The delegations representing Syria and Lebanon in the conference have protested against the use of armed force by the French government to wrest concessions from them. The French have defended their action as in accord with their rights as the mandatory for the two countries appointed by the first league of nations. The Levantines say they were accorded independence in compliance with the express directions of the league covenant.

France Wants Bases

The French delegates here were frank in acknowledging that they mean to keep military bases in the two Levantine countries and retain national privileges there before granting the countries what the French call independence.

The French said certain forces are at work to throw them out of the Levant, forces that would profit from the French loss, and voiced little thanks to Great Britain for British help in 1941 when the British joined the free French in regaining control of Syria after the Vichy French had occupied the country.

The French say all they want is treaties providing bases and certain other French privileges with Syria and Lebanon. Once the treaties are signed, the French say they will abandon the mandate and give the Levantine countries independence.

The vast majority of the smaller nations take their stand with Syria and Lebanon.

As a result of the Levantine crisis, the drive by the small nations on the big power veto had gained strength. What is happening in the eastern Mediterranean is cited as a perfect example of how the veto would operate to render the league impotent to enforce peace.

For when the motion to invoke force should be put in the security council, France would have a vote, under the express provision of the league's charter pertaining to the use of force to preserve peace. And France would vote against the employment of force against itself. Inasmuch as unanimity of all Big Five powers is required on a vote to use force France would exercise the right to veto and that would end the matter. France then would be at liberty to proceed with its war.

WHOOPEE FRONT AT PARLEY RUNS INTO A DROUTH

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., May 31—A drouth in Scotch whiskey was being keenly felt at the world security conference today as social activity moved to a giddy peak.

In seeking to fix responsibility for the scarcity in Scotch, the finger of suspicion was leveled at no less a personage than State Secretary Stettinius. There were reports he had cornered the market in a worthy effort to promote good will among foreign leaders toward the host nation.

A painstaking investigation indicated that the beaming, white haired chairman of the American delegation was only partly to blame. He had ordered 100 cases of Scotch for entertainment purposes, it was learned, but only 25 were delivered. The British delegation also was guilty of large purchases of the imported article, it developed, but purely for consumption by those loyal to his majesty's government.

Russians Absolved

The Russians, for once, were unanimously voted innocent of any fault in this crisis. They esteem bourbon whisky nearly as highly as vodka but regard Scotch as unworthy of a he-man's palate.

One of the most sparkling social events of the conference was the reception tendered in honor of Lana Turner, famed "sweater girl" of the Hollywood film colony, by the Turkish delegation. Miss Turner's latest boy friend is Turhan Bey, a movie actor, who claims to be a Turk and who is her constant escort. Altho she wore, not a sweater, but a low cut evening gown at the reception, there were no complaints from Hasan Saka, Turkish minister of foreign affairs, and other members of the delegation.

In the final splurge of entertainment these additional events were notable:

Receptions—By Ambassador Halifax, his wife, and members of the British delegation for conference leaders; by Amir Faisal of Saudi Arabia for far eastern delegates; by Assistant War Secretary McCloy for army, navy, and air officers of the visiting nations; by Mrs. Ambrose Diehl for the Brazil delegation; by Mrs. Drew Chidester for the Costa Rican delegation; by the Russian delegation for conference notables, the press being specifically barred.

More Cocktail Parties

Dinner parties—By Australian Prime Minister Evatt for British Consul General Godfrey A. Fisher; by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haas for Abdel Hamid Badawi Pasha, Egyptian foreign minister; by Mrs. Frank Duveneck for the Ethiopian delegation; by Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Kinney for the Norwegian delegation; by Mrs. Charles O. Martin for the Egyptian and Iranian delegates.

Cocktail parties—By Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rambo Browne for the Venezuelan delegates; by Mrs. A. P. Otto for the Bolivian delegation; by Mrs. Arthur Carlson for the Turkish delegation; by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Coleman for the Australian delegation; by Mr. and Mrs. Berrien Anderson for the French delegation; by Dr. and Mrs. Frank Girard for Adm. and Mrs. Richard P. McCullough; by Mr. and Mrs. Coy Flimer for Lester Pearson, Canadian ambassador to the United States.

ICELAND STILL SEES ITS FUTURE TIED TO EUROPE'S

Some Want Their Nation Under U. S. Protection

BY WILLIAM STRAND
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, May 30 [Delayed]—There is little likelihood that Iceland will link itself politically with the western hemisphere for many years to come. This is the consensus of island leaders who argue that the nation has been looking toward Europe for a thousand years and it would be difficult to change overnight.

The men who will guide the tiny republic's destiny in the post-war period are well aware of the island's inability to defend itself, but they talk hopefully of maintaining strong ties with both the United States and Britain on the theory that they would get protection from both powers in the event another emergency arises.

The suggestion has been made that Iceland's althing, or parliament, declare the nation a part of the western hemisphere, thereby putting itself under the protection of the Monroe Doctrine as well as taking advantage of the Mexico City declaration of the readiness of all American republics to unite in repelling aggression against any of their number. One of the first publicly to espouse such a move was Jonas Jonsson, a member of the althing and former chairman of the Progressive party, who began months ago to urge his country to entrust its future to the new world.

Part of Western Hemisphere

"The time is gone when Iceland can rely on its traditional neutrality or the protection of its Scandinavian neighbors to prevent continental aggression," he said. "Therefore I am of the opinion that it would be in the interest of Iceland and the two great English speaking powers that either or both guarantee Iceland political freedom and independence. One form this could take would be for the United States to extend the Monroe Doctrine to cover Iceland, since it has been proved by scientists that this island belongs to the western hemisphere."

However, a radical change in the ancient ties between Iceland and the old world do not seem due for quick revision. The reasons are partly economic, but there are inescapable blood ties too.

Present day Icelanders are of mixed Scandinavian and Irish descent, with reliable estimates placing the Norwegian strain at 60 per cent, Irish at 30 per cent [with little or no recent Scandinavian admixture] and English, Scottish, Danish, and Swedish accounting for the remaining 10 per cent.

Lend-Lease Aids Island

As regards economics, there is a strong feeling among island leaders that any future political relations between the United States and Iceland must be based on active trade relations. During the war, because of lend-lease, there has been plenty of commercial traffic between the two nations, but few think that it will continue on a wartime scale after Britain resumes producing consumer goods for foreign trade.

Iceland's chief product—93 per cent of its total exports—is fish. For several years during the war the Americans wholly or partly bought all of Iceland's fish, then turned it over to England gratis in return for which Iceland got dollar credits which were used to purchase American commodities. The method was calculated to add to Britain's food supply under the administration's British aid program, while supplying the strategically important island with funds to purchase necessities during a period when purchases from Britain were impossible because of war production.

CHARGES BRITISH BALK FLOOD OF MEAT INTO U.S.

New York, May 31 [Special]—The importation of millions of pounds of meat that would stop black markets almost at once is being prevented by British restrictions on exports from her dominions, Alfred H. Benjamin, president of the Anglo-American Trading company and a meat importer for over 30 years, declared today in an interview.

He said he had advised the war food administration and other government agencies that if Great Britain's embargo were lifted he would provide a minimum of 100,000 tons of New Zealand lambs, meat which he asserted is now available and is in excess of the requirements of our military needs in the Pacific.

"If the restrictions now existing were lifted," he said, "we could be assured of a minimum of 250,000 tons of lambs in 1945 and 1946 from New Zealand alone."

Blames Food Board

He charged that the British dominate the combined food board, an international body established in 1942 by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill to utilize all food resources available to the allied nations. He contended that the chaotic meat situation in this country is primarily due to maladministration by this board, the war food administration, and other American government agencies.

"Since 1943," Benjamin asserted, "I have appealed to the various government agencies in Washington to take the control away from the British government, and have said that unless this was done famine was inevitable in the United States.

"We not only have a famine today, but we may have riots thruout the nation, due to bad planning by the combined food board, most of which was British controled."

Recalls 1918 Situation

While he did not attribute all the blame for the present meat shortage here to Britain's restrictions, he recalled that there was no black market in meat in the United States during and after the first World war because huge quantities of meat were imported.

"The release of millions of pounds of meat for import to the United States as an emergency measure would halt the black market almost immediately," he said.

Benjamin said Great Britain has no refrigerated steamers to move her surplus because of the huge quantities of meat she must move from Argentina.

"Neither has Great Britain sufficient cold storage warehouse space to store these surplus lambs, which must remain in New Zealand until 1946," he added. "By then there will be a new crop of New Zealand lambs, a minimum of 265,000 tons."

LOST GI JOINS COSSACKS AND FIGHTS IN BERLIN

PARIS, May 31 (AP)—The first GI Cossack who fought into Berlin with the Russians while suffering from "temporary amnesia" has turned up in the American hospital here, Stars and Stripes reported today.

The GI thinks he is Pfc. William Walker, probably from New York City, but he has not been positively identified as yet.

Walker remembers leaving a landing craft and then only remembers coming to in a German hospital where he stayed three months. Then he went to a prison work camp. When the Russians shelled the prison camp Walker went to the Russian lines, where he was offered a horse and a chance to join the Cossacks. Walker said he killed three Germans in the fight to take Berlin. Later he joined a group of American pilots at Tempelhof airdrome.

DESK OFFICERS IN CAPITAL GET CHOICEST MEAT

5 Commissaries Are Luxuriously Stocked

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 31.—While the rest of the nation, including the families of combat heroes, is tightening its belt in the food crisis, there is no meat shortage for officers on duty in the Pentagon building.

These officers and their relatives are doing well on steaks, hams, chops, and roasts.

This meat is being diverted from the army's extra special premium grade purchases for fighting men into five luxuriously stocked army commissaries for officers on duty here.

Public Is Barred

The general public in the capital, which considers itself fortunate if it can get meat for two meals a week, is barred from these stores. So is the navy.

Altho the families of men in desk jobs here can make purchases of meat, under a new ruling from Under Secretary of War Patterson, commissary privileges have been withdrawn from all service men and their families who are not or were not in the last few years on duty in the capital.

This order has provoked discontent in service circles. The families of war heroes are irked that the doors of the commissaries have been closed to them, just as wives of civilians are indignant that they ever were opened in the first place.

"Desk Commandoes"

"It means that only desk commandos and their wives can buy at the commissaries," said the wife of a major who has been fighting overseas with Gen. Patton for three years.

The Patterson order has withheld meat from the child of an officer who has been decorated for bravery in action, altho army doctors in the case have prescribed meat every day. The child, a girl, is the daughter of Maj. Arthur J. Richards, who was decorated for bravery in action in Germany.

The navy has no commissaries except where there are no other accessible shopping facilities or where they are indequate. The navy has 64 commissaries thruout the country at various bases.

The army commissaries were established here under a policy which provides army stores where married personnel cannot make purchases "without considerable inconvenience."

The stores, in which there is a minimum of waiting, are run by army officers and manned in part by army personnel. Each of the five stores serves favored army personnel in designated areas of the city.

SENDING CATTLE TO EUROPE GETS DAIRYMEN'S O. K.

Chicago dairymen believe the shipment of dairy animals to European countries, announced yesterday by the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration, will have little effect on American milk production and will not be noticed by the consumer. About 50,000 dairy and draft animals will be shipped to Greece, Albania, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, and Poland to replace war losses.

A. H. Lauterbach, general manager of the Pure Milk assocation, said that the first heifers for shipment to Greece were collected from farms in the Eastern states, but that later shipments may be taken from middle western herds. He pointed out that there are about 27,000,000 dairy animals in this country, and that transfer of 50,000 would cause an insignificant reduction in milk output.

Lauterbach said similar shipments of dairy animals were made after the last war. Many of the cows sent from here at that time were not adaptable to European climatic conditions, he said.

Truman Gets 3 Suits, Gift of Cotton Interests

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—President Truman took official cognizance of the arrival of hot weather by appearing in a summer suit today. The garment, light blue and made of cotton, was one of three Sen. Ellender [D., La.] recently brought to the White House as a gift from southern cotton interests.

450 B-29s RAID OSAKA, SECOND CITY OF JAPAN

Drop 3,200 Tons of Fire Bombs in Attack

Thursday held a line south of Kobakura village.

Next to the 6th, the 1st marine division has driven into Shuri City, where the American flag floats over the 16th century castle of the Ryukyu kings.

Near the center of the line, the 77th infantry division advanced 200 to 800 yards yesterday. By nightfall, those yanks were on the northeast boundaries of Shuri.

Capture Hill Positions

Abreast of the 77th, the 96th infantry division pushed out of rugged terrain southwest of Conical hill. They advanced 800 to 1,200 yards and captured strong hill positions 600 yards south of Shuri.

The 7th infantry division, which circled southwestward recently from fallen Yonabaru on the east coast, captured a hill yesterday 500 yards east of Chan village and another elevation 300 yards northeast of Chan.

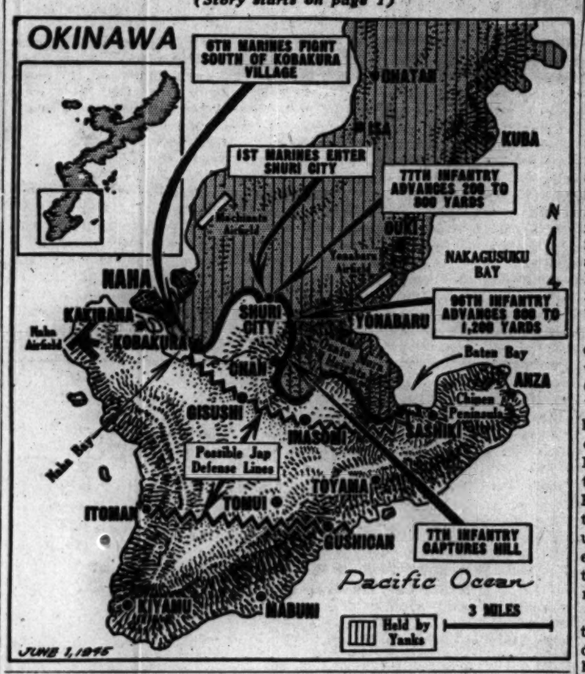

The 7th forms the other large arm of the pincers on Shuri and its successes Thursday prompted the bulletin's report of a threat to the "whole central island position." Chan is a mile and a half south of Shuri.

The artillery spotters reported the Japanese, whose supply of horses has been greatly reduced by American shells and aerial bombs, were attempting to move artillery to new positions with tanks.

For the first time in several days, the bulletin reported a complete absence of Japanese suicide plane attacks on American ships, due to heavy rains and electrical storms.

New Advances on Okinawa Told

JAPS PLAN NEW SUICIDE ATTACKS ON U. S. WARSHIPS

San Francisco, May 31 (AP)—Tokyo radio told the Japanese people today about plans for new suicide attacks to beat off the American invasion threat while another voice of Nippon admitted that more effective measures were needed.

A radio commentator, in a domestic broadcast, said all branches of the navy, surface and air, were being readied for new "special attack" suicide efforts. He said the shakeup several days ago in the Japanese naval high command was in line with the new plans.

Domei news agency, in an English language dispatch directed to North America, repeated claims that Japanese suicide flyers had inflicted "appalling" losses on American ships off Okinawa.

The Tokyo radio told the Japanese people that Nipponese losses on Okinawa were "gradually increasing," and described the fighting as "becoming more and more furious with the passing of the days."

AUTO LOOTED OF $150 CLOTHING

BELIEVE CHIANG PUTS WAR WITH JAPANESE FIRST

CHUNGKING, China, May 31 (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek turned over his job as premier of China today to his brother-in-law, T. V. Soong, foreign minister and acting premier, and apparently intends to devote his energies primarily to fighting the Japanese as supreme allied commander in the China theater.

T. V. Soong

The elevation of the American educated Soong possibly paved the way for an accord between the Chungking government and the Yenan Communists, toward whom his attitude always has been moderate. Soong, 50, is a brother of Mrs. Chiang Kai-shek and one of the most popular leaders in China. He may visit Moscow in an attempt to improve relations with the soviet union. He is known to favor exerting every possible effort to solve the domestic differences with Chinese Communists.

Chiang retains numerous positions, the chief of which are president and generalissimo. Wong Wen-hao, minister of economic affairs and head of the China war production board, was appointed vice premier, succeeding Dr. H. H. Kung, a brother-in-law of Soong and Mrs. Chiang.

Traffic in Philippines Takes Right Side of Road

MANILA, June 1 [Friday]—(AP)—The Philippines broke a 400 year old custom today when horse drawn calesas, Caribao carts and motorized traffic started traveling on the right side of streets instead of the left. The changeover, to conform with the United States traffic practice, was ordered by the American army.

Burma Job Done, U. S. Flyers Move to New War Theater

CALCUTTA, India, May 31 (AP)—Their job in Burma completed, American air units have left the eastern air command in southeast Asia to fight the Japanese in another theater, it was announced today. The air transport command will still operate to China, however.

Maj. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, the American who started the EAC from scratch on Dec. 15 in 1943, relinquished his command to British Air Marshal W. A. Coryton, his assistant since last December.

Mission Accomplished

"With the fall of Rangoon, our mission is accomplished," Stratemeyer said in a farewell message. "I have been impressed beyond words with your seriousness in purpose and the ability to work successfully together with a minimum of friction and a maximum of accomplishment."

Stratemeyer welded United States and British air units into a single integrated force and developed army supply by air to an unprecedented degree.

Within a short time Stratemeyer wrested air superiority from Japan, enabling allied transport squadrons to supply and reënforce beleaguered allied ground formations hanging onto the fringe of Burma.

Spearheaded Ground Drives

The EAC fed and powered the drives of Merrill's Marauders, Wingate's Chindits, and finally the Chinese army swinging in from the Salween river. It supplied the British at Imphal and reënforced them, and flew in all the supplies with which the British pushed down the Irrawaddy river to Rangoon, Burma capital.

Liberators of the strategic air forces ranged farther behind Japanese lines to sap the enemy's strength.

B-29s for Doolittle

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—The 8th air force, veteran of the war against Germany, will add B-29 Super Fortresses to its striking power when it is thrown against Japan under the leadership of Lt. Gen. Doolittle. This announcement was made today by Gen. Arnold, army air forces chief and commander of the 20th [Super Fortress] bomber command. It was understood that Arnold would retain direction of the B-29s under Doolittle.

The assignment of B-29s to Doolittle's force, which has upward of 3,000 Flying Fortresses, Liberators and fighter planes, will put three Super sort forces against Japan. The 20th and 21st bomber commands already are in the area.

JAPS ATTACK ON LUZON, N. GUINEA AND MINDANAO

MANILA, June 1 [Friday]—(AP)—Japanese forces have attempted widespread counter-attacks against Filipino guerrillas and American infantry men on Luzon and Mindanao as well as against Australians on New Guinea, but a headquarters spokesman said today they were "almost uniformly unsuccessful."

On northern Luzon guerrillas repulsed several hundred Japanese troops attempting to cross to the west bank of the Cagayan river on rafts.

At the southern entranceway to the Cagayan valley, where the last major Japanese force now is being compressed by the 25th and 32d divisions, the Yanks cleaned up 32 Japanese held cave positions.

On Sunday and Monday nights the Americans fought off a series of banzai charges in hand to hand clashes.

Asserts Britain Will Draft Men Under 30 for Pacific

LONDON, May 31 [Reuters]—Men under 30 are to be called up for military service in the western Pacific, Malcolm McCorquodale, labor ministry parliamentary secretary in the "caretaker" government, announced in the house of commons tonight. "We still propose to go on calling up men under 30 as they reach the call up age or become redundant or lose their reservations if they are in reserved occupations," he said.

Puzzle of Thursday, May 31. Solved

We got caught with our prices down

•Regulations oblige us to sell Old Poindexter far below the price it would now command. So a few canny connoisseurs — Scotch by nature, but Bourbon in their tastes—are getting a big bang out of buying a magnificent Kentucky Straight at bargain quotations.

Yet these men consider low price secondary. The real incentive is the incomparable flavor produced by Poindexter's sour mash process and 40% small grains.

There's only a little Poindexter in the market today. So, if you can find it in one of your preferred bars or package stores, it's a good time to try it. For when prices once more have free play we can't promise that Old Poindexter will not become a collector's item.

WHO CAN PUT A RAILROAD UNDER A Microscope?

70,000 PEOPLE CAN . . . AND DO, EVERY DAY!

They know every tie and rail in Baltimore & Ohio's 11,000 miles of track. The "inner secrets" of giant locomotives...every train movement ...each office operation...all these, and many more, are known to them as a housewife knows her own kitchen.

Working together, these men and women of the B&O literally keep this railroad "under the microscope" 365 days each year. This thoroughness brings two-fold benefits to B&O customers!

First, the individual "know-how" of B&O workers and their wholehearted will to work together keep wartime trains moving swiftly and safely . . . "on time" as usual.

Secondly, their constant alertness to new ideas and ways to improve service helps the B&O set a pace in progress.

With B&O's 70,000 men and women, railroad progress is an earnest business. It is the science of making things better . . . for you!

CHICAGO YANKS DO HEROIC DEEDS ON MINDANAO

Captain Crawls Almost Under Jap Guns

BY WALTER SIMMONS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

DAVAO, Mindanao, P. I., May 31—Meet some of the Chicagoland fighters in the still thundering battle for Mindanao.

Here is Capt. Lewis Concklin, 829 N. Kenilworth av., Oak Park. He crawled almost into the shadow of enemy guns to direct fire so that the 63d field artillery could knock them out and save a Yank battalion. The job was so dangerous that he permitted only a radio operator to accompany him.

The pair stole thru the Jap lines and crawled 2,000 yards before they located the Jap position in a clearing 500 feet away. Inching forward to get a better view, Capt. Concklin zeroed the artillery directly into the enemy stronghold. When the debris stopped falling a patrol found 55 dead, one four-inch artillery piece, two 20 millimeter guns, and many machine guns.

Burns Out Pillbox

Pvt. James Gilgen can testify to fanatical Jap resistance. The Chicago flame thrower, whose home is at 1402 E. 65th pl., risked his life to burn out a pillbox impeding the advance on a hill. Before the demolition squad could blow the smoldering position up the Japs had reoccupied it. They were blasted out with artillery.

Pvt. William Gesparino, Fillmore st., Chicago, had a similar task. Attacking a pillbox, he found a 10 foot bamboo pole, tied blocks of TNT on the end, and pushed it into the aperture while tommy gunners' fire kept the Japs down. It was the last of that pillbox.

Pvt. Mitchell Leprich, 4540 N. St. Louis av., Chicago, attacked an enemy position from the rear and flung a TNT charge which blew up two heavy machine guns and killed four Japs.

Pvt. Joe Slovak, 4117 W. 24th pl., Chicago, and his platoon weathered a night long perimeter attack. At dawn they counted 35 dead Japs around their position.

Cut Off from Unit

Lt. Lester King, Morrisonville, Ill., a forward observer for the 11th field artillery, was cut off for a day and a half while serving with a beleaguered infantry outfit. Undismayed, he relayed information which led to continuous fire that broke the Jap attack.

Pvt. Roy Kress, Springfield, Ill., is a jeep driver who braved sniper fire for 16 consecutive days to haul ammunition and medical supplies to the front.

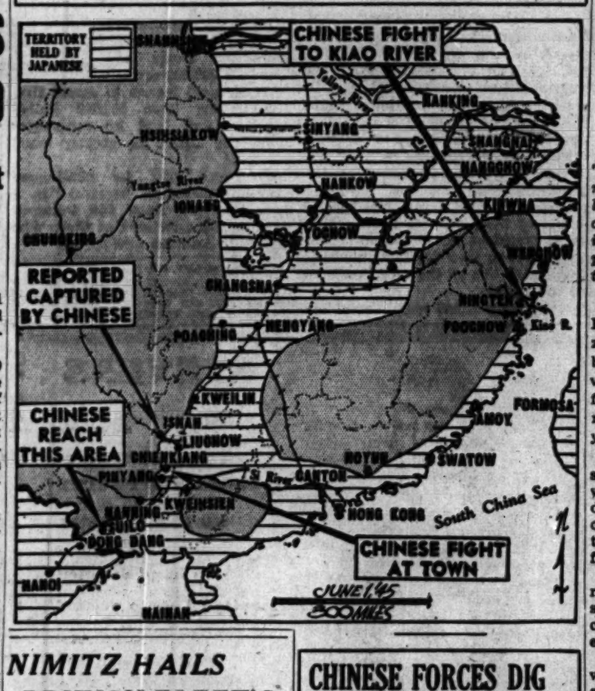

Pvt. Franklin Akers, Lawrenceville, Ill., and his company were pinned down for 75 minutes by enemy artillery, rockets and mortar fire. They were forced to withdraw and call for artillery and air support before the Japs could be routed.

Corp. Lewis H. Beaver, 4113 W. 58th st., Chicago, a forward observer for the 52d field artillery, stayed in one spot for four days directing fire.

Pvt. Lewis Van Briggle, Anderson, Ill., crawled to the rescue when two men of an infantry group were killed and five wounded.

Among other 24th division men in this area are Capt. Robert Chapman, 150 N. Parkside av., Chicago, a battalion operations officer who spends most of his time in the front lines; Staff Sgt. George Bruner, Mattoon, Ill., hot chow artist who goes thru fire to bring food to the troops, and Corp. Gent Dalla Bata, 4724 S. Springfield av., Chicago, who is awaiting transportation home on rotation.

NIMITZ HAILS BRITISH FLEET'S AID IN PACIFIC

Spikes Rumors Aid Was Not Wanted

ABOARD HMS KING GEORGE V., Guam, May 28 [Delayed]—(AP)—Fleet Adm. Nimitz told officers and men of the British fleet today that their "most efficiently performed" aid in the war against Japan is welcomed by American forces in the Pacific.

Speaking to officers and men of the King George V., flagship of a British carrier task force, he decried reports to the effect the United States didn't want the British fleet in the Pacific.

The British flagship, escorted by the British destroyers Troubridge, Tenacious, and Termagant, brought Vice Adm. Bernard Rawlings, commander of the British Pacific fleet carrier task force which has been neutralizing the Sakishima Island group.

Canadian Cruiser in Action

Also operating in the action, southwest of Okinawa, were HMS Indefatigable, a carrier; the Canadian cruiser Uganda, and the New Zealand cruiser Gambia.

The American 5th fleet commander, Adm. Raymond A. Spruance, has commended the work of the British ships in supporting the Okinawa invasion, saying the performance "was typical of the great traditions of the royal navy."

Adm. Nimitz declared he wanted to say "in most emphatic terms" that the work of the British fleet during the Okinawa operation "is not only most efficiently performed but of the most valuable service."

Nimitz was welcomed aboard the British battleship with the traditional shrill piping of the bo's'un's pipes, blasts of trumpets, and band music.

Credits Saving of Lives

He told the assembled ship's company that when the British had to leave the Sakishima group for refueling during the Okinawa invasion the American carrier forces were spread thin to replace the British in keeping down Japanese plane activity there.

As a result, he said, losses of American forces increased during the period the British task force was absent.

"You kept the Jap suiciders [suicide planes] off the necks of our ships. Your services have been very valuable in saving lives and saving ships."

CHINESE FORCES DIG DEEPER INTO JAPS' SUPPLY CORRIDOR

CHUNGKING, China, May 31 (AP)—Chinese troops were reported tonight to have captured the south China rail town of Ishan, 43 miles west of the former United States air base city of Liuchow, as they dug deeper into the narrowing corridor leading into French Indo-China where thousands of Japanese are isolated.

The Chinese high command had not confirmed the capture of Ishan, but the Chinese troops yesterday had fought into its outskirts in their converging drive on Liuchow, the enemy's most important road hub in Kwangsi province. Other Chinese columns were reported 55 miles southwest and 40 miles northwest of Liuchow, which was swept by fires apparently set by the retreating enemy.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, United States army commander in China, said the Japanese were without question withdrawing from the trans-continental land corridor connecting enemy forces in China with perhaps 200,000 Japanese in Indo-China, Thailand [Siam], Malaya, and Burma. At a point near the Indo-China frontier the corridor is now only about 100 miles wide.

ITALIAN P-W'S PUT ON BREAD, WATER DIET

Fort Douglas, Utah, May 31 (AP)—A bread and water diet and outdoor quarters have been imposed on 200 Italian prisoners of war who refused to work longer hours than those required of civilian personnel, army authorities disclosed today.

Col. E. L. Hogan, Fort Douglas post commandant, said the men—all but 40 of them Italian war prisoners quartered here—quit their jobs last night.

They were issued one blanket each and permitted to obtain salvage tenting to construct shelters. A night of rain failed to change their minds, Hogan said.

'SILENT WAR' BY U. S. SUBS HELPS TO 'RUIN' TRUK

[For three and a half years the "silent service"—America's submarines—has been waging a little publicised war of their own in the Pacific. Their exploits have been buried in the navy's secret files. At last, part of their achievements can be told.]

A WESTERN PACIFIC SUBMARINE BASE, May 31 (AP)—Neutralization of Japan's formidable naval base at Truk, permitting swift advances toward Tokyo, is one of the feats performed by American submarines during three and a half years of silent warfare in the Pacific.

Slipping in and out of the area surrounding the forbidding base which then appeared certain to delay American advances in the Pacific, submarines sank many ships there. Some of the submarines failed to return.

Constantly hitting at convoys, men of the submarines destroyed ship after ship of the Japanese merchant fleet until Japanese supply efforts virtually were abandoned.

Occupation of the Marianas also was accomplished primarily by consistent blows against supply lines. Most spectacular was destruction of a giant Japanese convoy carrying reenforcements from Japan. This convoy was intercepted and sunk far north of its destination.

Shifted to War Patrols

Submarine warfare began almost simultaneously with the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Many of the undersea boats were on maneuvers thruout the Pacific. They shifted immediately to war patrols, beginning the attacks which since have resulted in destruction of more than 1,000 ships.

An example of the speedy switch from routine patrols to war activity is the Gudgeon, which for more than two years was a principal scourge of the Japanese. Her total bag may not be disclosed, but it runs into the dozens. She also helped supply guerrilla forces prior to the liberation of the Philippines, and aided in rescue of allied troops marooned on Jap held islands.

She was new, operating off Pearl Harbor on her shakedown cruise. Her orders—which had provided for a return to Mare Island navy yards—were changed. She was ordered to Japanese waters.

Raids Inland Sea

"We left for Kobe with the Plunger" [another famous boat of the early days of submarine warfare], says Chief Machinist Ray E. Cain of Seattle, "but the Plunger had to go back because of mechanical trouble."

The Gudgeon roved up and down at the entrance to the Inland sea, getting a ship or two to begin evening the Pearl Harbor score.

"On the way back, off Midway," Cain continued, "we picked up three enemy subs. So we dove and caught one Jap sub coming along. We planted a fish in him and down he went."

The Gudgeon, refitted at Pearl Harbor, headed out again for Nagasaki, Japan's biggest ship yards.

"We caught a couple ships off Nagasaki and had to make most of the run back to Pearl submerged." That was the way he dismissed thousands of miles of cruising thru thickly patroled Japanese waters.

"We chased a Jap cruiser squadron pretty nearly to Alaska. Then we went down to Truk," said Cain, "most of the Jap fleet was in there, and they welcomed us in and they welcomed us out."

The "welcomes" were depth charge attacks.

"We got five or six Jap ships there."

He then told of a trip to Perth, Australia, thru Japanese territory, for refitting. They took off from Perth to rescue 28 Australian soldiers marooned in the Dutch East Indies.

"We slipped in between Jap air patrols after we'd stuck up our periscope just when the guys ashore waved a sheet. The sheet and the periscope both disappeared when the Jap patrol came over."

By that time it was possible to refit at Midway and there 15 members of her crew were replaced—sent home for rests.

WITH THE INDIA-CHINA RED CROSS—Being city bred, whenever the guys from Chicago get a day off they head for the bright lights. And so, it seems, does almost every one else.

When Forrest Shanklin, 2538 N. Drake av., can get away from his transmitter, and John Sullivan, 7908 S. May st., ties down his telegraph key, and Donald Flanke, 6615 N. Greenview av., shuts down his radio telephone set, they put on ties and hitchhike into Kunming. There they go straight to the Red Cross.

Last year some Chinese built the best hotel in free China. As soon as it was finished, the Red Cross took it over. Chinese food cooked by Chinese in Chinese kitchens is rather tricky with the stomach, and so most Americans when in Kunming eat with the Red Cross. At present that is about 1,600 a day.

Chicken Cheap at $3

Running the restaurant is a headache. Food is scarce. When Bob Schnitzer, stage man for Katherine Cornell before coming to China, finds a chicken he can buy for $3 he grabs it as a bargain. Lard is cheap at $2 a pound. Consequently, any one can see the restaurant costs the Red Cross money. Last month it lost $7,000,000, Chinese. That is about $10,000 American.

Scattered thru northern Burma are about 40 small Red Cross huts with coffee and doughnuts. At Myitkina, Doris Smith, 4827 Lake Park av., a Red Cross girl, has a super de luxe hamburger and coke stand. Coffee and doughnut huts are operating on the Burma road.

But it's in Calcutta that the Red Cross has really gone to town. Calcutta is the main leave center. It's a big city but it's no Chicago. After a few hours of staring at the bespired buildings that make the city look like the world fair at Chicago in 1893, soldiers want something to do or some place to sleep or a dish of ice cream.

Third Hotel Opening

The Red Cross operates two hotels and is opening a third. The new one was a four story garage, but in four months Anna Riddick, interior decorator from Raleigh, N. C., has turned it into a little plush Drake hotel. Furniture was specially made. Curtains are specially printed. Lamps are fancy urns from the thieves' market. It's exclusively for enlisted men, and already you can hear the whistles. There are beds for about 300. The mattresses don't have innersprings but they are mattresses.

Calcutta offers tours of temples and bazars. You should hear Helen Knight, 5655 Washington blvd., or Edna Weber, 1212 Hyde Park blvd., tangle with a dealer over a bit of lace. The girl shortage is acute and dances are too small, but the guy who can find an unoccupied girl or swipe her away from a base wallah, as the guys stationed in Calcutta are known to guys not stationed in Calcutta, has a good time.

YANK 'CORNERS' 22 NAZI PLANES OVER GERMANY

The humor and incredible staying power of the men who won the war in Europe were stressed by Robert Cromie, Tribune war correspondent, in a talk before the Kiwanis Club of Chicago in Hotel Sherman yesterday. Cromie cited the case of the flyer whose P-47 Thunderbolt was set upon by German Focke-Wulf fighters while he was helping provide top cover on an American air force raid on Germany.

"Maybe you'd better come up," the flyer radioed the squadron below. "I've got 22 F-W 190s cornered."

"I don't think too much can be said about the men who fought during the winter in France, Belgium, and Germany," Cromie declared. "There was one detachment near Bastogne [Belgium] which in four days got just one hot meal. And the water in their canteens was frozen." He said that in this same group 17 members of a single company had trench foot or frozen feet.

Cromie, who covered part of the Guadalcanal fighting and many other touch-and-go encounters in the Southwest Pacific, was with Gen. Patton's 3d army in France, Belgium, and Germany.

U. S. DRAWS UP LIST OF ACCUSED WAR CRIMINALS

2,787 Are Named by 11 Allied Nations

LONDON, May 31, (AP)—The allied war crimes commission was told tonight that the United States is preparing a list of accused criminals for submission in full with every case "ready for immediate trial."

P. H. B. Kent, British delegate to the commission, made the disclosure while telling the commission of difficulties encountered in dealing with the masses of evidence uncovered by the recent liberation of allied prisoners of war.

The American accusations have not yet been announced.

Speedy Prosecution Asked

Robert Alderson Wright, chairman of the commission called for speedy prosecution and punishment of nearly 3,000 persons charged as war criminals by 11 allied countries.

Kent suggested that some method be devised to deal with certain war criminals en masse. This would apply in the cases of a large number of the enemy concerned in cruelties and tortures suffered by inmates of concentration camps and persons in occupied areas, he said.

Wright declared that some liaison might "gradually grow up" between the commission and the separate Russian war crimes commission, which is not a member of the allied groups.

He said the commission has decided to lift its rule of complete secrecy on its work, save in cases in the far east.

Plan Interallied Courts

Speaking at the opening of the three day conference of the united nations commission, Wright revealed that the commission has elaborated a system of interallied courts, to be established if needed by treaty between the allied nations to handle any trials falling out of the scope of military courts or courts of the countries in which war crimes were committed.

"The time has now come when the mere collection of material must change over into action," the chairman said. "Action here means the trial of criminals and their conviction, sentence, and punishment where appropriate."

He said that approximately 800 names of Germans had been declared for publication in the next list of war criminals. The list also includes names of 185 suspects. To date the name of Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering has been the only name published by the commission.

Wright announced that 2,787 persons had been charged as war criminals by 11 member nations and three by the commission itself. There are 16 member nations on the commission.

In addition, the commission listed 561 Germans on the general charge of systematic terrorism.

The nationality of the 2,787 charged was broken down as: Germans, 2,524; Italians, 110; Japanese, 98; Hungarians, 39; Bulgarians, 17; Albanians and Romanians, two each.

France led the list with charges against 1,116 Germans and 10 Italians.

War Brides Arrive in Chicago

Mrs. Joy Eastman (left) and Margaret Eastman.

Mrs. Charles Poskocil (left) and Mrs. Arthur Smidt.

Sgt. and Mrs. Wayne Rapp.

Met at Station

Half a dozen British war brides yesterday arrived at the La Salle st. station and greeted their new families.

Two were surprised by their husbands, but only the husbands showed the strain. It was just "Hiya, honey," from blonde, doll-like Dorothy Rapp, 19, as she stepped off the train into the arms of Sgt. Wayne Rapp, 22, son of Mrs. Florence Rapp of the New Lawrence hotel. And he began chattering about the new frocks he'd bought for her.

Pvt. Harold C. Johnson, 28, who had developed the jitters as he awaited the train arrival, received even a briefer greeting from his brunette Winifred, 24. She said, "Hello."

Pvt. Johnson's home is at 1421 W. 12th st., Gary, but he took his bride to the home of his aunt, Mrs. Hulda Johnson, 9149 Essex av. The new Mrs. Johnson has been in this country just since Tuesday night when the boat carrying 60 British war brides docked in New York.

Not English, but Welsh, was the way Mrs. Betty Smidt, 22 and pert, described herself as she looked for relatives of her husband, Sgt. Arthur, 25. She and her new sister-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Poskocil, 3626 Raymond av., Bropkfield, recognized each other simultaneously.

All day yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eastman of 617 S. Tremont st., Kewanee, in Henry county, and their daughter, Margaret, waited for the "gorgeous redhead" their son, Lt. Lester, 27, told them about. And as Eastman contemplated, Joy, 23, the girl his son married in North Ireland in March, 1944, he observed, "Well, Lester was right."

U. S. WRIT STAYS DEPORTATION OF VOLPE TO ITALY

New York, May 31 (AP)—Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe today issued a writ of habeas corpus staying the deportation of Anthony [Mops] Volpe of Chicago, former Capone gang member who was scheduled to leave for Italy as an undesirable citizen.

The petition was obtained for Volpe's wife by Gaspare M. Cusumano of New York, and stated that Volpe entered this country in March, 1906, at the age of 12 with his mother, two brothers, and a sister.

It also stated that he became a citizen in 1928 and served a 30 day term in the Cook county jail in 1925 following conviction on a counterfeiting charge.

730 British Warships Lost, Admiralty Says

LONDON, May 31 (AP)—A total of 730 British naval vessels, including five battleships and eight aircraft carriers, have been sunk or destroyed in the war, the admiralty said today. Another 812 warships flying dominion or allied flags—excluding the United States—have been lost by enemy action or marine hazards in all theaters, the announcement said. Losses of light coastal ships and landing craft were not included in the figures.

NAZIS MASSED FOR 112 DAYS TO INVADE BRITAIN

(By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune)

PARIS, May 31—For 112 days in 1940 massed forces of the third reich strove to invade England. They were turned back, the German air force was decisively defeated, and Hitler turned east to meet eventual defeat in Russia.

The story of the critical days of the war's first summer can be pieced together from reports of conversations of members of the German high command and from bits of conversations of junior German officers who knew various parts of the general invasion plan.

Order Given July 2

On July 2, orders were written for the invasion of England. While the nazi air force flew each day against England, Col. Gen. Franz Halder, then chief of the army's general staff, drew up the general plan for the invasion.

The first blow would come across the channel from Calais and would strike at the nearest point—Dover. A second landing would be made near the Isle of Wight by a force launched from Cherbourg.

These two forces were to join up on the Salisbury plain and move north to the Bristol channel to bisect southern England. At the same time air borne forces were to be landed in Wales and Cumberland and an enveloping movement against London mounted. There was a subsidiary plan covering the invasion of Ireland.

Barges Collected

Slowly plans were perfected and flotillas of barges grew in French canals. But while the generals and admirals planned the battle the war was being lost in the air. The luftwaffe suffered terrible losses, and in the larger sense the invasion had been defeated. The Germans knew that without command of the air they could not invade.

On Oct. 22 the German high command canceled invasion orders. By May 10, 1941, the nazi air forces' attacks had ceased.

ASSAILS CLAIM TO REPRESENT POLISH LABOR

J. K. Wieczorek, president of the Polish American Labor council, yesterday sent a registered letter to Leo Krzycki, vice president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America [CIO] asking him to "give the facts" on the 600,000 organized American Polish workers Krzycki claimed to represent when he appeared at the San Francisco conference.

Wieczorek said a registered letter also had been sent to Sidney Hillman, president of the union, calling upon him to give the facts concerning the claims of the vice president of the union.

"We have 70,000 members of our council in Chicago," Wieczorek said. "We have members in Detroit, Los Angeles, Chicago, and other cities. None of them ever heard of Krzycki's organization. Officials of the Polish American congress, which includes all organizations among the 6 million Poles in America, reported that they never had heard of Krzycki's 600,000 organized workers.

"If Krzycki means to assert that CIO unions have 600,000 Polish members and that he represents them, the figure is greatly exaggerated."

Wieczorek said he challenged Krzycki's assertion because "in a democracy we have the inherent right to ask questions of those who speak for America and for us."

HOW JAP PLANE HIT DESTROYER, KILLING 34 MEN

Suicide Craft Tears Big Hole in Vessel

Wilmington, Cal., May 31 (AP)—The destroyer Zellers docked today at Roosevelt naval operating base, a 30 foot hole in her superstructure inflicted by a three man Japanese suicide bomber attack off Okinawa April 12.

Lt. Charles Smylie, Rose Point, Mich., fire control officer, said 34 were killed, 36 wounded, and two reported missing after the Jap bomber skipped a bomb of about 1,000 pounds into the Zellars, then crashed on deck, killing the three Japanese.

Three Jap bombers concentrated an attack on the destroyer, which had been aiding the Okinawa landings by bombardment for 19 days, Lt. Smylie said.

Sees Planes Come In

"I saw the three planes come in," said the officer. "We got two of them and were shifting our fire to the third as it hit us."

Ensign Sheldon Bernstein, Chicago, said: "The ship was hit on the port side. The plane crashed into the rat race [ammunition handling room] for gun mount No. 2. The bomb slid across the deck and exploded on the starboard side. Two of our men never were found.

"There was a wall of flame from amidships forward. All communications were cut and lights were out, but the flames were under control within 45 minutes. We were hit at about 2:45 p. m. and the fires were still smoldering two hours later. None of our ammunition exploded."

Burned to Death

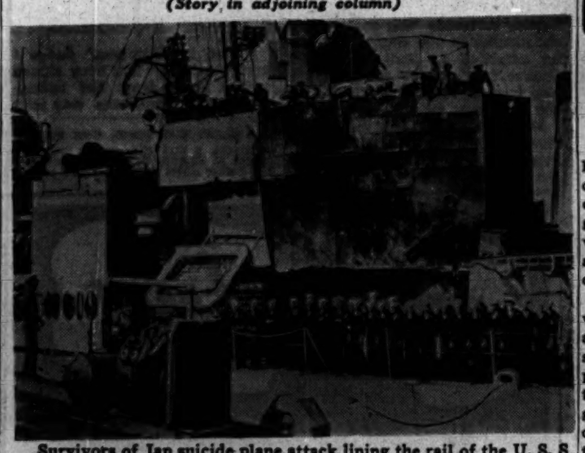

Officers of the destroyer, commanded by Comdr. Leon S. Kintberger, Annapolis, Md., said the explosive made a hole 31 feet long in the port side of the Zellars but none of the plates below the water line was damaged.

Bernstein and other officers told of the heroism of Seaman William J. Bieber of Center, N. D., 24, who was burned to death in an attempt to aid shipmates. He has been recommended for a posthumous decoration.

As fierce fires enveloped the gun mount structure Bieber fought his way out of the handling room and was unscathed. Hearing cries from his wounded shipmates, he struggled back into the structure. When he came out later he was burned so severely he died.

ARMY ASKED TO EXPLAIN ITS COURTS MARTIAL

Lawmaker Calls Some Sentences Unfair

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—The house military committee called today for an army explanation of some of its courts-martial sentences and discharges.

Rep. Thomason [D., Tex.], ranking majority member, said representatives of the adjutant general's office have been asked to appear before the committee tomorrow.

Asserting that some soldiers and airmen have been given "discharges without honor," apparently after suffering nerve exhaustion from combat experiences, Thomason said he wants a "complete explanation" of war department policies in such matters.

Appears Unjust

He cited the case of one Texan whose discharge as a psychoneurotic, he said, appeared unjust. The man is a lawyer and served overseas, said Thomason, adding that with "such a stigma on his discharge he will be handicapped for life."

"I'm terribly disturbed about this thing," the lawmaker declared. "I have heard of a number of instances where men have been let out with other than honorable discharges. Some of these are cases of sheer nerve exhaustion of boys who have lived thru tough air raids. And yet they may be called cowards just because of these discharges."

Wants Report on Board

Sections of the GI bill of rights provide for a board of review to consider such cases. Explaining that many veterans' benefits are given only to those with honorable discharges, Thomason said he wanted to hear how the review board is functioning.

The Texan said the committee also will go into the whole subject of courts-martial and of policies which permit such sentences as that given Pvt. Joseph McGee of Worchester, Mass., for hitting German prisoners. McGee's two year sentence since has been reduced to time served and the soldier reinstated in the army and returned to his home town as a hero.

French Army to Release Million, Take in Youths

PARIS, May 30 [Reuters]—The French war ministry today disclosed plans to demobilize about 1,000,000 soldiers in the next 13 months. The new army will be formed of men 22 to 26 years old and of men 21, who will be called up in September.

STARCH HEIRESS SUES TO DIVORCE JAMES NUGENT

Bridgeport, Conn., May 31 [Special]—Mrs. Ruth Staley Hunt Nugent, 43, Chicago starch heiress, moved in Connecticut courts today to rid herself of husband No. 4, James P. Nugent, radio and stage writer and former manager of Chicago's Club Singapore.

Tho she charged him with "intolerable cruelty," Nugent said the cruelty was all the other way. Even while sharing a 15 room mansion with her on an estate at Greenwich, Conn., Nugent said, he had to retreat to Manhattan lodgings when she used him too roughly. He was indignant that his wife, "who has several millions, had the nerve to offer me $100 to get a divorce."

Mrs. Nugent caused a furor in New York two years ago when she threatened to throw herself from a ledge of her penthouse apartment 15 stories above the street. A year before this she was arrested in Waukegan, Ill., for drunken driving and served 15 days after she had ignored a stop order of a sentry at near-by Fort Sheridan and the sentry shot at her, missed, and hit another soldier.

GERMANS' DOG GOES HOME WITH GI HE ADOPTED

When Pvt. Le Roy Hodges, Negro, of Muskegon Heights, Mich., left Gardiner General hospital yesterday to spend a convalescent furlough in his home town, he was accompanied by the pet dog, Bruno, which he acquired from German soldiers last January.

Hodges was among the troops which battled a group of nazi soldiers, all of whom fought until they were killed. The dog, which had been with the Nazis, promptly attached himself to Hodges, and the animal's soldiering abilities soon were recognized. Bruno was used to carry messages and to detect bombs and was trained to set off double land mines by pulling on ropes which had been attached to them.

Both Hodges and his pet were wounded last April 5 in Strattoi, Italy, and since then have traveled together thru many aid stations and hospitals. The soldier hopes to be assigned to the Pacific theater and wants to take Bruno with him to fight the Japs.

HOUSE TIGHTENS GRIP ON SALE OF NAVY FACILITIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 31—The house, moving to assure retention of an adequate post-war fleet for defense, voted today to give congress the final say on disposition of virtually all naval ships, navy yards, and bases, and other major fleet facilities.

The legislation, approved by a vote of 71 to 17, forbids the navy or any other government agency from selling as surplus or otherwise disposing of specified naval items until congress has been notified and given 60 days to veto the proposed disposition by concurrent resolution, if it chooses.

Extend Veto Power

Congress already has control over disposal of destroyers and larger combat vessels, including submarines, but the surplus property act of 1944 authorizes disposal of certain other navy equipment without consulting congress.

The congressional veto power would be extended by today's bill to include:

1. Floating dry docks, mine and patrol vessels, auxiliary and landing ships, and district craft of 1,000 tons or more.

2. Navy yards, air fields, training stations, ordnance plant or depots, bases, and other installations.

Government Owned Plants

3. All government owned plants under navy cognizance for producing navy equipment, except plants producing both naval and other articles, and except plants that are an integral part of larger privately owned installations.

Chairman Vinson [D., Ga.] of the naval affairs committee, told the house the measure was needed to "restore to congress, where it belongs, full jurisdiction over maintenance of the nation's navy."

"Without this safeguarding legislation," Vinson said, "government agencies could sell our ships to foreign nations and congress would have nothing to say about it."

Rep. Whittington [D., Miss.] opposed the bill on the ground that "surplus" navy property should not be governed by special rules not applied to other government items. His proposal to take the meat out of the bill by eliminating congress' veto power was rejected, 42 to 13.

DIMOND GAINS 8½ MORE VOTES IN RECOUNTING

Ottawa, Ill., May 31 (AP)—Vincent Dimond, La Salle, was credited with eight and one-half more votes today for a total gain to date of 20½ votes in his election contest suit against Rep. Hayne [D., Ottawa], as a state election committee resumed its recount of ballots.

Dimond lost the November election for state representative to Hayne by one vote.

Votes were recounted today in Osage township, 2d precinct of Utica township, and 3d precinct of the town of Ottawa. Dimond gained 12 votes in a previous recount of the town of Dayton.

CASABLANCA MAIN TAKEOFF SPOT FOR YANKS FLYING HOME

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—The army disclosed today that Casablanca, French Morocco, is the chief base for the air ferrying of troops from Europe to the United States.

The air transport command there expects to take home about 40,000 soldiers a month—four-fifths of those to be flown from Europe. A transport plane carries 40 soldiers. The remaining 10,000 soldiers to be flown from Europe each month will be taken from Paris and London by the European division of ATC.

Half of the transports leaving Casablanca will travel by the way of the Azores and Newfoundland, while the remainder will fly the South Atlantic route, via Dakar, Natal, and ATC's Caribbean bases. Most of the men will arrive in the United States 27 hours after leaving Casablanca.

MME. MALLARD'S DUCKLING TAKES 10 FOOT TUMBLE

Milwaukee, Wis., May 31 [Special]—The thousands of persons who have wondered what would happen if one of Mme. Mallard's five ducklings fell into the Milwaukee river from her nest atop a piling under the E. Wisconsin av. bridge now know.

As hundreds of employes were leaving stores shortly after 6 p. m. today the most adventuresome of the five ducklings missed its footing and fell about 2 feet to the chains binding the piling. When it tried to get up it slipped again and down another eight feet into the river.

George Degrace and Paul Benn, bridge tenders, immediately got into their boat and started a merry chase for the fluffy little fellow who needed no swimming lesson. After 25 minutes the bridge tenders, using a fisherman's net, finally scooped up the duckling and placed it back in the nest as Mme. Mallard returned to her home to complete the incubation of the sixth egg and keep other members of her family warm.

ARMY REJECTS NEW PLANS TO RELEASE MEN

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—The army today rejected proposals to discharge soldiers above the age of 35 and those with special skills needed in civilian life.

Acting Secretary of War Patterson said the soldiers now designated for release—those 40 or over and those eligible under the point system—are all that the army can safely spare at this time.

On the basis of present plans, the army expects to release approximately 2,000,000 in the next 12 months including 1,300,000 under the point system. With new inductees, this will leave a force of 6,968,000 for the war against Japan.

EX-LYONS CLERK GETS 6 MONTHS IN BALLOT CASE

Ralph E. White, police chief of Lyons, yesterday was sentenced to six months in the county jail after he admitted to Judge Joseph A. Graber in Superior court that he also was the village clerk prior to the township election April 17.

Both White and Joseph F. Janda, elected April 17, claimed to be village clerk, and both had been cited for contempt for ignoring a mandate by Judge Graber to place the slate of the Regular Peoples party on the ballot. Only candidates of the Progressive Citizens party were listed.

White argued that he hadn't known the mandamus had been issued.

"That is ridiculous," Judge Graber retorted. "You even signed an appeal bond from the ruling on which the mandamus was issued."

For her who marches at his side

An army is a soldier—multiplied thousands of times. And the great army of loyal women fighting so gloriously on the War Bond Front here at home is a wife, a sister, a sweetheart, a mother, a daughter, yes, a grandmother, too! Multiplied thousands of times. And each with a loved one who marches at her side.

That must be so. What else could keep them up-and-at-it so? For selling War Bonds is no tea party. It's footwork and persistence. It's call and call, and try-and-try-again. Yet these "fighters without uniform" have been doing a wonderful job.

In Chicago and Cook County alone they've already sold more than a billion dollars' worth of bonds!

And, make no mistake, it's their urging, their persistence that sells those extra bonds.

But they're in the midst of the biggest job of their patriotic careers right now. The MIGHTY SEVENTH WAR LOAN calls for 60 per cent more "E" bond sales! And the sale of these bonds rests more than ever in their hands. A bigger percentage of home-front "manpower" is womanpower now.

These loyal women need every ounce of help we can give them—now

And they need the help of more—thousands more—women like them—now

Are you a woman who has someone you love in uniform? Are you marching at his side in every way you can? Here's a chance to do a little more.

If you want to help, actively, personally, telephone the Women's Division of the War Finance Committee, State 2940. These other patriotic women need you at their side. And the need is now.

U. S. CASUALTIES PASS A MILLION; 227,097 KILLED

Total Is Three Times That of 1917-'18

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 31—United States casualties, as announced officially here today, have passed the million mark. The army has lost 890,019 and the navy 112,868, a combined increase of 6,798 over last week's report.

The casualties included 227,097 dead, making the war to date the costliest in lives in American history. The battle dead are four times greater than the total of 50,280 who were killed or died of wounds during World War I.

The battle casualties are well above the Civil war total for both the Union and Confederate armies. The Union and Confederate deaths in battle were approximately 190,000. Deaths from disease and in prison camps brought the total Civil war dead to an estimated 620,000—260,000 Confederates and 360,000 Union soldiers.

68,455 on Missing List

American casualties to date are as follows:

	Army	Navy	Total
Killed	183,563	43,534	227,097
Wounded	553,088	54,380	607,468
Missing	53,746	10,709	63,455
Prisoners	100,622	4,245	104,867
Totals	890,019	112,868	1,002,887

Total casualties in the World war were 260,496. There are no detailed figures on Civil war casualties as no accurate records were kept of the wounded.

Of the 104,867 prisoners, some 90,000 were liberated in Europe and several thousand have been liberated in the Philippines.

The missing total includes 44,000 men reported missing in Europe. Under Secretary of War Patterson today acknowledged that there is little hope that many of these will turn up alive. Many of these include airmen who did not return from missions and were carried as missing in the hope that they might have landed or parachuted to safety.

Of the total wounded, 109,646 have returned to duty.

Names Hardest-Hit Divisions

Patterson disclosed that five American infantry divisions suffered among them a total of 133,395 casualties. Each of these divisions suffered losses greater than their total strength at any one time of about 15,000 men. The divisions were the 3d, 4th, 9th, 36th, and 45th.

The division losses follow:

Third—34,224, including 6,240 killed, 24,793 wounded, and 3,191 missing in action.

Fourth—21,550, including 3,808 killed, 16,951 wounded, and 791 missing.

Ninth—22,724, including 3,834 killed, 17,424 wounded, and 1,466 missing.

Thirty-sixth—27,343, including 3,974 killed, 19,052 wounded, 4,317 missing.

10,000 Prisoners Coming Home

Patterson told a news conference today that an additional 10,000 American soldiers freed from German prison camps will reach the United States by Sunday night. These arrivals will boost to 37,571 the number of liberated prisoners brought back to this country by ships and airplanes. The number represents more than one-third of an estimated 90,000 former prisoners of war in Europe.

17 MILLION PAID TO EX-FIGHTERS WHO LACK JOBS

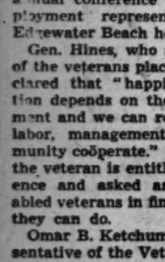

Nearly 29,000 veterans of World War II. already have drawn 17 million dollars in unemployment compensation, Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veteran affairs, yesterday informed the 11th annual conference of veterans employment representatives in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Gen. Hines, who also is chairman of the veterans placement board, declared that "happiness of the nation depends on the fullest employment and we can reach that only if labor, management and the community coöperate." He insisted that the veteran is entitled to job preference and asked assistance to disabled veterans in finding useful work they can do.

Omar B. Ketchum, national representative of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, urged that the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the American Federation of Labor "review their present policy on seniority rights to returning veterans" and accord to the soldiers fuller rights in post-war industry. He expressed confidence that employment could be found for all service men without displacing deserving workers who had remained in industry if the unions will coöperate in seeking a solution.

MORTAR GUNNER KILLED IN ACTION ON LUZON ISLAND

SGT. KENNETH CATHONY, 20, son of Mrs. Hattie Cathony, 2307 W. North av., was killed in action April 16, on Luzon, his mother was informed yesterday. Sgt. Cathony, a mortar gunner, served in New Guinea, Netherlands East Indies, and Hawaii following his induction in February, 1943. He went overseas four months later.

MEMORIAL services for Lt. [j. g.] John Graham Patterson, 32, who was killed in action in the Pacific last Jan. 21, will be held at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow in St. Matthew's Episcopal church, Evanston. Lt. Patterson had been in service two years. He leaves his widow, Elizabeth, 2747 Ridge av., Evanston, and two children, Prudence, and James.

MEMORIAL services for Pvt. John Jacobson Jr., 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Jacobson Sr., 8030 Blackstone av., who was killed in action on Luzon on March 9, will be held at 4 p. m. Sunday in Gustavus Adolphus Lutheran church, 7426 Drexel av. He also is survived by three sisters. Mrs. Harriett Erickson, Ardelle and Carol Jacobson.

SENATOR BACKS PLAN FOR MORE U. S. NEWSPRINT

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—Sen. Willis [R., Ind.], indorsed in a senate speech today a program proposed by Eugene C. Pulliam, editor of the Indianapolis Star, to obtain more newsprint for American newspapers.

"With the close of the war in Europe," Willis said, "it seems to me that a situation has arisen that may give some relief to publishers."

Pulliam's program calls, among other things, for shipment of more Swedish pulp to England and France, and curtailment in the amount of American and Canadian newsprint sent to our military forces in Europe. Pulliam advocated dispatch of 20,000 prisoners of war to the woods to cut pulpwood, and closer coöperation with Canada in clearing shipments of paper and pulp to the United States.

JAP BALLOON BOMB CLAIMS 6 LIVES IN OREGON

Lakeview, Ore., May 31 (AP)—The curiosity of an 11 year old girl who spied a Japanese balloon caused the death of six persons—first recorded victims of an enemy attack on the United States mainland in World War II.

Disclosure of the cause of the tragic explosion which killed a woman and five children on May 5 was made by Undersecretary of War Patterson in Washington, D. C., as a warning to the public not to approach strange objects in the forests.

The six victims, strolling thru the mountains of Lake county near here on a fishing expedition, were killed by a high explosive bomb which was part of the equipment of a fallen Japanese balloon.

Rumors Cause Wave of Fear

The tragedy, the cause of which was kept a strict military secret until today, set off a wave of fear among southern Oregon loggers and campers who heard word of mouth rumors.

Patterson said it was the only fatality caused by hundreds of bomb-carrying balloons the Japanese have dispatched toward the United States in recent months. He said the story was being released to emphasize the need for precautions.

Eleven year old Joan Patzke spotted the balloon as she trotted about in the southern Oregon woods with the Rev. Archie Mitchell, his wife, and four other youngsters on an outing from their home at Bly, Ore.

She called the others and one of them tugged at a piece of the balloon. A tremendous explosion followed.

Only One Survivor

Killed were Mrs. Mitchell; Joan; her brother, Dick, 13; Eddie Engen, 13; Jay Gifford, 12; Sherman Shoemaker, 12.

Mr. Mitchell, only survivor, said he escaped because he was a short distance behind the others. "Joan came over and told us that there was a white object near-by," he said. "We went to investigate. It blew up and killed them all."

All six were found dead within a 10 yard radius of the balloon fragments. A piece of burning balloon lay on Mrs. Mitchell's body.

The incident was described by the war department as the only damage or casualty inflicted by the long range paper balloons sporadically attacking the western United States.

Patterson warned that any future damage caused by the balloons, now being fought by both the forest service and military officials, must be kept under strict censorship.

15 Yanks Die as Fortress Crashes in England

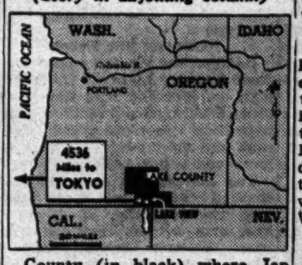

BURY ST. EDMUNDS, England, May 31 (AP)—Fifteen American service men died today when a Flying Fortress of the United States 8th air force crashed at the take-off of a sightseeing trip over Germany. The crew of five and 10 passengers were victims. Their names were not announced.

ILLINOIS MARINE SURVIVES 700 WOUNDS ON IWO

Lt. Comdr. Luther M. Lorance, an interne at County hospital from 1925 to 1927 now serving in the Pacific, has written to Dr. Ole Nelson, medical superintendent of the hospital, that there are no "complainers" in the Pacific forces.

Comdr. Lorance said that on Iwo a 19 year old marine from Gilman, Iroquois county, was brought in with more than 700 metal fragments in his body. The marine's name is Dietrich, but the first name was omitted. He had 222 pieces of metal in the right side of his face and skull, including four in the brain; compound fractures of the right jaw, two holes in the right cheek, six teeth missing; compound fractures of three fingers, 186 pieces of metal in his hand, 53 in the right cheek, and 322 in his legs.

Lorance reported that Dietrich said, "My little finger is all that bothers me." The commander said that the Illinoisan was repaired in five weeks. "Such men as these," he said, "are indeed very grateful. There is not a complainer."

BROKEN SOVIET VOWS ASSAILED BY LA FOLLETTE

Denounces Frisco Plan of Lasting Peace

La Follette declared that her "arbitrary policies" toward Poland are in violation of allied pledges against territorial changes not in accord with the desires of the people concerned. Establishment of the "made in Moscow" Lublin regime violated the terms of the Yalta agreement, he said.

Other violations, both of the Atlantic Charter and the Yalta agreement, were charged to Russia by La Follette in the cases of Romania, Austria, Bulgaria, and Hungary, where Russian sponsored governments are in power.

"I am deeply concerned," said La Follette, "with Russian policies in world affairs, for her conduct has a direct and perhaps decisive impact on all our hopes for a just and enduring peace."

Scoffs at Veto Plan

La Follette said it was possible that Russia has no faith in the success of the world peace organization being planned at San Francisco and consequently was providing for her own security. But, he said, her present methods seem more in line with those of the old Czarist regime than those of the early days of the Russian revolution.

Turning to the veto power in the proposed world security plan, La Follette said any agression in the near future will not come from Germany, or Japan, or any of the liberated nations. Instead, he said, it will come from one of the big powers which would be in a position to veto any action proposed against itself.

La Follette asked the senate to consider what would have happened if a plan similar to Dumbarton Oaks had been adopted after the last war. Japan would have been considered a "peace loving nation," having fought on the side of the allies, he said, and would consequently have had a seat on the security council.

Analogy in Manchuria

Continuing his analogy, La Follette said that in 1931 the security council could have been faced with the crisis of Japan's moving into Manchuria. All of the states on the council could have voted action against Japan but Japan, by her single vote, would have vetoed any action, he declared.

"The delegates in San Francisco are not working against a deadline," La Follette shouted. "Let them stay in session until they devise a better instrument. Creeping paralysis already is threatening the peace machinery because of this veto provision.

"I hope, even at this late date, that the delegates at San Francisco will not be stampeded into accepting the judgment of the Big Three or the Big Four as conclusive. . . . The fundamental need is for a far more democratic organization—one that will be responsive to the peoples of the world rather than to the power politics demands of a few dominating powers."

La Follette reviewed the peace negotiations after the last war which led to the formation of the league of nations and said they failed to preserve peace because of the imperialistic designs of European nations.

"We have not mastered these lessons of the past," La Follette said. "Thus far we have been traveling a road which almost parallels the tragic road we took after the first world war. Unless we change our direction soon, we shall find that our fantastic expenditures of men, money and materials has brought us only a short and uneasy truce—not the enduring peace we seek."

In criticizing Russia, La Follette said he had no intention of belittling that nation's war effort, but that he was certain his remarks would be "misinterpreted and distorted by the smear bund."

Expects Smear Attack

"It has become virtually impossible," La Follette said, "to criticize the activities of Soviet Russia, however constructively, without bringing down on one's head a storm of smearing vilification and misrepresentation by a tightly organized minority.

"The very tactics which Adolf Hitler embraced—the big lie, the big smear, and the wholesale impugning of motives and character—have been taken over by this Russia-can-do-no-wrong chorus. The result is that many Americans with sound, constructive criticism to offer, are being intimidated into remaining silent."

La Follette said the tactics he described were harmful to coöperation between the United States and Russia which, he said, is necessary to future peace. "Only by frankly facing and openly discussing all difficulties and major differences of policies as they arise can a true meeting of minds be reached," he said.

THE QUESTION

What front page news story would you like to read about yourself?

WHERE ASKED

Brookfield zoo.

THE ANSWERS

Mrs. J. L. Edrington, artist, 2728 Sheffield av.—The story I'd like to read about myself probably never will be possible. But it would be interesting to know what people think of me. Therefore, I'd like to read my obituary because that would be the best chance I'd have to know at least the good side. I'm curious.

Paul De Mars, student, 745 W. Garfield blvd.—Something along the scientific line—such as "Paul De Mars, young inventor, has just developed a device making it possible to see television in color. This is expected to revolutionize radio and, no doubt, will play havoc with the moving picture industry."

Lillian Zehner, stenographer, 8416 Rockefeller av., Brookfield—I've always wanted to be a model. Nothing would please me more than to see a front page story about myself saying, "Lillian Zehner, a Powers model, has been offered contracts by three film corporations, but declined the offers, stating she prefers to live in Chicago."

Fred Sellers, student, 420 Naperville rd., Downers Grove—Wouldn't this be thrilling? "Fred Sellers, too young to join the service, today destroyed an entire Japanese regiment on Okinawa. He stowed away on a freighter and made his way to the island to try out a new disintegration bomb he had invented."

Bill Hansen, bench hand, 4216 Lindley st., Downers Grove—How's this? "Bill Hansen, bench hand in a war industry, has just inherited 3 million dollars. It was left in his name at the postoffice with no comment. When asked how it feels to be a millionaire he said he plans to continue working in a war plant."

'FLAME PROOF' BIG TOP RAISED FOR CIRCUS TOUR

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—The big top is up again.

The last one came down in flames at Hartford, Conn., last July 6, killing 168 persons. It was the worst tragedy in circus history.

outdoor performance in a tent of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus since the Hartford disaster.

Frank Braden, advance agent, said the chemically treated canvas is flameproof. "You can black it," he said, "but you can't burn it."

POLICE ASSURE METAL WORKERS PEACEFUL VOTE

Charges that they have been threatened with loss of their jobs and with bodily harm if they continue as candidates for office in local 115 of the Sheet Metal Worker's International association [AFL] were made by two members of the union to Capt. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail yesterday. They were promised police protection.

T. R. McVickers [top] and O. A. Waldvogel

The complainants are Otto A. Waldvogel, 33, a sheet metal worker employed by the Federal Electric company, a member of the union for eight years and Thomas R. McVickers, 35, a member of the union for 20 years who is employed by the Panellit Display company, 1528 Armitage av. Both are independent candidates.

Rank and File Rebels

Nominations for union office were made Tuesday night at 113 S. Ashland av. For the first time in 20 years, Waldvogel and McVicker said, opposition was made possible by a rank and file movement within the local, which has 1,400 members.

The independent candidates charged attempts were made to railroad the reëlection of Albert G. Fox, financial secretary and treasurer; Michael Kerry, president; James Ryan, business manager, and other officers. A majority of the 300 present, McVickers said, forced a vote on the issue and only 34 voted to reëlect the present leaders.

McVickers was nominated to oppose Fox for financial secretary and treasurer and Waldvogel was nominated for recording secretary. Two other rank and filers, also were nominated—Theodore Walker for president and Raymond Kliber for vice president. The election will be held next Tuesday, in the union hall at 113 S. Ashland av.

Capt. Barnes Issues Warning

"The independent candidates charge that they have been threatened over the phone and in person if they continue as candidates," Capt. Barnes said. "I warn that if any one is slugged, those responsible will be jailed. I will attend the election to see that no violence occurs."

Fox, denied the independent candidates had any ground for fearing that they would not be allowed to have watchers during the election. He ridiculed their charges that they had been threatened.

"I knew you'd let it out that we had a rib roast in the house."

BANDAGE MAKER GETS 3 YRS. FOR CLOTH FRAUDS

New York, May 31 (AP)—Abraham Freitag, 44 year old Brooklyn physician, was sentenced by Judge Francis G. Caffey in federal court today to three years imprisonment and $100,000 fine on his guilty plea to diverting millions of yards of bandage material into the black market.

Freitag, president of the Bias Coating corporation and inventor of a bias-cut bandage used by military forces, admitted diverting 2,966,316 yards of this material at a profit of more than $100,000.

2-Way Radio KEEPS SURFACE LINES MOVING

Trouble shooters, already in the field, receive word of traffic tie-up by 2-way radio and immediately rush to scene. They aid in clearing the street, reroute street cars and buses and keep service operating while keeping in direct radio contact with downtown headquarters.

C-r-a-s-h. When there is a collision at a busy intersection, traffic on each street might be tied-up for long periods were it not for CSL Trouble Shooters.

That's when the Surface Lines Radio Dispatcher gets into action. At the first hint of trouble he summons help, wherever it might be, by 2-way radio.

Special wreck truck crews, trained and equipped to clear [street blockades, are] continually in contact with the dispatcher through 2-way radio

When fire engines go tearing along the street it often means a traffic tie-up.

Same way with violent storms, serious motor truck collisions and dozens of other mishaps that blockade heavily-travelled thoroughfares.

But even in the face of these difficulties street cars and buses must keep moving, especially in busy Chicago to which an embattled nation looks for nearly 15% of its war equipment.

That's why Surface Lines keeps its own 2-way radio at work day and night. At the first sign of trouble, word is flashed to dispatchers and then to wreck crews and other experts already in the field. They rush to the scene, clear streets, make repairs or reroute street cars and buses so that our 4,000,000 daily riders will experience a minimum of delay.

This constant contact with our traffic speeder-uppers, no matter where they may be, is just one of many things Surface Lines is doing to keep service rolling during these crucial days. It isn't always possible to have a street car or bus where you want it, when you want it . . . but rest assured, your neighbors in CSL uniforms are doing everything humanly possible to keep service at the highest standard it can be under wartime handicaps.

YOU CAN HELP KEEP TRAFFIC MOVING

Be a Trolley Pilot

To man the street cars and buses necessary to move Chicago's war-workers to and from their jobs, Surface Lines must enlist hundreds of conductors and motormen at once. Steady jobs, important jobs.

EYE C. C. F. VOTE FOR ANY LEFTIST SHIFT IN CANADA

Radical Party Gets First Test on Monday

BY ARTHUR EVANS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

TORONTO, Ont., May 31—One phase of Canada's impending elections that is disturbing Liberals and Conservatives is the Coöperative Commonwealth Federation and its radical program for state socialism. Two years ago the C. C. F. turned the Ontario provincial election topsy-turvy by electing 32 of the 90 members of the legislature and becoming the official opposition party thru capturing the second largest bloc of seats.

First Test on Monday

Its vote, in both Ontario's election next Monday and in the national election on July 11, holds interest as a gauge of whether Canada is swinging to the left, and if so, how far.

Both the two historic partics are disturbed by fears that the C. C. F. might get enough seats in the house of commons to become the official opposition at Ottawa.

In the Ontario campaign, Premier George Drew, Progressive-Conservative, and the C. C. F. leader, E. B. Jolliffe, a Toronto barrister and a Rhodes scholar, are still whaling away at each other over Jolliffe's charges that a secret police, or Gestapo, has been operated to keep the government in power.

The national campaigning has Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Liberal, expounding the post-war program as the main issue, while John Bracken, Progressive-Conservative, is still twanging his harp on man power, or the conscription issue, as the main item.

Fight Over Industry's Role

King is stressing measures dealing with post-war problems, employment, rehabilitation of soldiers, reconversion of industry, social advancement, and family allowances, which his administration has already enacted into law.

A comparatively minor difference appears between Liberals and Conservatives on one fundamental question, that of private industry and the part it is to play in post-war readjustment to peace. But the C. C. F. is whooping it up for government operation of enterprise. Its policies are being attacked in advertisments as a wild-eyed dream of state socialism and of expropriation of private business.

On whether private enterprise can provide full employment after the war, the position of the three parties has been stated by King and Bracken and in a C. C. F. manifesto.

Parties' Stands Defined

A few excerpts are a key to how the parties stand:

KING—"Full employment can be achieved only if by far the major part of the employment is provided by private enterprise. But no government can leave the responsibility for employment exclusively to private enterprise."

BRACKEN [in answering the question, "Can private enterprise give full employment?"]—"By its own unaided efforts, no. By the coöperation of the state, yes. Enterprise will succeed in this respect if given two essential aids—the re-establishment of confidence that it will be treated fairly by the state, and the assurance of coöperation by the state."

C. C. F. MANIFESTO: "Only large scale public investment and expenditure, under social ownership or control, and carried out in accordance with a national economic plan, will meet our needs."

HELD AS RAPIST; MURDER CASE RELEASE PROBED

Detectives last night started an investigation to learn why Willard Rainey, 36, Negro window washer, of 1658 Monroe st., was freed after he had been taken before the grand jury on a charge of murdering Mrs. Lillian Joseph, 53, of 1204 S. Central Park av.

Willard Rainey

That he had been freed was discovered after his arrest Wednesday on a charge of raping a 7 year old white girl. Detectives Harold Haight and Edward Fiala of the Fillmore st. station said Mrs. Joseph, before she died on March 22, identified Rainey as the Negro who beat her with a flatiron in her home Feb. 17. Rainey denies the woman identified him.

The detectives asserted that a coroner's jury recommended that Rainey be held for murder. He formally was charged with murder and taken before the grand jury in April. Fiala said Rainey was indicted for murder and he entered a report of this action in police records. Records returned from the police bureau of identification, however, showed the grand jury returned a no-bill against Rainey.

DEATH BY ACCIDENT

Forty-four times as many people between the ages of 5 and 19 died in the United States in 1943 from accidents as died from infantile paralysis.

OWN SHOT KILLS FATHER, SLAYER OF DAUGHTER, 21

Fires as Police Trap Him in Home

Kansas City, Mo., May 31 [Special]—Weary of flight, Ray E. Davis, 42, returned home today and died by a bullet from his own gun on almost the same spot where he shot and killed his daughter, Lula Mae, 21, Tuesday night to stop her friendship with a soldier.

Ray E. Davis

He had told relatives and friends, in telephone calls as he wandered about the city yesterday while police hunted him, that he intended to commit suicide.

Wounded by Policeman

Because he was wounded during an encounter with police, who fired a shot, it was not at first known whose bullet had killed him. It was finally determined, however, that David had shot himself.

Davis, a furnace repairman, for years had kept a jealous vigil over his three daughters, Lula Mae, Mildred, 19, and Wanda, 15, to prevent their receiving attentions from boy friends. Mrs. Davis said he was particularly bitter toward Pvt. David Sharp, 21, who had returned home on furlough after two years in the Pacific and called on Lula Mae.

Turns Gun on Her

Shouting a reminder that he had warned the soldier three years ago to stay away from Lula Mae, the enraged father fired a shot at Pvt. Sharp, but missed as the young man ran from the house. When Lula Mae grappled with him, imploring that he not shoot again, Davis turned the gun on her and fired. She died a few minutes after Davis fled.

Two policemen went to the Davis home this morning on a report that the fugitive had returned there. Lt. Charles Welch entered the house, pointed his pistol toward an open bedroom door and shouted: "Come out with your hands up." For a moment there was no sound, then a shot broke the silence. As Welch and his companion policeman moved toward the door, there was a floundering noise, then Davis appeared at the door with a gun pointed at Lt. Welch. Welch fired and Davis fell into the living room, within two feet of where Lula Mae fell.

Examination showed one bullet wound in Davis' chest near the heart and another in the right arm. It was determined later that the bullet in his chest was his own.

"It's better this way," sobbed Mrs. Davis, when told of the shooting.

EX-COMPANION AIDS STATE IN MEDLEY TRIAL

Links Him to Dead Woman's Coat

Washington, D. C., May 31 [Special]—New strands in the web of circumstantial evidence being woven about Joseph D. Medley were added today as a prosecution witness testified at his murder trial that he tried to get her to sell a fur jacket belonging to the woman he is charged with slaying.

Medley, 43, handsome escaped convict, is on trial for the March 6 killing of Mrs. Nancy Boyer, attractive, red haired divorcee, in her swank Washington apartment after a gay party and all night poker game.

Mrs. Blanche Zimmerman [left], Joseph Medley, and Mrs. Nancy Boyer.

Today's witness was Mrs. Mabel W. Mueller, platinum blonde saleswoman who was with him in a St. Louis, Mo., hotel when he was captured last March 17. The St. Louis woman said she met him March 12.

Two days after their first meeting, she related, Medley showed her a silver fox jacket, which has been identified as belonging to Mrs. Boyer. Mrs. Mueller said Medley displayed the wrap in his hotel room and offered her a 25 per cent commission to sell it.

"He told me I could make some money," she testified. "I told him I wasn't interested."

Other witnesses had testified that Mrs. Boyer was wearing an emerald and diamond ring the night she was shot to death and a Pittsburgh jeweler identified Medley as the man who sold him, on March 8, an emerald and diamond ring that had been identified as Mrs. Boyer's.

Evidence linking him with the bathtub slaying of Laura Fisher, 28, New York garment shop worker, at a hotel in New Orleans was also admitted into evidence. Medley has been indicted for this murder.

Medley had been suspected of complicity in the death of Mrs. Blanche Zimmerman, 39, whose nude body was found last Feb. 17 in a bathtub in the Atlantic hotel in Chicago where he shared a room with her. However, a coroner's jury decided she died accidentally.

129 IN 4 OTHER UNIONS IDLE IN DODGE STRIKE

As the automotive panel of the war labor board at Detroit, Mich., prepared to take action against 574 members of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers and Helpers [AFL] who are conducting the 178th strike since May 2, 1944, at the Dodge Chicago plant, 129 members of four other unions remained away from work yesterday because they refused to cross a picket line established by the strikers.

"The additional 129 who refused to do their war work violated their union's agreements with the company," the company said. "They made no attempt whatsoever to follow the established bargaining procedure before ceasing work."

The 129 were described as members of the Chicago Die Sinkers' association [independent], the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers [AFL], the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners [AFL], and the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' union [AFL].

GREAT POWERS GIVEN PROPOSED TRANSIT BOARD

No Limit Is Placed on Height of Fares

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK

Vast powers would be placed in the hands of the seven man board which is to govern the proposed publicly owned Chicago metropolitan transit authority. The proposal is backed by Mayor Kelly and Gov. Green and is to be voted on in a referendum next Monday.

The board would not only operate the surface and the elevated lines and permissibly the Chicago Motor Coach facilities; it also would set fares. At present the companies are privately operated and owned and their service and fares are regulated by the Illinois commerce commission.

Would Be Boss of 21,000

Under the setup the board would become boss of some 21,000 surface and elevated lines employes. It would borrow 87 million dollars with which to purchase the traction properties and could borrow more for a projected 123 million dollar rehabilitation program of the properties.

The board would become ruler over a gross business [war time level] of 80 millions a year and 1944 earnings of 6 million dollars. It would be the local transportation czardom over 85 suburban towns in Cook county if these communities should vote to come into its orbit. Only Chicago and Elmwood Park are to ballot Monday on the proposition; other suburbs so far are cool toward it.

The board would gain control almost immediately over a 30 million dollar cash fund of the surface lines. It would be empowered to negotiate labor contracts and to set up working conditions and pensions for the employes. It would select a new general manager.

$15,000 a Year Each

Four members of the governing board would be appointed by the mayor and three by the governor. Each would be paid $15,000 a year. The board would choose its own chairman and fix such extra compensation for him as the members think adequate.

The transit authority would have no taxing power and no right to pledge the physical assets it would control to secure its debts. Only earnings would be applicable to pay interest and bond service costs, but there is no limit on the height to which the board could drive fares.

Under a city ordinance, a companion piece to the metro authority act, the great powers of the board would be solidified by a 50 year franchise. This ordinance is to be voted on in Chicago next Monday along with the enabling legislation.

High Taxes are Cited

The great venture into public ownership is necessary, proponents of the scheme have asserted, because under present tax policies private enterprise cannot do the job of unification and modernization.

The federal government, for example, would cut into any earnings available to pay stockholder interests with a corporation tax of at least 40 per cent. Bond interest of a private company would be liable to income tax imposed on the bondholders. Also, a private company would have to continue paying 3½ millions a year in local taxes.

Eigible for U. S. Grants

A public corporation would be free of corporation and local taxes, its bond interest would be nontaxable and its securities therefore attractive to big investors. Another talking point is that the public corporation would be eligible to receive federal grants and even federal labor should the old WPA days come back.

Its fully secured debt at the start would be 15 millions more than the 72 millions of first mortgage bonds of the present surface lines—the only old securities that have proved equal to the job of interest paying. The rate of interest, however, is expected to be much lower on the new securities.

Opposition to the public ownership scheme is unorganized. It is being accepted so far by even its sponsors as an undesirable solution but the only way to get good local transportation. Mayor Kelly and Gov. Green support it for that reason and no other, they have said.

I. C. C.'S REPORT DUE WEDNESDAY ON TRANSIT PLAN

The Illinois Commerce commission is expected to report next Wednesday to Judge Michael L. Igoe of the federal District court on the fairness and public interest of the metropolitan transit authority plan under which a new publicly owned corporation would purchase, unify, and operate the surface and elevated lines. The authority scheme is to be voted on in Chicago next Monday in a referendum.

Commission members refused to discuss the report. It is known, however, that staff members are drafting it. Its general purport, it is expected, will be of such a nature that it will not interfere with putting the traction lines under public ownership. The commission is not likely, it is said, to approve the valuation of 87 million dollars for the properties, at which the city has offered to buy them and turn them over to the authority.

It was believed the commission would make an unfavorable report on the alternative "trustees plan" which is a revamping of the old unification case which the commissioners rejected two years ago for financial unsoundness. This plan would retain private ownership.

OPA FEATHERS FLY AS SHAFER BLASTS PILLOW REGULATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 31—A prospective "pillow" bombardment of the nation's capital under the auspices of the OPA was reported to the house today by Rep. Shafer [R., Mich.], who asked whether the war time pillow trips are "necessary."

The congressman said the OPA's regulation MPR 584 decrees that all retailers of feather and down pillows must send a sample of each grade in stock on June 27 to the OPA's "durable goods" branch here.

"While the OPA states this is necessary in order to determine the proper price to be charged for each pillow, I am wondering how a pillow deluge on Washington is to be handled," Shafer said.

"Possibly this procedure will make possible the paving of our streets with pillows to assure soft spots on which the burocrats can land when the nation gets fed up and demands they be thrown out. This has all the earmarks of 'made work' to justify hundreds of unnecessary jobs."

JAMES RILEY JR. WILL TAKE OVER OPA AREA TODAY

James F. Riley Jr. becomes acting director of the Chicago area of the office of price administration today, succeeding Marion W. Isbell, who has resigned. Riley has been deputy director since last August. He has been associated with the local OPA since 1941. He said he expects to serve as acting director until a full director is appointed.

James F. Riley Jr.

14 More Truck Drivers Seized; 22 Fined $445

State inspectors, continuing their war on trucks with improper licenses and overweight loads yesterday, arrested 14 more drivers in Cicero. Police Magistrate Marvin Capouch fined 22 drivers a total of $445 for violations committed last week. Most of the violations are in loads, some being from 10,000 to 20,000 pounds above the limit.

BARNEY KESSEL FACES CONTEMPT HEARING JUNE 7

Barney Kessel, who had been cited for numerous violations of office of price administration regulations in the operation of his steak house at 741 Randolph st., was ordered by Judge John P. Barnes in federal District court yesterday to show cause on June 7 why he should not be held in contempt of cou . for violation of an OPA injunction.

Kessel was accused by OPA attorneys of illegally acquiring 79,260 red ration points thru the sale of rationed fats and oils to the J. and M. Popcorn company, 6336 S. Western av., and then obtaining meat with the points. Judge Barnes denied an oral motion by Atty. John Cusack for a change of venue and instructed him to file such a motion in writing.

Last April Kessel was ordered suspended for overdrawing his ration bank account, but later was placed on probation after making up the point shortage. OPA Atty. Homer C. Clay said a revocation of the probation order would be sought.

If Your Advertising Can Influence Him

Industry's shift from war to peace has started. Two days after V-E Day, the lid on manufacturing heavy goods was jarred loose. And under it we could see plans forming for the first millions of new automobiles, washers, refrigerators. But, as these advertisements have emphasized for the past two years, the ultimate problem won't be in manufacturing goods but in manufacturing customers.

For, prosperity doesn't just happen to us. We've got to make it happen.

To make it happen: We've got to see that there are jobs enough for all willing to work when full-time civilian production is resumed.

To do that—we have to manufacture—and somebody has to buy—50 per cent more than we did in our best peacetime year.

There's only one man in America big enough, rich enough, to buy that amount of goods. You see his picture above.

He's Wage Earner America.

Right now, his saved-up billions of dollars are four times greater than ALL America had saved up back in 1918. The spendable cash of his income beyond basic, fixed expenditures has advanced 92 per cent—while that of America's white collar group has decreased 31 per cent.

And he wants the goods. His vast capacity to consume can dominate the market places for the next generation.

But it's up to your advertising to lead him to those market places . . . to make these millions of Americans reach out for brand new standards of living—better than America has ever known.

And it's up to your advertising to give these Wage Earner millions buying confidence . . . to reassure them of the SECURITY OF SPENDING.

Your advertising will need a special kind of authority to accomplish that end. It's the kind of authority these millions accept without question in Macfadden Publications.

For they have come to respect deeply the magazines that served their hopes, their ambitions, their aspirations over the last 25 years.

To them, the editorial columns and advertising columns are indivisible parts of these magazines.

That is why no other magazines in America today have greater power to influence the Wage Earner millions.

Headquarters for Wage Earner Information

The publishers of Macfadden Publications are in a unique position. Half of their revenue comes from Wage Earners in cash over the newsstand—half from management for its advertisements. And just as the publishers have gathered a vast store of information on business, they have also gathered it on Wage Earners.

In pursuit of these facts, Macfadden Publications have become headquarters for every aspect of information on the Wage Earner: how he lives and how he works; what he believes and what he doubts; what he buys and what he plans to buy; how he thinks, what he hopes, what he fears. Here, for example, are a few of the titles Research Director Everett R. Smith has released toward fulfillment of our pledge—"to maintain our service to Industry as the most authoritative private source of knowledge and understanding of these people—upon whom Industry—and, indeed, our entire economic system as we presently know it—must depend."

WAR WITHOUT AIMS—AND WITHOUT END?

The vague objectives of what was supposed to be a "people's peace" were stated by the secretary of state in a sermon from a penthouse atop a luxury hotel in San Francisco. Other sermons from lofty heights have concerned themselves with simpler things: "Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them."

But, in the international politics of the 20th century, there is no room for the Golden Rule. The representatives of the United States, contemplating their world neighbors, expect little good of them. There is little in the record of the other great powers to suggest a better expectation. Therefore, says Mr. Stettinius, the role of the United States is to be a mediator when the interests of the other powers conflict.

This is a passive role which recognizes that the interests of the United States were never brought forward in the first place and that they are now finally relegated to the background without quibble or quarrel. The other powers strive and contend, and we, like the unfortunate bystander who interposes in the street fight, are supposed to dart into the melee every now and then and get our hat knocked over our eyes for our pains.

The instrumentality of this samaritan purpose is the world peace charter being drafted at San Francisco. The emphasis at the conference upon idle and meaningless parliamentarism foredooms the formula; and little can be said for it beyond that it is a cruel betrayal of the hopes of all those who contended that American intervention in the war would automatically bring the millennium.

The words that are devised with such travail at San Francisco are falsified by events in Europe before they can even be set down on paper. The default precedes the commitments. The pledges assumed by Stalin in the Crimea are repudiated without apology. The moral principles of the Atlantic Charter have become ephemeral, and even their authors have conceded that they were never supposed to be valid. The four freedoms are made a mockery by shameless imperialism and repression, whether of the Moscow, the Paris, or the London variety.

The incredible is true. We fought a great war; incurred a million casualties; squandered the nation's wealth in furnishing so many billions to the nations fighting with us—without any agreement as to what we were fighting for, or what would take place after victory. The counsel of the few who prophesied the event was disregarded until it was too late.

Thus we find Russia not only occupying Germany up to the Elbe, and excluding all Americans who would seek to penetrate the great blacked-out area of eastern Europe, but occupying either directly or by puppet government all of the Balkans and east central Europe and even the Danish island of Bornholm. The veto provisions of the San Francisco league insure that Russia, for as long as it suits her purposes, may shut off this vast sphere from the outside world, do as she pleases within the new Chinese wall in Europe, and never be answerable to any one.

In Trieste the former allies are on the verge of hostilities. British forces, whether of liberation or occupation according to taste in interpretation, are firmly established in Belgium, Holland, Norway, and Denmark. Expatriate nationals of all these countries protest in London that they are denied the permission and the means to go home. France, recently freed, is making war on Syria despite her obligations under league of nations mandate to validate the freedom which she says has been extended to that unhappy country.

In London it is necessary for Mr. Truman's emissary to inform the British prime minister that this country by no means will enter a war against Russia, thus confirming the impression that Britain would now make war on Russia if she could obtain our help. In Syria the British 9th army is in training. It is an army which has been stationed in the near east all thru the war but has never gone into action on any large scale. It somehow finds itself conveniently near the southern Russian flank. In Russia, a nation now at war with no one, the Red army has embarked on summer maneuvers. For what? In Prague the chief of staff of the satellite Czech army says that it "is destined for fighting" beside the Red army. Against whom?

Not Japan, evidently. The European nations are extremely coy about that one. The countries we rescued from defeat in their war against Germany have scarcely lifted a finger to help us fight their war against Japan. They will take the profits but not the pains.

Never in recorded history has the world entered a more nervous peace than this; and, while the tocsin still vibrates from the last alarm, the farce of organization for permanent peace is being carried thru in San Francisco just as if the world were in a state of profound tranquility and amiable accord. Lunacy on a universal scale is the order of the day and it would hardly shock the understanding if the deferred award of the Nobel peace prize would be partitioned among Stalin, De Gaulle, Churchill, and, posthumously, Hitler. Certainly all the expectations are that none of the statesmen going thru the solemn rigmarole at San Francisco stands a chance of consideration.

RUSSIA'S CAMPAIGN AGAINST AMERICA

The Russian newspapers and radio have embarked upon a new campaign against the American press. As usual, THE TRIBUNE and the New York News are condemned, but along with them the New York Times, the Baltimore Sun, and the Hearst and Scripps-Howard papers are denounced. The charges are vague, but we seem to be blamed for whooping up a war against Russia, and the New York Times and Baltimore Sun for questioning the propriety of Tito's conduct in Trieste.

The charges hardly merit a reply. Far from beating the drums for a war against Russia, this newspaper said as recently as last Sunday that we would oppose such a project with all the vigor at our command. We think the economic theories of the bolsheviks are foolish. their attempts to gobble up their neighbors shameful, and their method of government utterly vile, but we don't believe in fighting them for any or all of these reasons and we have said so in a fashion that could not be misunderstood. As the Russians are indifferent to the facts in the matter, we must conclude that the campaign against the American press has an ulterior purpose.

We can only guess at what Stalin's game may be. Perhaps the attacks are intended to excuse the inexcusable refusal of the Russians to let American correspondents see and report what is going on in the little countries that Stalin has taken over. Maybe he is trying to whip up a vigorous anti-American sentiment in Russia to discourage any of his countrymen from feeling grateful toward the American people who saved them from defeat.

Whatever his motive, he is magnificently hypocritical. His press at home and his noisy newspapers and magazines in this country have repeatedly attacked America and American institutions in the vilest terms. He appears to think that in spite of this record we must assume that he is well disposed toward us but that anything uttered in this country about Russia, even an argument against war on the soviets, may freely be construed as unfriendly.

THE BOOBY TRAP IN THE HOUSING BILL

Slum clearance isn't the same thing as public housing. Public housing projects have sometimes cleared slums. As often as not, in Chicago and elsewhere, they haven't.

The public housing program now in various stages of enactment by the legislature has been extensively presented as a program for slum clearance in Chicago. Those who accept this presentation without investigation are being booby trapped. The booby trap is in the Downing bill [Senate No. 339]. That's the bill that dishes out the state money, 10 million dollars.

It is quite true that some of the housing bills do authorize slum clearance. The act widening the powers of condemnation by municipalities specifically limits those powers to property "the acquisition of which is necessary or appropriate for the rehabilitation of any blighted or slum area." This bill appropriates no money.

The appropriation in the Downing bill is to the state housing board, hitherto a more or less moribund body, for distribution to local housing authorities. In this city, the Chicago housing authority would get the money. Its powers are not confined to slum clearance. It can build anywhere in Chicago on vacant property, and it also can go as much as a mile and a half out of the city into unincorporated territory for its housing sites.

This is the language of the Downing bill which ostensibly limits the expenditure of the appropriation to slum clearance:

"No grant shall be made unless the housing authority shall present with its application an agreement with the governing body or bodies of its area of operation that any project or projects for low-rent housing to be financed in whole or in part from such grant include the elimination by demolition, condemnation, and effective closing, or the compulsory repair or improvement of unsafe or unsanitary dwellings situated in the locality or area of the housing authority, substantially equal in number to the number of newly constructed dwellings provided by the project or projects, except that such elimination may, in the discretion of the state housing board, be deferred in any locality or area where the shortage of decent, safe, or sanitary housing available to families of low income is so acute as to force dangerous overcrowding of such families."

This is the so-called equivalent area clause, copied out of federal housing legislation. As far as slum clearance is concerned, the bill is full of holes as wide as a barn door. If the housing authority wants to avoid the slums and build a project on vacant land, it can legitimatize its action by taking credit for every slum house anywhere in the city where it is located that falls down or burns down, or is repaired by its owner, or is torn down to provide a factory site. Or, by merely pleading that there is a housing shortage in the area, it can avoid even the pretense of clearing a slum and build its project wherever it pleases.

Chicago now has four so-called slum clearance housing projects, the rest of its public housing being designated low-cost war housing. Of the four alleged slum clearance projects, one, Julia Lathrop was built on an abandoned industrial site, and a second, Trumbull Park, on vacant land. Together they occupy 56 acres. Only on the Jane Addams and Ida Wells sites, with an aggregate area of 71 acres, was there slum clearance. An even larger proportion of the war housing projects is on vacant land.

Slum clearance and rehabilitation are universally approved. The only controversy there is over the methods and agencies to be used. Approval of public housing is far less general. If the people and legislature of Illinois want to put the state into the public housing business, they ought to go into it with their eyes open and not under the misapprehension that they are engaging in slum clearance. If, on the other hand, they expect the appropriation provided by the Downing bill to be used for slum clearance, they should get rid of the weasel words of the equivalent area clause and put in the bill a specific limitation on the use of the funds. Otherwise they are almost certainly doomed to disappointment.

MAN OF MYSTERY

Any one who has shared this column's fancy for the spirited tales of adventure printed in American magazines under the name of Achmed Abdullah will be pleased to learn that the mystery of this excellent writer's life has been clarified. After his death in New York on May 5 his widow announced that he was the son of Grand Duke Nicholas of Russia and Princess Nourmahal Durani of Afghanistan. This information may sound like the plot of one of his stories, but it is also a reasonable completion of the picture.

* * *

Capt. Abdullah, as he was usually addressed, had never disclosed his parentage beyond stating that he was born in Yalta of Russian-Afghan ancestry, and that his mother's uncle was the amir of Afghanistan. "A certain aura of personal mystery is part of his stock in trade," says "20th Century Authors." He had an English and French education, acquired British citizenship, and served as a cavalry officer on remote frontiers of the empire. His interviewers were always in doubt when he told this story, which sounded like a sample of his fiction. It gains plausibility when a Romanoff emerges from the background.

* * *

Grand Duke Nicholas, cousin of the czar, was an outstanding figure of World War I. He was commander in chief until April 21, 1915, when the czar assumed that responsibility at the urging of the meddling monk, Rasputin, who had prophesied that defeats would end when the Little Father stood at the head of his forces. Before this happened, Rasputin had wired the grand duke for permission to go to the front "to bless the troops." He was answered thus: "Come, I shall hang you."

* * *

Abdullah wrote 16 books of fiction, two plays that were staged by David Belasco, and miscellaneous works such as a collection of verse, a cookbook for men, an autobiography that resembled his tales, several movie scripts, and an item that completely baffled the skeptics, called "A Grammar of Little Known Bantu Dialects."

SHORTAGE SERENADE

I sing the lowly cuts of meat
Now gaining high position;
The viands we lug home to eat
When on a shopping mission.
The neckbones choice, the hog jowls rare
Which market men provide us
To top the family bill of fare
When hunger gnaws inside us.

I sing the tripe, the brains, the lungs,
And other victuals tempting;
The ox tails, gizzards, ears, and tongues
Now steaks and roasts preempting.
Many menus they complete,
So with respect let's treat 'em.
I sing the lowly cuts of meat—
But I don't like to eat 'em!

When Actors Were Neighbors

How about a glance at the year 1908 and the neighborhood theaters of Chicago? There were some theaters then that are worth remembering. For example:

Bush temple: Edwin Thannhauser, manager, with the Thannhauser stock company, headed by Adelaide Keim and Edward B. Haas.

College theater: Elizabeth Schober, manager, with the Patrons stock company, headed by Thais Magrane and Albert Morrison.

People's theater: Charles B. Marvin, manager, with a resident company headed by Marie Nelson and Rodney Ranous.

Marlowe theater: Charles B. Marvin, manager, with Lelia Shaw and Albert Phillips playing leads.

Academy of Music: William Roche, manager, with the George Klimt Players, under direction of Frank A. P. Gazzolo, and with Virginia Keating and John Lane Connor as leads.

Criterion theater: Joe Pilgrim, manager, and the Klimt & Gazzolo Players, with Eda Von Luke and Frank Dae playing leads.

One need not have a long memory to remember them, but if drama lovers go looking for them now, please say that they have all disappeared. I was press agent for them all, at the same time, and brought my copy to you as a drama critic. Cheer-o. Ralph T. Kettering

Mrs. R. B. writes: "My husband was 39 last Jan. 1. He is serving in the Pacific area. Will he be eligible for discharge under the regulation pertaining to men over 40 when he has reached the half year mark?"

Not under present regulations, which permit discharge of only men who have reached their 40th birthdays. Your husband will not reach his until next January. However, the war department now is contemplating release of men over 35. This regulation has not yet been published.

J. V. asks: "What is a partial disability pension, and how does it differ from a total disability pension? Do they continue for life?"

It is assumed that a man able to engage in normal activity is 100 per cent. One unable to engage in normal activity because of disease or injury then is considered to be partly disabled. The percentage of disability is determined by examiners for the veterans' administration and may range from 10 to 90 per cent. If a veteran is unable to engage in any activity he may be presumed to be totally disabled. Pensions in either case are payable only so long as the disability lasts and will be discontinued if the veteran recovers fully. Where a veteran is rated totally and permanently disabled, it is presumed his condition never will be improved.

PROPER WALKING IN FLATFOOT

THE army may march on its stomach but still has to walk on its feet. Aching, sore, weak structures are almost always a problem to the military forces as well as to industry. The time lost in man hours because of this disability is probably more than we realize. The discomfort is often sufficient to make the most placid individual irritable.

In most instances the foot is unable to do the work that is required. The burden of a full pack and a gun may be far too heavy for the lower extremities to carry. An extra hundred pounds of excess fat may prove just as disastrous. This applies not only while walking but also when standing. The condition is hastened by concrete pavements which offer little or no "give" compared to good old terra firma.

With others, the foot lacks the desired strength even tho no additional pressure is placed upon it. This may arise from overuse, particularly in unaccustomed exertion such as many are prone to do during this period of war. Weakness may also result from fatigue. A patient who has been ill, especially if bedridden, may find the arch incapable of bearing its former load.

Regardless of the cause, symptoms are usually the same. The sense of tiredness may be felt not only in the feet and legs but may also affect the thighs and back. On rising from a sitting position the "dogs" are often stiff and sore. In more advanced cases, these complaints are continuous and may become so severe that the victim finds strolling difficult and far from joyful. The muscles may become so exhausted that a marked strain is placed on the ligaments in and about the arch. Ultimately, these give way and so-called flatfoot is encountered.

As a rule, the feet assume an abnormal position. They turn outward and most of the weight is borne on the inner part, just in front of the heel. In consequence, the longitudinal arch is lowered. The large toe bends out and the others frequently contract downward. In this way corns and calluses develop from rubbing against the shoes. Common locations are the base of the large toe, and near the tip of the smallest toe. In time these may become more painful than the deformity itself.

Trouble of this sort can be minimized thru knowing how to walk. Training should begin in childhood before bad habits have been acquired. It is best to use a rolling motion. First the weight is borne on the heel which is turned out slightly, then on the outside aspect of the foot, and finally to the ball of the foot. At this stage, the toes are used to propel the body forward. This is facilitated by holding the frame erect, which can be practiced by balancing a book or similar object on the head. By concentrating on this stance and method of walking, many foot disorders can be prevented.

For those who already suffer with the malady, corrective shoes, with proper padding, will often give relief. The supports must be adjusted to the individual need. For continued improvement these individuals will have to discard their old walking habits and postural defects thru reëducation.

A PSYCHIC ASSAULT

H. P. writes: For the last three years I've become a burden to myself and my parents because of a frightful sensation that I have of my face becoming smaller and and smaller. When these attacks come, I feel like I'm going to blow out like a candle. I shake like a leaf, my eyes blur, and I become confused mentally. An X-ray of my head showed nothing. Is there any way I can demolish this petrifying disease?

REPLY

If the X-rays were negative, consider yourself lucky as it means that the condition is curable. A skilled psychiatrist should be able to help you as a neurosis such as this may respond when the origin has been uncovered.

Mrs. L. writes: What digestive organ starts to develop first in the embryo?

REPLY

The liver. This structure has such a busy life in prospect that it must have a head start.

NIGHTBLINDNESS

REPLY

Yes, by improving the general physical condition, increased doses of vitamin A, and the wearing of dark glasses during the day.

THE CAT WITH SEVERAL MILLION LIVES

Front Views & Profiles

By MARCIA WINN

Warning to Readers

[Antoine. By Antoine. A book just published by Prentice-Hall. $2.50.]

This is a book about Antoine by Antoine [That's French]. It is all about hairdos and the haut monde [That's French] and momentous things like absolutely saving Lady Mendl's life not once, but twice, my dears, and about how the duchess of Windsor should be a lesson to all of us because she does not comb her hair three times a day; she has a hairdresser come and do it for her three times a day, something quite simple for mornings, something a little fluffier for the afternoon, and something really quite gala with perhaps a small ornament for evening.

It is also about Lady Daisy Fellows, who makes the duchess look like a piker because she changes her hairdo 10 times a day, and these are real and basic changes, for she is like quicksilver [Antoine says] and is a truly noble and genuine person who has a habit of seating enemies or deadly rivals side by side at her ducky dinner parties until at the end of the evening she is charmed to see how many conflicts are in progress. Antoine fixed the duchess' hair for her wedding and cut off a lock, which he still has, but he really triumphed on Lady Daisy, for he fixed her hair up once so it looked like red clay.

Antoine says these ladies were in his set [That is English for mob]. They, along with Elsa Maxwell, a lady who moved from her house because she said the springs beneath it gave her strange vibrations as tho she were a divining rod [Antoine dyed her gray hair, fuchsia], a lady who believed herself the reincarnation of a tigress and went around fiercely mothering a tiger cub [Antoine dyed her hair in streaks of yellow and black and lengthened her eyelashes each week], and a number of other vital freaks who were willing to plop down anything from 500 francs to $1,000 for a hairdo were, Antoine says, tout Paris. [And that is French for there ain't no more.]

Antoine says the ageing Lady Mendl keeps fit by leaping back and forth over the back of her sofa. The first time he saved her life was in 1924 when all their set had gone to Venice for a fine Fascist masquerade ball. She had forgotten her costume so he whipped one up for her. He himself went in emerald satin covered with glass beads and carried a six foot cane entirely covered with tiny mirrors. He gave the Fascist salute with the latter. Every one gave the salute except the two live rhinoceroses who came with Lady Cunard. In a shocking display of poor taste they turned their backs on the splendid assemblage.

The other time he saved Lady Mendl's life was when she was so upset about her gray hair. She liked it gray, but it was so gray, what could she do? Antoine went right to work on Da, his white Russian wolfhound, and practiced dyeing Da's hair for weeks until he attained a shade of lilac that would look equally well on Lady Mendl. He says she [Lady M.] is a very charming creation to decorate and is very likely to want a different hair style every day. In that she is quite different from queens. Queens bore the author of Antoine by Antoine. They are so apt to be bourgeois in their hairdos and of course one must always make provision for the probable use of a tiara in the evening.

Antoine is able to recall that Kiki, the dog who was his bosom companion in his childhood, was a pale beige. "Yes," he writes, "I always remember the color of everything." He sleeps in a glass coffin when there isn't a war on which keeps him in America; designed himself pajamas which look like stained glass windows; has his own tomb, complete with cypresses, sitting outside Paris; confesses that at one point in his career he was a little eccentric in that he sometimes wore a white satin frock coat; could not begin to work on his book until his New York apartment was filled with white flowers, and in Paris lives in a glass house with a glass stairway which "no one has ever spoiled by slipping on."

This book is simply crammed, my dears, with wonderful stories of wonderful Antoine and his wonderful set, and it is a very important book because what else is important in these times when we women have to put everything we have got into keeping our coiffures and our spirits high?

PURSE SNATCHERS

Chicago, May 28—Last night as my husband and I sat in our apartment reading, we heard a woman scream hysterically, then cry, "He stole my purse!" We rushed outside, but the boy had escaped on a bicycle, and the woman, almost a victim of nervous prostration, was wondering how she would get along without her glasses. They were in her purse.

Week before last, in the office where I work, a purse snatcher, at an amazing risk of being caught, sneaked across the front office to a girl's desk while she was away a few minutes and seized her purse. She was unable to concentrate the rest of the day, thinking of things she had lost. She called her home and said all locks must be changed as her keys had been stolen. She thought of an unopened letter from France, also in her purse, which she was waiting for a free moment to read.

Purse snatching is happening altogether too often. Why can't an armed citizens' auxiliary police committee be organized to put a stop to it? It would be composed of men of each neighborhood, taking turns patroling streets.

Nothing is discouraging these young criminals and they are running rampant. MRS. G. L. BROWN

NO CHEERFUL CREDIT FOR AMERICANS

Chicago, May 19—I quote from form 19 of the United States treasury department with reference to delinquent income taxes: "The collector is required by law to enforce the collection of a tax not paid when due and, if necessary, to distrain on property or rights to property of the taxpayer in order to do so."

It is too bad Uncle Sam does not adopt this as a policy in dealing with defaulting foreign nations. We could use some of their possessions—or is it silly to entertain any idea that these debts will be paid? Why should there be this difference in treatment of debtors. TAXPAYER

Chicago, May 28—Once again the Chicago high schools' Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit have had a successful parade up Michigan av. A large measure of the success was due this year, as it has been in the past, to the excellent coöperation we have had from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Mr. Philip Maxwell was very helpful and it was a pleasure to work with him in planning and carrying out the details of the parade.

PAY ON THE PARK BENCH AND IN A FOXHOLE

PAYING THE 13 CENT FARE

Chicago, May 23—The "L" lines have got a lot of crust demanding a 12 cent fare for the service they give in dilapidated cars which are unsafe to ride in. I suggest that if this increase goes thru, every passenger should hand the ticket agent 12 pennies and that would cure them of the raise.

STRIKE NEWS ON IWO

Chicago, May 28—The following is an excerpt from one of the letters of my son, who served on Iwo Jima as a pharmacist's mate:

"I am surprised to read in all the papers here about the strikes going on back home. Why are these people taking advantage of a war to go on strike? I haven't much room to talk, according to them, but people like these should be ashamed of themselves. There are a thousand graves on some island where some guy had carried a rifle and risked death or took a chance on being blinded or crippled for life for $50 a month. They eat rations while the strikers eat hot meals. They live in stinking, rotten foxholes at night, where it's cold and damp, just praying that a Jap won't catch him asleep at night and push a knife or bayonet in his belly while he's asleep—all this for $50 a month. You wouldn't have to ask one of these guys to trade jobs with a striker for they would do it in a minute.

"I read where a factory went on strike because they hired three Negroes. There were a thousand of them on Iwo doing everything from burying dead Japs, sanitation, making roads, carrying ammunition, and no one cared. I'd trade with the striker just to be home again with you and Dad.

"You'd really be surprised how mad these guys are when they read about strikes. If they don't want to work at home send them out here. They'll give them a rifle and put them up in the front and then let them see how nice and easy they had it back home, where they had a home." MRS. A. F. R.

VICIOUS DOGS

Chicago, May 24—We have had one more person in our neighborhood bitten by a vicious dog. Isn't it about time the laws of this city were strictly and impartially enforced? No dog should be allowed outside the building in which he is housed without a muzzle and being on a leash. We have more than our share of cross dogs, not one of which has ever had a muzzle on, no licenses, and only a few ever on a leash.

We have had plenty of examples lately, when a baby was killed by the parents' dog and thoughtless people, who value a dog above a child's life, wanted to prevent the dog's death. A woman was attacked and killed by a pack of dogs, proof that no dog, not a single one, can be trusted. Let us all insist that all dogs be muzzled.

POOR SECURITY

Chicago, May 26—I accepted two pawn tickets as security for a small loan. When the person who borrowed the money didn't pay it back, I attempted to redeem the articles but [1] was told the articles already had been claimed by the man who pawned them, 2. Do the tickets have any value under the circumstances? J. B.

1. We are not in a position to determine whether your debtor or the pawnbroker is telling the truth.
2. If the pawnbroker is telling the truth, then the only value of the tickets to you would be as evidence to support court proceedings against your debtor.

Marshall Field & Company

June 1, 1945

Dear public...

Our "Bless You Guys" page (published March 28) really got around. We told you it was posted in Germany. Now we're flooded with letters—each one sure it was their ad that was tacked up. One letter said: "I sent my copy to General Eisenhower and asked him to put it up—do you suppose he did?"

MORAL: EVEN IF HE DIDN'T—

THE GENERAL IDEA SEEMS TO BE

"BLESS THOSE GUYS"

Yours,
Marshall Field & Company

CHARGES WMC HOAXES THOSE WHO LOSE JOBS

Studebaker Union Leader Assails Agency

The war man power commission's report that there are 22,000 jobs available in Chicago war industries was branded a "hoax on workers," yesterday by John Waner, financial secretary of local 998, of the United Automobile Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers union [CIO]. That union represented the employes at the Studebaker aircraft engine plant, 5555 Archer av., which was closed without notice to the workers Tuesday.

"The government has talked of reconversion for three years and has done nothing about it but talk," Waner said. "Not one of the 2,500 employes who worked at the plant until it closed Tuesday has been given any security for the post-war period.

No Plan to Continue Operation

"Some plan should have been made beforehand to allow the Studebaker company or some other company to buy the 20 million dollar plant from the government and convert the factory to other production so the experienced workers could be retained.

"Few of the men and women who have been laid off will be able to find in other war plants jobs in which they can use the skill learned at Studebaker. Assertions by WMC that jobs are available for them immediately are a hoax on the workers."

Shun Other War Jobs

Waner explained that most of the discharged workers are reluctant to take other war plant jobs because of this inability to utilize their skills.

Lester Brown, area director of WMC, said that there are jobs available for all who were laid off, especially for the highly skilled. He said it would be hard to place semi-skilled workers at the same wages they were receiving at Studebaker.

DECLARES PLANT MADE INSPECTOR APPROVE PLANES

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—Sen. Langer [R., N. D.] asserted in the senate today that Bell Aircraft corporation, Buffalo, had forced inspectors "to either approve defective aircraft—or else be temporarily without means of making a livelihood."

It was the ninth senate speech Langer has made accusing various aircraft companies of releasing defective planes. He told the senate of "a senior plane inspector who could no longer approve defective production and who is today unemployed because the Bell Aircraft corporation refuses to grant him a release and the war man power office at Buffalo declines to grant him a card of availability."

Langer, naming the man as Martin J. Green, said the inspector "pretended he was sick in order to be relieved of further factory obligations."

"He was fearful," Langer continued, "of losing his self-respect because Bell Aircraft authorities were using him to rubber stamp dangerously constructed airplaned for sale to the armed forces."

June Weather

Temperature data for the coming month based on federal weather records in Chicago.

The Chicago weather bureau yesterday confirmed that May was outstandingly wet, cool, and cloudy. Here are some of the figures:

The total rainfall was 7.59 inches, surpassing the mark of 7.32 inches for May, 1883.

It rained nine consecutive days during the month, from May 9 thru 17. This established a May record for Chicago.

There were measurable rains on 19 of the month's 31 days, and traces of rain on three additional days. This broke the record of 18 days of measurable precipitation, set in May of 1913 and May of 1933.

The average mean temperature for the month was 54.2 degrees, 3.6 degrees below normal, and the sun shone only 50 per cent of the daylight hours, 13 per cent less than normal.

The prediction for today is thundershowers, with fresh to strong south to southeast winds.

DISMISSES JURY HEARING $10,000 SUIT BY TEACHER

A jury hearing a $10,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Gertrude Fitzgerald Casey, 32, of 7755 S. Honore st., a former school teacher, against Henry W. Trapp, 70, former clerk on the Chicago Ridge school board, whom she charged with malicious prosecution, was dismissed by Superior Judge Francis B. Allegretti yesterday when it failed to reach an agreement. The jury had deliberated four hours.

Mrs. Casey testified that Trapp falsely caused her arrest for disorderly conduct in April, 1942, when she refused to leave the Chicago Ridge school following her discharge by the board. Trapp's attorney, R. E. Posanski, introduced seven former pupils of Mrs. Casey to testify that she whipped them, slapped them, or locked them in the cloak room for half a school day.

The suit will be sent to Superior Judge Robert E. Crowe, head of the law department, for reassignment.

Waiter Slain for Refusing to Give Wine to Customer

San Francisco, Cal., May 31 (AP)—Albert Nauaux, 60, head waiter of the fashionable Jack's restaurant, died today of a beating inflicted after he refused to serve a patron more wine. Police said Nauaux followed the assailant and his party to the sidewalk to explain that his refusal to serve them was because they appeared intoxicated. Nauaux was knocked down and his head struck the pavement. His attacker fled.

W-G-N WILL EXPAND ITS FARM PROGRAMS UNDER HAL TOTTEN

W-G-N will introduce an expanded schedule of programs for middle western farm listeners next Monday under the supervision of Hal Totten, veteran broadcaster who has been appointed director of farm broadcasting.

Totten will conduct a week day series of broadcasts from 12:15 to 12:30 p. m. starting Monday and titled Farmers' Market Reporter. Latest farm and live stock news will be presented. Butch Davis, veteran farm radio reporter, will give the live stock market reports from the stock yards. Paul H. Hucko will give the grain market reports from the Board of Trade. W-G-N's Farm Hour, providing many services for farms and gardeners, will be aired from 6 to 6:30 starting next Monday, with Totten taking it over.

Lightning Hits Trolley; Passengers Flee in Rain

Fifteen passengers on a 63d st. trolley car were drenched last night when they fled the car after it was struck by lightning during a heavy downpour. The accident occurred at Richmond st. No one was hurt. The bolt blew out a heater fuse and after a 10 minute delay the street car went on its way.

$3,000 LOOT IN HOME BURGLARY

Arthur Allert, 416 Pine av., reported to police yesterday that burglars looted his apartment of jewelry, a shot gun, two boxes of shells, a war bond, and clothing and linen worth a total of $3,000.

SCAN MESSAGES IN McCORMICK ADOPTION SUIT

Middletown, Conn., May 31 (AP)—Examination of messages and telegrams allegedly written by WAC Sgt. Muriel McCormick Hubbard to Dr. Frances M. Clarke occupied the fifth day's proceedings in the Superior court hearing today in which Fowler McCormick, Chicago industrialist, is attempting to have overruled a Probate court approval of an adoption agreement giving the custody of two adopted children of Sgt. Hubbard, his sister, to Dr. Clarke.

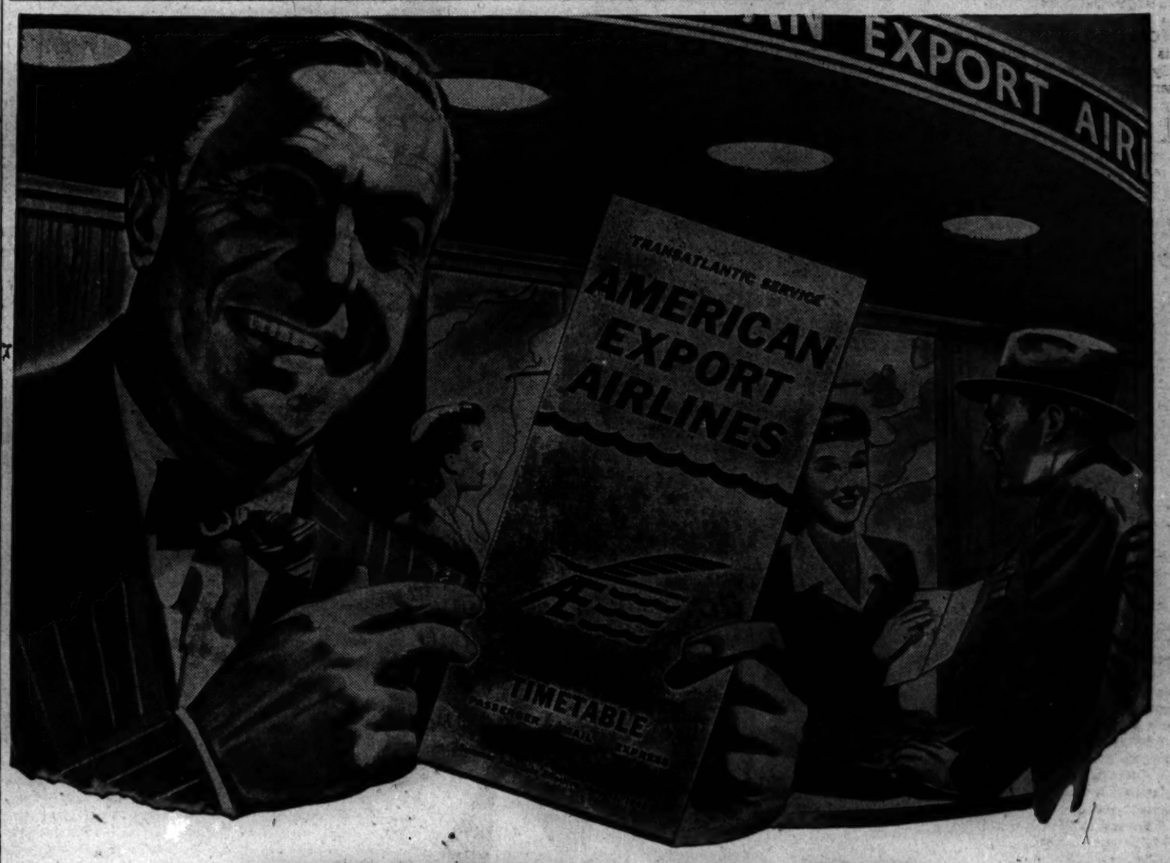

McCormick is assailing Dr. Clarke's appointment as guardian, charging the educator is "temperamentally unfit" to have custody of the children, Edith R. Hubbard, 11, and Elisha Dyer Hubbard II., 7.

Dr. Clarke, a primar. school principal, occupied the stand for the fourth day. Under cross examination by Atty. Hugh M. Alcorn Sr., McCormick's counsel, she was called upon to explain several checks from Sgt. Hubbard which carried the notation, "for transmission to attorneys." These, she said, were to pay the fees of attorneys fighting the McCormick action.

FORGERY SUSPECT ARRESTED

Alex Norville, 3123 26th st., was held yesterday by police who said he cashed a forged check for $38 and a forged money order for $15 in a tavern owned by Stanley Petrusma, 1926 Canalport av.

ANNOUNCING OUR NEW TRANSATLANTIC SUMMER SCHEDULE

STEPPED-UP SERVICE IMPROVES OPPORTUNITY FOR CIVILIANS TO FLY TO EUROPE

THE increasingly important problems of planning for peace and rehabilitation, as well as the resumption of business activities, are requiring many civilians to visit Europe. To facilitate this travel, flights have been increased to three per week.

Our 4-engine Flying Aces leave from Marine Terminal, LaGuardia Field, New York, call at Botwood, Newfoundland, land overseas at Foynes, Ireland—where direct air connections are made to other European countries.

If you are going to Europe, call our nearest traffic office or ask your travel agent to get in touch with us. We will furnish all the latest European travel information and will help to arrange your trip. Reservations are now being accepted.

When you fly the Atlantic with the American Export Airlines you travel in comfort. Trained-nurse-stewardesses are in constant attendance and serve tasteful meals. There are restful, full-length berths for every passenger.

If you are interested, we will send you a copy of our summer timetable.

For information and reservations, call your travel agent or the Company's traffic offices

'Midsummer Nightmare'

By Christopher Hale

(Copyright: 1945: By Mrs. Frances Stephens)

SYNOPSIS: Olivia Warburton and her secretary, Winnie Leslie, occupy a cottage, cared for by Tillie, on the Jennesma estate. The Jennesma factory is managed by Dirk Adams, Winnie's fiance. Sybrand Jennesma plans to manufacture his brother Gerrit's latest invention, a car motor, and hopes to interest Morgan Riley, Sen. North, Riley's investigator, falls in love with Olivia. Jason Kimball, in charge of publicity, is fond of Winnie. The oft-married Hilda Jennesma Paradine claims money is missing from her cottage. Hilda is found murdered, a knife in her back. Tillie informs Police Lt. French that Olivia, who walks in her sleep, went downstairs in the night and took the knife from the kitchen. The missing money is found in Winnie's room. Eddie Paradine heard nothing. He is not familiar with Hilda's will. Dirk was with Hilda from 1:30 to 2 a. m. Olivia finds herself turning to Sen. North, tho there is a barrier, a secret marriage in her youth. Jerrold Corbin, Hilda's first husband, is upset to learn Hilda left him only $2,000. Tillie is poisoned. Arsenic is found in her chocolates. Olivia has a box of chocolates with one layer partly gone. Gerrit receives three anonymous threats and Kim four unsigned telegrams. Three days before her death Tillie deposited $5,000 in cash in her bank. Tillie bought arsenic from the druggist. A fourth threat is addressed to Gerrit. The knife is found in Olivia's garden. Eddie disappears after burning papers. Dirk's I. O. U. for $5,000 is found among Hilda's things and he is held. Gerrit shows interest in Olivia's warning note. Gerrit is attacked by a large man with a knife and is wounded but refuses to have a doctor. There is no sign of battle where the attack occurred. Winnie is unfriendly when Dirk is released. There is a dark stain on Dirk's pants. Opening Olivia's warning, French finds a blank paper. Only Gerrit's blood is on the leaves. No knife is found. A reward is offered for Eddie Paradine, who is found and held. Corbin wants to search further for the will. French believes Hilda planted the money in Winnie's room. Gerrit's workshop burns, but the motor design is safe. Olivia wonders why Sybrand is afraid of Gerrit.

INSTALMENT XXXV.

MISSING

Sybrand was not gone long. He came back in a few minutes with Lt. French. They sat down on the wall beside North and Miss Warburton.

The township engine was doing its best to cope with the calamity. But it was painfully inadequate. French asked: "When did the fire start, Mr. Jennesma?"

"I don't know, Kimball pounded on my door. That's what wakened me. He said the smell of the smoke and the light of the flames had just wakened him."

"And when was this?"

Sybrand shook his head. What did it matter?

North always knew everything. "I heard Kimball knocking on Jennesma's door, lieutenant. I looked at my watch. It was 20 of 3. I smelled smoke, too, then, and got into some clothes. All three of us met in the hall about the same time."

"Wait. Let's get Kimball in on this."

In a few minutes, Kim came from the direction of the fire. He sat down on the wall and mopped his face with a handkerchief.

When had he wakened? He wasn't sure. Around 2:30. At any rate, he had taken one look out of the window and gone to knock on Mr. Sybrand Jennesma's door. Then he went back, put on a sweat shirt, slacks, and sneakers and went out with Sen. North and Mr. Jennesma.

"Was any one there when you arrived?" French asked.

"Not a soul," said Kim. "It was really going to town by that time, roaring away."

"What part of the building was burning then?"

"The wing."

"But it didn't take the rest long to catch. Mr. Jennesma went to rouse the two farm laborers so they could carry stuff out of the workshop. Our hands hurt too badly to be of any use. But by the time he got back with the men, the place was a furnace."

"Anything inflammable in it?"

"O, yes," Sybrand said, "there's a lean-to shed where we kept a gasoline drum for the factory engines and the farm tractors. We'd been intending to put up a separate concrete building for it, but the war postponed that."

The senator muttered, "How could any one sleep thru all that!"

French asked, "Is any one trying to?"

North explained about Gerrit. French glanced toward the big house 500 feet from the fire. His lips made a noiseless whistle.

"Can't see how he could miss this. You sure he's not around?"

Sybrand said, "No. I've looked everywhere I tried the handle of my brother's door before I went out. It was still locked and Kimball has been up there several times to make sure it isn't open. Gerrit is a sound sleeper and he keeps his windows closed."

French stood up with an air of decision.

"It's high time he was told about this."

"But in his weakened condition . . ." Sybrand babbled. Kim and the trooper followed, and North got to his feet.

"Let me know what happens," Miss Warburton said.

North came back to sit beside her again.

He took her hand and spread it out on his.

"Olivia," he began, in an all-too-familiar tone.

"Not now."

"Don't try to snatch your hand away. You're so infernally selfish. Can't I have that, at least?"

"Why won't you ever discuss it? Just discuss it?"

"But I have. I've said no."

"But . . ."

She said irritably: "You pick such appalling moments to bring up . . . things! Murder . . . mayhem . . . fires!"

"But that seems to be your life. What other choice have I?" He smiled, then said soberly, "Olivia, look at me."

She felt her eyes drawn to his against her will.

"No, please. Listen," she turned toward the house, aware that people were shouting. "Something's happened."

"I'll say it has!" North exulted.

She began to hurry toward the house. He followed.

They met Winnie first. "Gerrit! They can't find him!"

"What do you mean? Did they break into his room?"

"Yes. The door was locked, but there wasn't a key inside so Lt. French just put one of his in the lock and turned it. I'm in a hurry, please." She tried to get away.

"Just contain yourself for a minute, my dear Winnie. What did they find?"

"But I told you. Nothing. Nobody. Gerrit wasn't there."

"Had the bed been slept in?"

"Yes."

"Are they looking for him in the house?"

"Yes . . . but . . ." her eyes rolled significantly toward the roaring fire. "Please let me go now." She gave a final pull and ran off toward the fire.

People streamed by as if they were bits of paper borne on a gale of wind. Miss Warburton looked after them, immobilized by her mind. Could Gerrit be in that raging furnace? If not, where was he?

"Kim!" she cried, clutching at him as he ran past. "Wait."

"Can't. Got to stop Winnie. She'll get . . . too near . . . ." Kim flung back over his jogging shoulder.

"He's right, too," Sen. North broke his own awed silence. "I should have kept that girl here. Hasn't good sense." He drew in an audible breath. "Can that fellow be in that inferno? If so, he was done for, long ago."

They began to walk, slowly, toward the fire. There was a great circle of onlookers drawn from the surrounding country. Reinforcements of police roared into the grounds continually.

Other troopers and groups of men were off in various parts of the estate, searching and calling, in case what was in every one's mind was not true.

They were spread out thru the ravine, down to the little cottage, thru the long stretch of woodland that bordered the crest of the hill above the river. Others crashed thru the underbrush to the water's edge to hunt for footprints in the sandy beach.

Kim went thru the hedge with a couple of troopers to investigate the Paradine house.

REMINDER! EXTRA RED POINTS FOR MAY!

When you're checking up on this month's red points and figuring just how far you can make them go for meat and butter . . . don't forget those extra red points you can get from your meat dealer by saving and turning in used kitchen fats!

It's amazing how fast you can fill up the fat salvage can and get those extra points, if you save not only the easy amounts of fat, but also the scraps and tiny drops. Scrape all pans. Skim soups, stews, gravies. Save table scraps and meat trimmings; once a week melt them down and pour into your fat salvage can.

Your country needs those fats to help make battlefield and home-front essentials. Get busy today at this important war job!

PRODUCE AUTO FUEL FROM CORN COBS, OAT HULLS

Will Erect Test Plant at Peoria

BY GAIL COMPTON

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Peoria, Ill., May 31—Liquid motor fuel now can be made from corn cobs, oat hulls, peanut shells, and other waste farm materials as a result of a process developed at the department of agriculture's northern regional research laboratory here, it was disclosed today.

Laboratory experiments have proved so successful the department of agriculture next month will erect a two story building equipped to produce the fuel on a semi-commercial basis. The process was developed by Dr. J. W. Dunning and Dr. E. C. Lathrop of the laboratory staff.

"Each year the farms of the nation produce around 200 million tons of waste material ranging from corn cobs to cottonseed hulls and sugar cane bagasse," Dr. Dunning said. "Roughly half is plowed back into the soil but the other 100 million tons is available for conversion into various products."

Treat Cobs with Acid

"Under the process developed here we can produce between 90 and 95 gallons of fuel from a ton of corn cobs or cottonseed hulls," he said.

Corn cobs, to be made into fuel, first are ground. Then they are treated with an acid which releases the sugars in the farm residue. The sugars then are fermented and alcohol, butanol and acetone are obtained. These combined form the fuel which mainly is an alcohol base.

The new plant is expected to handle about 3½ tons of waste farm material a day. From this tonnage the process will recover approximately 2,000 pounds of dextrose, 1,600 pounds of xylose, another sugar, 1,000 pounds of lignin and 200 pounds of furfural. The lignin and furfural are by-products of the fuel making process and have industrial value.

Grew Out of Another Test

Dr. Dunning would not say what would be the final cost of producing a gallon of the fuel. Laboratory data made available, however, indicated the fuel could be produced for from 17 to 29 cents a gallon. One of the reasons for the erection of the laboratory is to determine what commercial costs would be in making the new fuel.

"The development of the new method grew out of an experiment to determine if it were possible to produce alcohol on a practical scale from waste farm materials. The government then asked us to see what could be done in producing a fuel under the federal synthetic fuels program and this work was initiated as a separate project," Dr. Dunning said.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By GAIL COMPTON

May 31, 1945

CORN planting has been delayed thruout the midwest by wet weather for the third successive year. The delay has proved helpful in some ways, altho it may cause slightly lower average yields per acre.

This season farmers have been fortunate, in one sense, in not being able to seed their corn too early because the soil has been damp and cold. Such conditions are more conducive to seed rot than to healthy germination. Usually farmers hope to plant around May 25. This is early enough to assure plenty of time for the grain to mature and is late enough not to attract the maximum number of corn borers and chinch bugs.

May 25 Is Best

Tests by the college of agriculture of the University of Illinois covering six corn planting dates showed that corn seeded May 25 gave the highest yield. Corn planted on that date yielded 116 bushels per acre, with the next highest yield coming from corn planted May 17.

Yields obtained from the different planting dates were: May 3, 103 bushels per acre; May 10, 108 bushels; May 17, 111 bushels; May 25, 116 bushels; June 2, 107 bushels, and June 10, 96 bushels. The last planted corn not only had the lowest yield but also lodged [fell down] much worse than the earlier plantings, the experiment showed.

The cool and wet weather which held back corn planting has had an unusual effect on the wheat fields at the Wheaton farm. The green grain stalks are unbelievably rank, and in many spots are almost hip-high.

Some Rust Appears

It has stooled out [sent out shoots] thickly and mats the ground in a solid tangle. When this grain ripens it is sure to lodge badly and prove a difficult task for the harvesting crew. The wheat has yellowed some because it has not had enough sunshine. The wet weather also has caused rust to appear early in some fields, but as yet there is no evidence of any at the farm.

The young Guernsey calves in the dairy barn have had their horn buds treated to prevent growth. Horns on cattle cause many injuries and often are responsible for cut and damaged hides. Some of the yearling stock was dehorned by a veterinarian.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

ONE of the commonest of the early season insect pests is the tiny flea beetle, which consumes the leaves of tomatoes, spinach, eggplant, potatoes, and members of the cabbage family. These insects are black and about the size of a pinhead. Plants attacked by these beetles are left with tiny perforations in the leaves, usually in the tender, small leaves near the bases of the stems. These insects are especially troublesome on newly transplanted tomatoes and eggplants.

Rotenone dust is the best insecticide for general use against leaf hoppers. Cryolite also can be used in the early stages of growth, but should not be used on plants which are nearing maturity. Potatoes which are protected from potato beetles with arsenate of lead and bordeaux mixtures usually are not attacked by flea beetles.

A single application of insecticide will not completely protect vegetables from flea beetles, since they are harbored on near-by weeds. Dusts or sprays must be applied every two weeks as long as the insects are present.

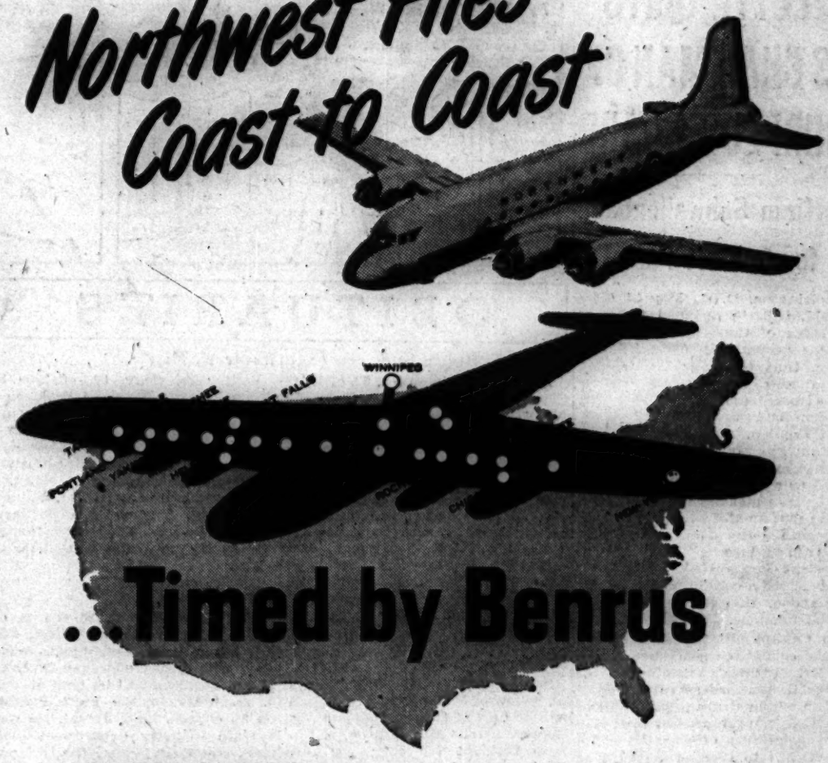

ARRAIGN STATION OWNER TODAY IN SHOOTING OF VET

Irvin Mader, 32, of 5830 Sangamon st., was booked by Englewood police yesterday on a charge of assault to kill in the shooting of Harold Roose, 21, of 9235 S. St. Louis av., at Mader's service station. He will be arraigned in Felony court today.

Roose, an inspector at Curtis Lighting, Inc., 6135 65th st., was taken to St. Bernard's hospital after he was found lying on the sidewalk in front of 759 W. 69th st.

Roose, an ex-service man, was shot in the left leg. He told police he was wounded in the same leg while in the army overseas.

Don't Drive a Booby Trap

Watch Out!

When a G.I. gets tired he's really tired and any kind of a place to sit down looks mighty good. That's why the enemy often makes Booby Traps out of chairs by wiring them to explosives. And it's also why our soldiers are taught how to detect Booby Traps and disarm them in advance!

Watch Out!

Neglected, your battery can become a Booby Trap and let you down when you need it most. That's why Shell Dealers who offer Shellubrication check the water level, why they inspect and clean all cables and connections . . . see to it that your battery is ready to give you dependable service!

PLAY SAFE . . . Get a Safety Shellubrication Today

Wartime Stop-and-Go driving becomes even harder on your car as it gets older!

Unseen parts—your steering assembly, braking system, battery, gears and many others—must be cared for constantly for safety's sake! Shellubrication provides expert car care—a 35-point inspection and maintenance system developed by Shell engineers and performed by specially trained Shell Dealers.

Far from being a mere "grease job," Shellubrication requires the use of nine different types of lubricating equipment—six different testing devices—fourteen kinds of maintenance tools, eighteen different, specialized Shell lubricants!

In giving your car a Shellubrication job, your Shell Dealer inspects danger spots—checks 35 "break-up" points as he works! And finally he gives you a record of service and a written guarantee covering both workmanship and materials! Don't drive a Booby Trap!

GILLETTE QUITS AS CHAIRMAN OF SURPLUS BOARD

Confirm Schwellenbach for Cabinet Post

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—Guy M. Gillette resigned today as chairman of the surplus property board, thus posing a new top level personnel problem for President Truman.

Guy Gillette

Meanwhile Mr. Truman moved ahead as a home front peace maker. He sent an affectionate letter to former Vice President Garner and received a cordial note from Alf M. Landon, 1936 Republican Presidential nominee.

On Capitol hill the senate agriculture committee postponed action on Mr. Truman's nomination of Claude R. Wickard as rural electrification administrator, as a result of a number of protests, but approved the appointment of Rep. Anderson [D., N. M.] to succeed Wickard as agricultural secretary.

Confirms Schwellenbach

The senate confirmed without dissent the nomination of Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Washington state as labor secretary.

Gillette, long known to be dissatisfied with his surplus property post, did not wait for the White House to announce his resignation.

Leaving a brief conference with the President, Gillette, former Democratic senator from Iowa, disclosed to reporters that he was quitting, but said the President did not act on his resignation immediately.

He took the job Jan. 3, when his senate term ended, he said, against his will and with the understanding that the assignment would be only temporary.

"Not Enough Authority"

Friends in the senate said one of Gillette's objections to the job was that he felt he did not have sufficient authority over billions of dollars of accumulating surplus war goods.

The board has responsibility for policy, but not the control over disposal that Gillette has wanted.

White House press Secretary Charles G. Ross told his morning news conference about the letter to Garner, Vice President for two terms under the late President Roosevelt.

Landon to See Truman

Ross did not say whether the President had offered Garner a government post. "The President wrote Garner a friendly letter some time ago and told him to come around and see him," Ross said. "What he wanted to see him about I do not know."

This was viewed here as part of Mr. Truman's efforts to heal wounds within the Democratic party and to bring Republicans into consultation on issues inviting nonpartisan action.

Ross' announcement that Landon had accepted an invitation to consult with the President, fits into the latter pattern.

Landon, Ross said, wrote a cordial reply in which he accepted the invitation. The date of their conference will be one convenient to the two of them.

Gov. Dewey of New York, 1944 G. O. P. standard bearer, has not yet accepted a similar invitation, Ross said in reply to a question.

MOTHER OF BOY KILLED IN BLAST OF NAPHTHA DIES

Mrs. Eleanor Frolik, 36, of 2602 McVicker av., died yesterday in Belmont hospital, unaware that her son, Vance, 5, had died the day before. Both were victims of an explosion of naphtha in the basement of their bungalow home Wednesday. The husband and father, James Frolik, 42, also is a patient in the hospital, suffering from face and hand burns.

Police said the Froliks were in the basement cleaning a suit with naphtha when the blast occurred. Mrs. Frolik, her clothing aflame, ran out first and a neighbor, Robert Troupe, 6040 Wrightwood av., beat out the flames. Frolik rescued his son.

TRAFFIC DEATHS MOUNT IN CITY; '45 TOLL NOW 179

Speeding cars and pedestrian jaywalkers were blamed yesterday for a mounting rate of traffic fatalities in Chicago. Statistics showing the death rate is going up were announced by Leslie J. Sorenson, city traffic engineer.

"When the severity rate of accidents increases, it always indicates speeding," Sorenson said. "Fewer persons are being hit, but more are being killed because cars are being driven too fast."

In Chicago traffic accidents, 179 persons were killed between Jan. 1 and May 28, compared with 169 fatalities during the same 1944 period, Sorenson said. Fatalities during the first four weeks of May were 48, compared with 28 in the same period last year.

Traffic accidents have decreased, with 4,758 reported by police this year compared with 4,956 last year, and fewer persons were injured, 5,854, compared with 6,131 last year.

A. E. DICKINSON DEAD; ESTATE CHARGES MADE

Probate Judge Martin C. Decker at Waukegan yesterday named co-administrators for the estate of Augustus E. Dickinson, 76, wealthy retired president of the Indiana Limestone company, who died Wednesday in Presbyterian hospital.

Attorneys Gerald C. Snyder and James G. Culbertson charged that "numerous assets," including silverware, furniture and bric-a-brac, were removed by unidentified persons from Dickinson's Green Acres farm estate, near Barrington. The petition was filed on behalf of Mrs. Edwina Hyland of Flossmoor, an adopted daughter. Mrs. Hyland and a bank were named as co-administrators.

Dickinson lived with another adopted daughter, Betty Forbes Dickinson, daughter of Maude Forbes Carr, 56, a Cleveland, O., writer who divorced Dickinson in 1942 after he charged she offered a cook $10,000 to put ground glass into his food. Miss Dickinson said she knew nothing about removal of any assets.

WAR BOND SALES HIT $118,961,000, 36% OF QUOTA

Sales of war bonds to individuals in Cook county yesterday rose to $118,961,000—36.3 per cent of the individual quota of $327,474,000, Lawrence F. Stern, local chairman in the drive, announced.

In his first report on E bond sales in the "mighty 7th" loan, Stern also announced that sales in this category were $68,100,000, or 39.8 per cent of the E bond quota of $171,146,000 in the city and county.

Renslow P. Sherer, state chairman, said sales in Illinois reached $184,400,000, or 37.6 of the state quota of $490,000,000.

Two army shows of battle equipment are scheduled in connection with the drive—the "On to Tokyo" exhibition consisting of 40 to 50 major sections, including a Pershing tank, which begins today; and the Air Power show on the fourth floor of Marshall Field & Co., to run for four weeks beginning June 5.

PROMOTION WON BY TWO VETERAN FIRE OFFICIALS

Promotions of Battalion Chief Daniel Cullinan to division marshal and Capt. Thomas J. Mulcahy to battalion chief, effective today, were announced last night by Fire Commissioner Corrigan.

Cullinan, who is 59 and lives at 6345 University av., has been acting as marshal of the 2d division the last two months. He entered the department in 1909 and was awarded the Lambert Tree medal for life saving in 1916. He served as an ensign in the navy in World War I.

Mulcahy, who is 50 and lives at 4931 Adams st., became a fireman in 1918. He has been acting as chief of the 8th battalion and will remain there in his new rank.

C. M. WASSON, 77, PIONEER MINING DEVELOPER, DIES

Charles M. Wasson, 77, of Harrisburg, Saline county, one of the pioneer coal operators in the state, died early yesterday in Passavant hospital, where he had been a patient for three weeks. He developed the Wasson coal mine in Saline county in 1906 and supervised its operation until recently.

Born in Polk county, Mr. Wasson became associated with several coal mining projects in Indiana before developing the mine near Harrisburg. He was vice president and director of the Wasson-Pocahontas Coal company of Chicago; vice president of the First National bank at Harrisburg, and a director of the Blackford Window Glass company, Vincennes, Ind. He was interested in the activities of the Southern Baptist convention, and sponsored several projects in connection with the church. He is survived by a son, Loran A., of Harrisburg, and three granddaughters. Services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday in the First Baptist church, Harrisburg.

Couples Wed Half Century Will Be Feted

BY JUDITH CASS

JUNE brides and bridegrooms of 50-odd years ago will be feted at anniversary parties over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson, who were married June 3, 1891, will have a family luncheon party in their Lake Forest home Sunday to celebrate their 54th wedding anniversary.

The Sanger P. Robinsons, the junior Theodore Robinsons, and the Ronald P. Boardmans [Frances Robinson] and their children will be present to wish their parents and grandparents well. The party is being kept rather small as Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are planning a slightly larger gathering the following Thursday night to celebrate his 83d birthday. That party will be a buffet supper to which some of the Robinsons' closest friends have been invited.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Rufus Abbott of Chicago and Delavan Lake, Wis., will give a small dinner at home in Delavan Lake tonight to celebrate their 53d wedding anniversary. They recently returned from their winter home in Melbourne, Fla., bringing with them as house guests Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Beaujean, who will be in the small group celebrating the occasion tonight. The Abbotts' daughter, Mrs. Louis E. Tilden, and Mr. Tilden also will be present, but their son, Capt. Abbott Jr., will miss the gathering as he is stationed at Alameda, Cal. Mr. Abbott and the former Mabel R. Harland were married in Chicago June 1, 1892.

Edward Morris and the former Helen Conover, who were married 29 years ago yesterday, will have a delayed wedding anniversary party tonight in the Mayfair room of the Blackstone, where Carl Brisson is opening. Some of the others who have reservations to welcome back the Danish entertainer are the Bert L. Atwaters, the Richard D. Nugents, the William Allisons, Ove Vett, Mrs. George Rasmussen, Gen. A. F. Lorenzen, and the Frank Hiters.

News of Births

Lt. and Mrs. DeWitt W. Buchanan Jr. [Katherine Hamilton] became the parents of a daughter, Katherine Reed, their first child, on Memorial day in Columbia hospital, Milwaukee. While the baby's father is on duty with the navy in the Pacific Mrs. Buchanan has been staying with her parents, the Kenneth C. Hamiltons, in Milwaukee. Lt. Buchanan's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan of Lake Forest. Little Katherine, a fifth generation Chicagoan, is a great-great granddaughter of Bacon Wheeler, early Chicagoan. Her paternal great-grandparents were Mr. and Mrs. Milford DeWitt Buchanan.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Doring [Anne Gordon Ross] became the parents of their first child, a daughter, May 23, in the Geneva Community hospital. The baby has been named Anne Gordon after her mother and great-grandmother, Mrs. James A. Blaisdell of La Jolla, Cal. Mrs. Doring and the baby are living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Nelson Ross of Geneva, while Mr. Doring is serving with the marines.

Here and There

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fayerweather Babcock of Evanston and Mr. and Mrs. J. Eugene Davis of Chicago are in Annapolis, Md., for the graduation of their sons, Richard Babcock Jr. and Robert Allan Davis, from the United States Naval academy. Miss Corinne Veale of Glenayre accompanied the Babcocks east to be their son's guest at the

Mrs. Ricardo Meana

Mrs. Ricardo Meana's marriage to Army Aviation Cadet Meana took place May 17. She is the former Kaye Piper, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Henderson Piper of Beverly Hills, and is stationed in Batle Creek, Mich., with the WAC. Cadet Meana, who is stationed in Texas, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernardo Meana of Yonkers, N. Y., formerly of Chicago.

Town Cottons Out and Ready for Inspection

BY REA SEEGER

All the smartest of town cottons have been unpacked, and are on display for those early shoppers who plan to assemble summer cotton wardrobes. Cotton dresses and suits, easily kept spic and span, assure cool, smooth comfort during the stickiest heat waves. They are of cotton that is color fast, no matter how frequent the necessary trips thru soap and water.

These town cottons are definitely urban and sophisticated with a worldly flair equal to anything in slinky, dull crepe or satin. The dresses are seamed and detailed with all the art of expert designers. Details such as bias cut bodices, that make plaids, stripes, and checks, gored skirts, and cleverly designed pockets decorative, give that sleek dress-costume appearance seldom seen in ordinary cotton showings. Tailored coat dresses, two piece suits, and the two piecers that look like a suit and are worn as a dress are plentifully featured.

Colors and prints and patterns are smooth and smart. From the precise checks of white with red, blue, brown, or green, to the very swank dull black cotton dresses they are outstanding fashions for warm weather. Any one of the dresses designed like afternoon wear of costly, dull silk crepe is ideal for a summer afternoon party when worn with gay flowered hat and accessories. See the copper brown or the deep cypress green shade for serious consideration as a basic dress with which to match bright or chalk white accessories. These have the soft bow in front, flat shirrings at each side of the skirt, and high fashion brief sleeves. There's all this fashion allure, plus the attraction that each and every piece will tub all thru the summer.

Women of Moose

Chicago chapter 43 of the Women of the Moose will have an open program meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the hall at 1016 N. Dearborn st.

Anne Stuart's Marriage in Europe Told

Such brief information as could be sent by cable is all the news that the R. Douglas Stuarts have had of the marriage May 26 somewhere in Europe of their daughter, Anne, to Lt. Col. Clifton Brooks Batchelder of the army. More detailed accounts of the wedding will arrive by mail from the bride and her brother, Maj. Robert D. Stuart Jr., and her brother-in-law, Maj. Augustin S. Hart Jr., who were present at the ceremony.

The former Miss Stuart has been overseas for more than a year following our armies with a Red Cross clubmobile from the Normandy beachhead across the continent. She attended Dobbs Ferry and traveled in Europe with Miss Stout's school.

Col. Batchelder, whose home was in Vermont before he entered the army four years ago, is with an armored division of the 9th army. He and his bride had a short wedding trip to Paris before reporting back to their respective posts. Maj. Stuart, who probably gave his sister in marriage, is with SHAEF. Maj. Hart is attached to the 82d airborne division.

The Stuart family will leave this week-end for Farmington, Conn., where Miss Harriet Stuart will be graduated next week from Miss Porter's school. Mrs. Stuart will go east tomorrow and Mr. Stuart, Mrs. Hart, and the junior Mrs. Stuart will follow on Monday.

Miss Ethel Marie Eustice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Eustice of Hinsdale, and Lt. Ralph Collins Walter Jr. of the army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter of Western Springs, will be married at 8 o'clock tonight in the Union church of Hinsdale. A reception will follow in the Hinsdale Golf club.

Mrs. John H. Eustice will be her sister-in-law's matron of honor. Their cousin, Miss Dorothy Elizabeth Rose of Penn Wynne, Pa.; Miss Dorothy Gilday of Bellmore, N. Y.; Mrs. William McElveen of Evanston, and Miss Barbara Bates of Hinsdale will be the bridesmaids. Nancy Eustice will be her aunt's flower girl. Sheldon Fox will serve as best man for his cousin, and among the ushers will be John Eustice.

Lt. Walter has been in service for four and one-half years and was wounded while serving with Gen. Patton in France. He recently returned from Baxter General hospital in Spokane, Wash. He will take his bride to his new post following a wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Shorey of Oak Park will go east next week to attend the marriage June 9 in Waban, Mass., of their son, Pvt. William Douglas Shorey of the army, and Miss Sally Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren King Russell of Waban. Miss Russell was graduated last week from Wellesley college along with her fiance's sister, Miss Elizabeth Shorey. Pvt. Shorey, an army medical student, will be graduated in June from the Harvard medical school. He also attended Yale university before entering service. He and his bride will be at home in Boston, where he will intern in Massachusetts General hospital.

A Cottage Cheese Shortcake Topped with Fruit

(Other recipes, menus, and food suggestions and news will be found on page 23)

Served plain, this fruit shortcake is a "finger food," but it becomes more gala if whipped cream is added. Just a baking powder biscuit dough dressed up with cottage cheese, it is topped with stewed apricots and red cherries. Any fresh or canned fruit, jam, or jelly may be used. Here's how to make it:

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo]

Sift together 2 cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, and 3 tablespoons sugar. Cut in ⅓ cup shortening and ⅓ cup cottage cheese. Add ⅔ cup milk, stirring quickly to form a soft dough. Drop by spoonfuls in greased, 8 inch cake pan, forming seven portions. Press down center of each. Bake in very hot oven [450 degrees] for about 15 minutes, until browned. When baking is half completed, press down centers again. To serve, fill with stewed apricots and garnish with red cherries. Serves seven.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Strictly Not for the Boss

A clipping was put on my desk the other day which I'd like to share with other white collar girls, but how, O, how, can we prevent the boss from seeing it? It gave the following rules, vintage of the 1880s, which were posted in an Amboy, Ill., store:

"1. Store must be open from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. the year 'round.

"2. Store must be swept; counters, shelves and showcases dusted; lamps trimmed and filled and chimneys cleaned; pens made; doors and windows opened; a pail of water and a bucket of coal brought in before breakfast. [If there is time to do so, attend to customers who call.]

"3. The store must not be opened on the Sabbath unless necessary, and then only for a few minutes.

"4. The employe who is in the habit of smoking Spanish cigars, being shaved at the barber's, going to dances, and other places of amusement, will assuredly give his employer reason to be suspicious of his integrity and honesty.

"5. Each employe must pay not less than $5 per year to the church and must attend Sunday school regularly.

"6. Men employes are given one evening a week for courting, two if they go to prayer meeting.

"7. After 14 hours in the store, the leisure hours should be spent for the most part in reading."

AL SPONG

Word Study

Another small source of amusement is found in the following statement, found in Dr. Samuel Johnson's dictionary. The letter "H seldom, perhaps never, begins any but the first syllable" of a word.

The doctor's attention was called to such words as appre-hension and compre-hensive, and in his third edition [about 19 years after the first edition] he so far relented as to admit: "It sometimes begins the middle or final syllables in words compounded, as block-head, or derived from the Latin, as comprehended."

How many good Anglo-Saxon words can the W. C. Gs find in which "H" begins some syllable other than the first? [I should think par is about 30 words.]

THE REAL WORD EXPERT

That Budget Again

"The old picture of a carefree bachelor girl who gaily pursued a career, earning lots of money and spending as she pleased, never was a true likeness of the woman who goes out to work for a living. . . . For a more serene life with less worries about making ends meet, she must do some thoughtful planning. There is no exact pattern she can follow. . . . Her plan must be the result of a weighing of relative values, balancing present needs against the future, more convenient living quarters against more expensive clothing, greater comforts for herself against needs of others."—From "The Budgeteer."

ON THE AISLE

By Claudia Cassidy

It's Queens Laurette and Lillie and Kings Fay and Raitt as Critics Vote in Variety Poll

Queen Laurette from now on, please. Miss Taylor just won the unanimous acclaim of New York's voting critics in Variety's annual poll to choose the best actress of the season. Chicago, of course, stuffed the ballot box for her as a night after Christmas present, when she opened here in "The Glass Menagerie." She had no runner-up for Broadway honors, either, but Mady Christians won second place for her work in "I Remember Mama," and, considering the reported caliber of that wise and tender performance, only an Irish witch like Miss Taylor could have topped it.

Frank Fay won 10 out of a possible 16 jewels in the kingly crown for "Harvey," the Pulitzer prize rabbit, while three votes each went to Leo G. Carroll of "The Late George Apley" [who won second place] and to Fredric March of "A Bell for Adano." Beatrice Lillie won the cap and bells as the best actress in a musical, "Seven Lively Arts," and John Raitt, recently of our "Oklahoma!" topped the singing gentlemen with "Carousel"—which reminds me that John [Columbus] Van Druten can take a bow. Remember how he went out on a limb about Raitt during the New Haven tryout?

Mr. Van Druten himself won the director's award for "I Remember Mama," and Joan Tetzel of that same show wears the laurels as the most promising young actress. Richard Basehart and John Lund, both of "The Hasty Heart," tied for honors as the most promising actor, and another tie was registered in the department of scene design. George Jenkins shared votes for "Dark of the Moon" with Jo Mielziner, who had "Carousel" and "The Glass Menagerie."

Josephine Hull of "Harvey" and Frederick O'Neal of "Anna Lucasta" won the supporting players' awards, while Agnes de Mille caught choreographic honors for "Bloomer Girl" and "Carousel," and Oscar Hammerstein II. and Richard Rogers won the unanimous vote as the best of song show teams, thanks to clinching "Oklahoma!" with "Carousel." No vote was taken on the best play, of course, as the critics long since picked "The Glass Menagerie."

Notes

Having announced Mary Healy as Augusta Dabney's July successor in our "Dear Ruth," the management now says 'taint so. Could be that Miss Healy can't leave "Common Ground," which refused to be closed by bad notices. . . . The San Carlo opera, which can't play Chicago for lack of a theater, played to 52,000 people in 16 performances at New York's City center. The 34th tour ends next week after 250 performances in eight months. . . . The sixth annual Negro music festival to be held in Chicago, St. Louis, and Detroit late in July will be a memorial to President Roosevelt. . . . When "Life with Father" broke "Abie's Irish Rose's" long run record in New York the other night, Anne Nichols sent Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse an oversize cup engraved "Father" and this gracious verse:

Congratulations, both of you,
And my wish is as I close
That "Mother," too, will blossom
Like your "Father" and my "Rose."

Engagement News

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Underwood Clark of Evanston have announced the engagement of their daughter, Madeleine, to Lt. Edward Blanchard Winslow of the coast guard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Winslow of Albany, N. Y. The wedding will take place in New York on Lt. Winslow's next leave. His fiance, who attended Northwestern university, is pursuing a career there as a radio writer. She is a member of the Evanston Junior league and of the Red Cross Gray Ladies corps.

Lt. Winslow attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology and was graduated from the United States Coast Guard academy at New London, Conn. He is on duty in the Atlantic. Miss Clark's sister, Mrs. Bentley G. McCloud Jr., and Lt. McCloud of the navy are living in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. John Blasius Jr. of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Doris, to Barret Scott Moxley, son of G. Barret Moxley of Indianapolis, Ind. Miss Blasius attended Ohio university and Colorado college, from which her fiance will be graduated in the fall. The wedding will take place June 23 in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Martha Roberts, daughter of Mrs. John Morgan Roberts of La Grange and the late Mr. Roberts, to Lt. Victor Jerome Hultquist Jr. of the army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hultquist of Alcoa, Tenn. Miss Roberts was graduated from Lindenwood college. Her fiance, a graduate of the University of Tennessee, has returned from 18 months of luty in Wales and France. He is stationed in Alexandria, La., as assistant post engineer.

Many women who strive for recognition in the fashion scene this summer will wear snowy white eyelet cotton dresses. Whether a one or two piece model, these eyelet embroidered dresses are available in an exceptional style range.

Outstanding in its simplicity is the two piece dress at the left. The short sleeved jacket has a high vee neckline with rounded, turn-over collar and lapels, two false chest pockets, and decorative plastic buttons marking the front closing. Two side bow ties indicate the waistline. The skirt is slim and gored all around.

The unusual pattern of the eyelet embroidery and the clever lines of the one piecer in the center are the reasons for its success. The simple bodice, with its short sleeves and low neckline, has a large scallop and flat plastic button at the base of the neckline as its only decorative detail. An inset belt ties in the front. Two false pockets on the skirt are trimmed with a large button. It is available in sizes 12 to 20.

The two piece model at the right is a favorite with the younger set for wear in town or country. The long torso jacket, slightly fitted, is edged around the short sleeves, high neckline, pockets, and front closing with tiny silk braid loops. It is fastened with minute plastic buttons. The gored skirt completes the picture. It is available in sizes 10 to 18.

Two Families Badly in Need of Furnishings

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[Sally Joy Brown department activities are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Our assistance has been requested by Mrs. A., mother of three young sons, living south of the loop. She is unable to work and depends on a social agency for support. Her husband died several years ago. Since that time she has been unable to purchase anything for her five room home, which is shabbily furnished with dilapidated and broken articles. The children are ashamed of its appearance and seldom wish to stay home. There are but two broken chairs and a stool for four persons. At present they are without a stove. A circulating heater is the only type that can be used because of the peculiar construction of the chimney. Furniture of all kinds will be appreciated, but the most emergent needs are a heater, gas range, table and chairs, a rug, and a chest of drawers.

Another request for furniture comes from Mrs. M., who lives in a housing project on the near north side. She writes as follows:

"Dear Miss Brown: Some time ago you helped me procure baby articles for my twins, one of whom has since died. Because of impaired health and my other children I am unable to work. I am on relief and can not afford furnishings which would make a more comfortable home for us. It has been necessary to move from 4 to 6 rooms to accommodate my large family. Having lacked sufficient furniture for our former quarters we are at a loss to supply necessary additional pieces for the new flat, such as two single beds, a dresser, curtains for long windows, floor lamps, and if at all possible, a sewing machine, for it is extremely difficult to sew for a family by hand. I am hopefully appealing to you again for aid."

Help Your Children To Develop Strong Bones, Sound Teeth

Doctors report that many a child with ugly bowed legs or knock-knees might have grown up straight and shapely on a diet adequate in the bone-building minerals and Vitamin D.

Lack of calcium, for instance, in the earliest years may do irreparable damage—but in any case, calcium is so vital a factor that no child brought up on a consistently deficient calcium intake, can have much chance for strong bones and sound teeth.

That's one reason doctors talk so much about milk for growing children.

Milk is our best food source of calcium. Do your children get enough milk...at least a quart every day? Many children just don't like to take that much every day! That's why Cocomalt in milk is so helpful.

Cocomalt* is so rich in calcium, it makes 3 glasses of milk equal to a whole quart in calcium value! (Also this supplies the day's full minimum requirements for iron, phosphorus, Vitamin B, and D.) And Cocomalt's delicious chocolaty flavor makes children love their milk.

Start your children on Cocomalt today. Save this as a reminder.

June 1, 1945

BY MARY MEADE

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

June is "busting out all over," says a current tune, and in Wisconsin this means cherry season in full bloom. That in turn means cherries on the menu for the first time this year. It's true that sour cherries do take precious sugar, but since the season is comparatively short most housewives can spare some sugar for preparing them.

As a glamorous start for a party dinner, serve cherry-almond cocktail. Combine 2 cups pitted sour cherries and ½ cup blanched almonds and pour over them a mixture of 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ cup cherry juice, and ½ cup confectioners' sugar. Chill and serve in sherbet glasses, garnished with sprigs of mint.

For open-faced tea sandwiches, combine chopped cherries, cherry juice, and cream cheese to make a spread. Cherries are used in chilled beverages, too, for warm June days. Mix together two cups cherry juice, sweetened to taste, and four cups ginger ale. Vary this by adding two cups orange juice. Another appetizing combination, blue-red in color, is one cup grape juice with two cups cherry juice, sweetened to taste.

Just a few jars of cherry-pineapple jam also are worth the sugar. Measure 4 cups cherries, pitted, and put thru a food chopper. Add 1 cup drained, crushed pineapple, fresh or canned, and 3½ cups sugar. Cook for half an hour or until thick and clear, stirring frequently to prevent sticking. Pour into clean, hot jars and seal.

If the family preference is for hot breads rather than desserts, fresh cherries make delicious muffins or quick breads.

Cherry Muffins
[About 15]

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 cup milk
¾ cup chopped cherries
¼ cup shortening, melted

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add slightly beaten egg to milk, then add cherries. Stir liquid into flour quickly, then add melted shortening. Stir just enough to mix ingredients. Bake in well greased muffin tins, in hot oven, 400 degrees, 20 to 30 minutes.

Old fashioned cherry pie never loses its popularity, and this variation also should find favor with every one.

Deep Dish Cherry Pie
[Serves six]

1 quart tart cherries, pitted
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons margarine
Pastry for one crust

Combine sugar, salt, and cornstarch, blend well, and add to cherries. Let mixture stand while mixing pastry. Rub the bottom of a deep pie pan with margarine and put in cherry mixture. Dot with margarine. Roll out pastry to cover top of dish, slashing it to allow steam to escape. Pinch pastry well around the edges of the pie dish. Bake in a hot oven, 450 degrees, for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 375 degrees and continue baking 30 minutes longer.

Vegetables—Radishes.

Moderately Priced

Fish—Cod fillets, haddock fillets, sea perch, mackerel, porgies, shad, small shrimp, white bass.
Fruit—Grapefruit, rhubarb, lemons.
Vegetables—Asparagus, green beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, dry onions, greens, peas, peppers, spinach, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, white potatoes.

High Priced

Fish—Lake trout, whitefish, large shrimps, clams, lobster.
Fruit—Apples, avocados, blueberries, oranges, peaches, strawberries, cherries, pineapple, grapes, pears.

TURN IN WASTE FATS FOR POINTS AND PENNIES

Use Honey in Glaze for Cooked Vegetables

Use honey in place of sugar the next time you prepare a glaze for cooked vegetables. Melt four tablespoons margarine, add one-fourth cup honey, blend well, and heat the vegetables in this mixture until browned and nicely glazed.

Drippings for Flavor

Save drippings from beef, lamb, pork, and veal and add to gravies and sauces for flavor. They need not be strained, since there is additional flavor in the little browned particles.

The SPREAD that betters your BREAD

PRIZED old linens often possess sentimental value in addition to their lovely appearance. Such linens, as well as those hard-to-replace everyday linens, deserve the utmost care . . . especially in laundering. They deserve Clorox extra-gentle bleaching . . . for Clorox lessens rubbing, thus conserving fabrics. Clorox is ultra-refined . . . it is free from caustic, an exclusive, patented quality-feature. Let Clorox help preserve the beauty and life of your linens.

Clorox in routine cleansing of kitchen and bathroom "danger zones" provides greater home health protection . . . for Clorox has intensified disinfecting action. Ask for Clorox. Simply follow directions on the label.

Clorox in laundering makes white cottons and linens snowy-white (brightens fast colors), removes stains, scorch and mildew. It also deodorizes and disinfects.

Flame-Roasted
to seal in true coffee flavor

'Way back when the "talking machine" was big news, flame-roasted Manor House Coffee was famous for its richer, more satisfying flavor. It still is. And here's why: It's still roasted over live open flames. This flame-roasting actually seals in all the natural flavor oils that are baked out by high-speed, dry-heat roasters so widely used today. Change to McLaughlin's Manor House today and enjoy the delicious, true flavor that has delighted coffee-lovers since 1852.

Some Parents Too Detached with Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Are you cool and detached and often critical about your children, their ways and appearance? Or do you know parents who are?

For a child to have lunch during school vacation downtown at a tearoom with grandma should be a happy, festive occasion. But the little girl seated at the table near mine didn't look as if that was the case with her. Grandma, a young grandma, was silent and businesslike as the child struggled valiantly with errant cherries, pieces of pineapple, and large, frilly leaves of lettuce in her salad.

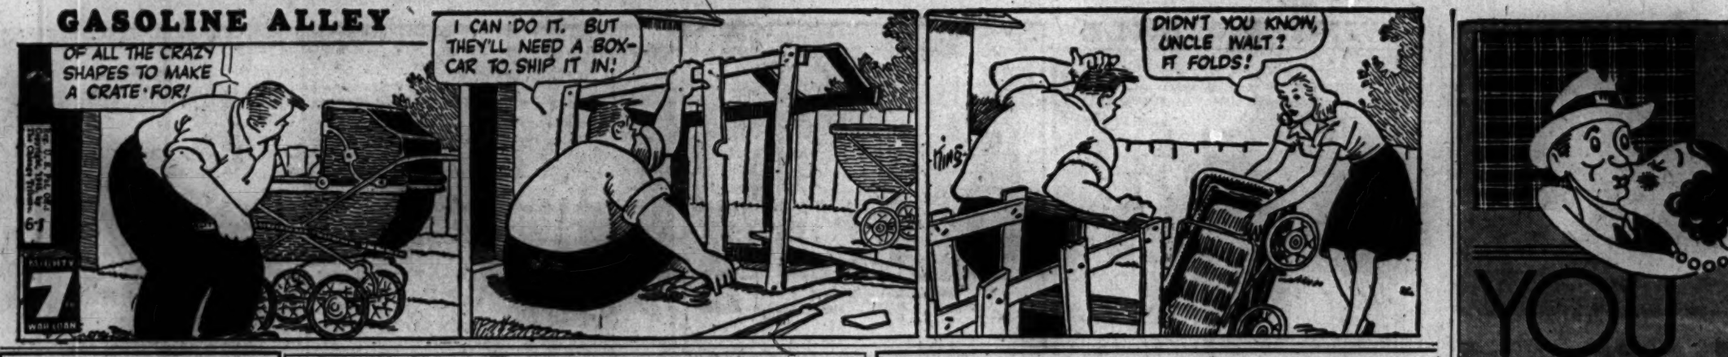

Presently a crisp looking, younger woman arrived, unsmilingly greeted her mother, and perfunctorily kissed the little girl, in whose face not even a gleam of welcome shone. She ordered her lunch, and from that point on the temperature at that one table was lower than in the air conditioned restaurant as a whole.

No cozy "Mother, we saw this!" and "O, mommie, we did that," no warm looks or soft smiles were exchanged. The young mother's every glance was critical and her every remark aimed at table manners, at lips being closed during chewing over the big, permanent front teeth arriving on the scene, or at drooping shoulders that should be erect. Just what sort of mother she was I don't know, but she certainly had developed the cool attitude and the I-know-you-haven't-washed-your-hands-and-face look to the 'nth degree.

What an uninteresting business such treatment of a child makes of this job of being a mother! And what an uninteresting child usually results!

How can any child's mind, soul, and body flower within the bounds of such a relationship? It can't. Sometimes a child with that sort of parents is blessed with an understanding aunt or grandmother, who lets the tendrils of feeling and imagination reach out in her direction. But this is not usually the case. Instead, the young boy or girl lives along under constant criticism, or perhaps is just coolly and efficiently raised, with no deep emotional security or spiritual satisfactions in his home life while young.

I've seen this happen often. And once, once in a very great while, miraculous as it may seem, I've seen such parents later come alive and "aware," and their family life blossoms.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	2 diamonds
Pass	Pass	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of hearts.

Many years ago an eminent authority broadcast to the bridge world the doctrine that contracts below game should not be doubled unless the person about to wield the ax held two trump tricks. This creed found numerous adherents, with the result that countless thousands of opportunities to fatten up on the false steps taken by the opposition have been lost.

It seems to me that a common sense business attitude should be adopted toward the business double, instead of some arbitrary measure suggested by this person or that. The simple expedient of adding your expected tricks to those that your partner will probably take, should simplify your doubling problems. This thought, however, should constantly be borne in mind: Where your double is risky [that is, game will be scored if the contract is fulfilled, which would not be the case except for the double] you ought to allow yourself a little leeway to provide for unexpected distribution or a possible error by your side.

Today's hand provides a splendid illustration. North opened with one club and South naturally responded with one spade. West, with complete disregard for vulnerability, or for his future financial security, overcalled with two diamonds. North's pass at this point was sound strategy. It would be poor tactics to make a free rebid at this time even tho he held a six card suit, since the opening was based on a mere two and one-half tricks. East, of course, passed and the auction was back to South, who had a very interesting decision to make. He calculated that in the actual play his hand would probably develop about four tricks which added to the three that the opening bidder is normally expected to produce would reach a total of seven. This spells down two for a reward of 500 points. Furthermore, if something should go wrong with the calculation, no disaster would result from the fulfilment of the contract because it would not give game to the opponents. He therefore doubled.

Declarer was able to take four diamond tricks and a heart. Down three; 800 points less 100 honors. What about the two trump trick requirement?

Thru the Looking Glass

Hot weather is no fun for the woman with oily skin. The oil flow steps up unmercifully when the temperature soars and she always is conscious of the fact that her makeup is running, her nose is shiny, and she looks much too wilted.

A summer time find for her is the kind of liquid cleanser that isn't greasy, and we know just the one for oily skin that picks up grime. It's a thin, faintly amber-colored lotion with just the suggestion of a fragrance so clean it's almost medicinal.

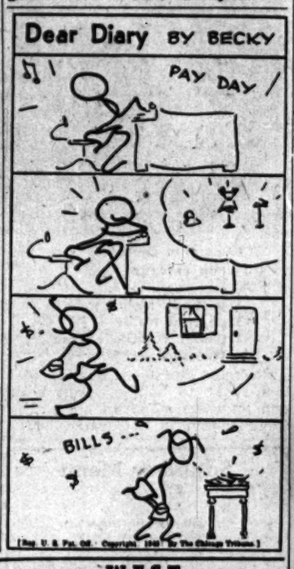

This can be used on cotton pressed out of water three or four times a day. Each time it gives the skin a pleasant little bit of a tingle because it's something of a stimulant. Oily skins well on their way to becoming coarse have a tendency to be dull, too; in a small way the use of a cleanser like this helps to brighten them.

This stuff, we've noticed, picks up every bit of oil, perspiration, grime, and collapsed makeup. The skin is just about immaculate the minute it's wiped off with the cotton pad and it feels extraordinarily fresh. There is no messing around with creams and tissues, so this is particularly advantageous for the working girl, who doesn't have much time during the day but is expected to look efficient and unwilted at every moment.

There aren't many preparations as helpful as this one for the oily skinned woman; its use is armor against the warm, wilted look that destroys poise. ELEANOR NANGLE

More Horror on Screen, and It's Not Bad

"THE BODY SNATCHER"

Produced by RKO Radio, directed by Robert Wise, featuring Boris Karloff, Bela Lugosi, Henry Daniell, Edith Atwater, Russell Wade, Rita Corday, Sharyn Moffett, and Donna Lee. Presented at the Grand.

"THE BRIGHTON STRANGLER"

Produced by RKO Radio, directed by Max Nosseck, featuring John Loder, June Duprez, Michael St. Angel, Miles Mander, Rose Hobart, Gilbert Emery, Rex Evans, Matthew Boulton, Olaf Hytten, Lydia Bilbrook, and Ian Wolfe. Also presented at the Grand.

By Mae Tinée

Another double dose of horror at the Grand, and a great number of people are filling the theater to see death in various forms.

Both these films are more literate than the Frankenstein fare, with "The Body Snatcher" the better, if more gruesome, of the two. Based on the old story by Robert Louis Stevenson, it concerns a ghoul who was well paid by the medical profession in Edinburgh because of the lack of bodies for research in anatomy. One prominent physician is ensnared by Gray [Boris Karloff], an oily cabby who will create a corpse if there aren't any fresh ones handy.

The doctor [Henry Daniell] is drawn deeper into the fearful trade and a hapless young assistant is soon persuaded, in the interest of his medical ambitions, to do likewise. Dr. MacFarlane's attempt to rid himself of Gray, who has become a millstone around his neck, results in one final grave robbery—a horrible scene in which the sagging corpse is propped up in a buggy between the two medics as they ride thru a storm. It's all quite hideous, but if you like that sort of thing, you'll find it well acted and directed with plenty of dank, dark settings to help things along.

"The Brighton Strangler" is also well cast, with John Loder as an actor who has found fame on the London stage in the role of a murderer in a play by that name. During a bombing raid, a head injury does queer things to his mind, and the next thing you know he's performing his part in real life and killing people right and left. Thanks to the circumstance that his intended third victim is the English wife of a sharp eyed American aviator, he's finally trapped on a roof by Scotland Yard men.

The ending is a bit on the ridiculous side. The detectives hold their fire, at the orders of the actor's fiancee and applaud instead of shooting, so that the killer drops his interesting work of strangling a lady, and bows himself gracefully off the roof—to meet his death in the proper theatrical manner, I suppose.

Big Sisters to Discuss Party for Junior Aids

Plans for a tea which the board of directors of the Big Sisters will give for members of the affiliated Junior Aids will be discussed at a board meeting at 10:30 a. m. Thursday in the office at 203 N. Wabash av. The party is to be held Thursday, June 28, in the Edgewater Beach hotel. The executive group also will make plans to supply playing cards for service men confined to the Marine hospital. Miss Jane A. Magan will preside.

ORPHAN ANNIE

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 31—Ella Raines seems to be Bob Siodmak's partner in crime. In "Phantom Lady" he tackled homicide, in "Suspect" uxoricide, and in "Uncle Harry" it's sororicide. . . . Louis B. Mayer returned from New York and assigned Pan Berman to produce W. H. Hudson's "Green Mansions." . . . Lt. A. Cameron Grant, who's been in the Canadian navy and has a medical discharge, reports to Metro for "Two Sisters from Boston," with June Allyson, Kathryn Grayson, and Jimmy Durante. . . . "Strange Adventure" is now called "The Big Shore Leave." And Vic Fleming, who's directing, is looking for another ranch where he can raise Cain and cattle. . . . This should make Maria Montez happy—Jean Pierre Aumont soon will be out of the army.

She's Going Prepared

Ed Gardner's making certain of a warm reception overseas. He's taking Jinx Falkenburg and Marilyn Hare along. Jinx goes complete with tennis racquet in case GIs don't like her jokes. . . . Sam Goldwyn signed Walter Abel to play Gabby Sloan, prize fight manager, in "The Kid from Brooklyn," Danny Kaye's next. Eve Arden, Lionel Stander, Steve Cochran also are in it. . . . I'd like to spike the rumor that Gloria and Stokie [Stokowski] already are tiffing. She's at last getting the attention she's longed for since she was a baby. Stokie even takes her shopping for hats, and his taste in those is as good as his taste in music. . . . Madeleine Carroll of the Red Cross and Capt. Sterling Hayden of the marines met for two days in Cologne. . . . Leslie Fenton is being wooed again by Harry Cohn. He may do a picture for him. . . . Eddie Bracken and Bill Demarest have cooked up another radio show better than the series they're just finishing.

They're Right on Deck

Our stars have given their services freely to the Screen guild show for the motion picture country home, but Bob Young takes the prize. He's done ten shows in two years, and Louise Allbritton six. Their names are on call if anybody is taken ill or disappoints at the last minute. . . . Harry Von Zell at last gets top billing with Bert Gordon in "How Do You Do" for P. R. C. It's a whodunit, with everybody playing himself. . . . Erik Charrell is leaving for New York, trying to get French and German rights to "Oklahoma!" He thinks musical plays like this not only will entertain but do much good. They'll help show folks there our way of life.

Some of This and That

Merle Oberon's new hairdo was copied from an old Grecian coin. . . . Clifford Odets' sister is a reader at Paramount. . . . June Vincent says it's easier to have a baby than get a telephone. She's 1,300th on the list, and they tell her she might get one by January. . . . If Earl Carroll tells all, his "Carroll in Wonderland" should make spicy reading. . . . John Ford is back on the job of "They Were Expendable," directing with his leg in a cast. . . . Beatrice Kay can't wear the bright red slacks she bought here on her New Jersey farm. She just acquired a young bull. . . . Why, Sonny Tufts! Imagine your crooning those love songs in a New York cafe and thinking news about it wouldn't leak out!

It's Upsy, Then Downsy

After workmen moved 136 pictures up two flights to Georgie Jessel's office, he was promoted and pushed down to the first floor near Zanuck, Periberg, and Lubitsch. So pictures had to be carried down again. The two that feature Jessel were smashed. . . . Carlton Moss, who made "The Negro Soldier" and played the preacher in it, wrote "If This Be Not True" with Pamela Wilcox, Herbert's daughter. If they can wangle it, they'd like Lena Horne to do it in London. . . . Bumped into Benny Thau on foot, owing to the fact his car wouldn't start. Said he, "Fancy meeting you—I dreamed about you last night." "Why, Benny! I thought her name was Frances Gifford." . . . Robert Sisk is en route to Amarillo, Tex., to look over Cal Farley's 900 acre boys' ranch. Sisk will produce and Roy Roland direct "Alley Cowboys." So far Skippy Homeier and Butch Jenkins are the only ones signed. . . . Mack Millar is New York bound. . . . Joan Leslie needn't worry about being photographed without makeup in "Janie Gets Married." Joan looks good that way.

Medal for Service to Blind Will Go to John B. Curtis

John B. Curtis, 74, of 6827 Ridgeland av., former supervisor of classes for the blind in the Chicago public schools, is the 1945 winner of the Migel medal for outstanding service to the blind, the American Foundation for the Blind in New York City announced yesterday. Mr. Curtis, who lost his sight in boyhood, was graduated from the Illinois School for the Blind, Hyde Park High school, and the University of Chicago, will receive the medal at a ceremony June 7 in the foundation's offices in New York. He established classes for the blind here in 1900 when the board of education decided to set them up as an experiment.

ATHLETICS DEFEAT WHITE SOX AND LOPAT, 3 TO 2

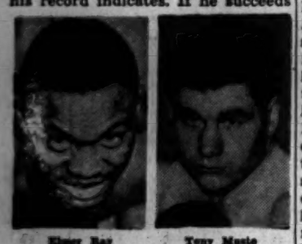

RAY AND LANE MEET TONIGHT IN COLISEUM

Elmer Seeking 30th Straight Victory

BY FRANK MASTRO

Elmer Ray, Hastings, Fla., heavyweight, who is undefeated in three years of competition, will see what he can do about scoring his 28th knockout and 30th straight victory at the expense of Larry Lane, rugged fighter from Trenton, N. J., in a 10 round bout tonight in the Coliseum, 15th st. and Wabash av.

Ray, 27 years old and 11th foremost contender for a shot at Joe Louis' title, is a terrific puncher, as his record indicates. If he succeeds in knocking out Lane, he will be in line for a contest with Joe Baksi, giant boxer of Kulpmont, Pa., in a Chicago baseball park this summer.

Lane Capable of Upset

Lane was defeated by Baksi in 10 rounds in the last Coliseum show, on May 2. Larry displayed skill and stamina and should give Ray a hard fight.

Altho Lane's record is spotty on occasions he has turned in sparkling performances. One of these is his second round knockout scored over Georgie Parks, Washington, D. C., knockout conqueror of Nate Bolden, in the semi-windup to an engagement between Baksi and Lee Savold in Wrigley field last August. Another is a knockout registered over Lem Franklin in Newark a year ago.

Prior to the start of his current string of victories Ray was unknown outside of his native Hastings, except in New Orleans, where he specialized in the old fashioned battle royals, of which he won 61 before placing himself under the management of Tommy O'Loughlin, Minneapolis fight manager, whose most prominent heavyweight prospect was Paul Hartnek.

Managed by O'Loughlin

O'Loughlin signed to manage Ray after he had seen the latter survive a beating at the hands of George Fitch of New Haven, Conn., in New Orleans on April 19, 1943, and then rally to capture the decision in 10 rounds. In his first start under his new management the following August Ray scored a newspaper decision over Al [Turkey] Thompson in Los Angeles. In a rematch, however, Thompson, who also is a powerful punch, stopped Elmer in the first round.

But that setback failed to discourage Ray, as he floored Gene Felton for the count in the second round in San Diego only a week later, and he has been going stronger and better ever since.

Musto Meets Jackson

Tony Musto, Blue Island heavyweight, will meet K. O. Jackson of Baltimore in one of five supporting matches on tonight's program.

Other bouts:

Mack Parshey, Detroit, vs. Bill Petersen, Indiana Harbor [6]. McKinley English, Detroit, vs. Lindy Elliott, New York [6]. Johnny Flanagan vs. Odell Riley Detroit [6]. Cy Ellison, Tulsa, Okla., vs. Ted Newson [4]. All are heavyweights.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31—Sgt. Joe Louis, who first gained recognition in the 1934 Chicago Golden Gloves tournament, refereed the finals of a recent Alaskan division [army] meet in Edmonton, Canada. . . . Lieutenants Billy Hillenbrand, Lou Saban, and Chuck Jacoby, former football stars at Indiana university, have finished a Chinese language course at the University of California and are enjoying leaves at home awaiting overseas assignments. . . . Lt. Gerald Ford, one time Michigan football center and assistant coach at Yale, has reported for duty at Glenview naval air station after 18 months in the Pacific theater. . . . The Cubs will play exclusively at night in their next series in St. Louis—a three game set, which will give Farmer Charley Grimm an excellent chance to do some day time work on his near-by acres. . . . The New York Giants have been getting along with one catcher—Schnozz Lombardi—with rare assistance by Ray Berres, whereas the Cubs seemed overstaffed with four topnotchers at the start of the season. . . . Nevertheless, the fourth stringer, Len Rice, was the receiver in five of the six games immediately following the eastern losing streak of six straight. . . . Of those five Rice-caught contests the Cubs won four. . . . Juan Sanchez, the New Orleans Pelicans' Porto Rican outfielder, hit safely in 20 consecutive games. . . . Howard Drew, former line coach at the University of Alabama who has seen a lot of action, has received his honorable discharge from the navy. . . . His son, student manager for Alabama last fall, is about to be inducted. . . .

Lt. Frank Genovese, guard on Northwestern university's 1942 football team, is recuperating from a shoulder wound suffered on Okinawa, where he was fighting with a marine regiment. . . . Freddy Hutchison, former Detroit Tiger pitcher, has been awarded a navy medal for expert pistol shooting. . . . Maj. Ernie Nevers, Walter Camp's all-time, All-America full back, is athletic officer at the San Diego marine base. . . . Pfc. Robert J. Schang, nephew of the noted Wally, is starring as a catcher for the 3d marine division. . . . In a recent Giant game Shortstop Buddy Kerr was charged with an error when he dropped a throw from Manager Mel Ott on a freak force play. . . . After the game Ott sought out the official scorer and protested the error was his, not Kerr's. . . . Investigation convinced the scorer Mel was morale building and, when the official sheet was recorded with the National league statistician, Kerr still was charged with the misplay. . . . Several scorers, by the way, report there has been more second guessing of the scoring this season than in any recent years. . . . Photographer Ted Wilson of San Jose, Cal., claims to have more than 8,000 negatives of auto race scenes. . . . "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" booms over the public address system in all Pacific Coast league parks during the seventh inning stretch. . . . Emil Verban of the St. Louis Cardinals, one of the few surviving choke hitters in the big leagues, uses a bat which resembles the famous old Heinie Groh bottle model. . . . Verban figures there's "five more inches of handle hits" in the fat club.

A Little Bell from San Michele

O, a little bell from San Michele
Strange magic works, 'tis said—
A maid's wish comes true, should she, when blue,
Sleep with one beneath her head.

Who sent his love such a bell—
Her wish was that he'd soon come home

Now every soldier in Italy

O, a little bell from San Michele
Is a most prized souvenir,
But pity the belles in Italy
If all the bells land over here.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 31 — The White Sox succumbed today to the wiles and skill of Connie Mack's Athletics. James Dykes' Chicago boys, who now have accumulated nine defeats against two victories since they barged into the east disguised as first placers, were knocked off by 3 to 2 in the series final.

It was an affair featured by strange happenings, one of these causing Don Black, the Macks' starting pitcher, to retire as a casualty in the second inning.

Jittery Joe Berry, a mere youngster of 39 years, had to take over on short notice and he made batting chumps of practically everybody except Tony Cuccinello, who picked up three hits. Altho miserly with hits, Berry did give the Sox the tying run in the eighth but the deadlock lasted only until the Mackmen could go to work on Ed Lopat in the same inning.

Michaels Errs Again

Altho hit consistently, Lopat could be charged with only one of the two runs scored against him prior to the decisive blow-off, the other being a matter involving Cass Michaels' fielding. Lopat even had two men out of the way and nobody on base in the eighth, before being maneuvered into the position from which the A's extracted the decisive run. Bob Wilkins singled, Larry Rosenthal, the Sox alumnus, walked, and Bob Estalella, who was quite a nuisance in yesterday's defeat, peeled off a single that scored Wilkins.

One of Cuccinello's hits was a double with none out in the fourth and, while it didn't score a run, it at least brought on what technically should be termed a boner. After the double Roy Schalk fanned and Charles George, fresh from the minors, dropped the third strike. Schalk, after hesitating, finally started to run toward first. George feinted a throw to first, changed his mind, and threw to the jumpy Berry. The latter was so surprised he couldn't figure out what could be done, the result being that Schalk was safe. But Michaels lined into a double play and Mike Tresh flied out.

Berry Takes Over

Lopat began his day's work by fanning Wilkins, but trouble developed almost immediately. Michaels booted Rosenthal's grounder, Estalella beat out a dinky roller and after Dick Siebert had popped out, George singled to score Rosenthal.

The Sox tied it in the second when Curtright and Cuccinello led off with singles, the former going to third on the latter's hit. It was in this play that Black, on his way to back up the throw at third, bounced off the ponderous Umpire Cal Hubbard and suffered a wrenched back. Berry then took over and Schalk grounded to Wilkins, who threw low trying to force Cuccinello at second, Curtright scoring the tying run on the error.

The Athletics resumed a one run lead in the third on a pass to Estalella, an infield out, and a hit by George Kell. The Sox tied it in the eighth on Moses' walk, a single by Kerby Farrell, and a wild throw by Berry.

THREE VIEWPOINTS, ONE SUBJECT—FOOTBALL

They might be talking of military or political activities, but it's a safe bet football is the subject under discussion by this threesome: John L. Keeshin (right), president of Chicago's team in the All-America conference; Gov. Green (center), and Lt. Col. Dick Hanley, guest of honor at party given by Keeshin last night in Blackstone hotel. Col. Hanley will manage Chicago team after he completes service with marines.

Billy Hillenbrand

Don Griffin

Norm Verry

Three outstanding college football stars, now in service, whose signing to play with Chicago team in All-America conference was revealed last night. Hillenbrand was a star at Indiana, Griffin at Illinois, and Verry at Southern California.

CUBS GET A DAY OFF; OPEN WITH BRAVES TODAY

BY EDWARD BURNS

It took the Cubs six games to discover the league leading New York Giants aren't so tough—and, then, having made the discovery in their 11 to 2 victory, before 43,000 in Wednesday's second game in Wrigley field, the weather bureau's rainmaker had to spill into the picture. Yesterday the Giants were spared the ruthless handling the Cubs had planned for them in the scheduled final yesterday.

There will be a pause of exactly a month between the Cubs' belated discovery that the Giants aren't invincible and their next game with the New Yorkers. The Chicagoans won't have a whack at the first placers [who lead them by 6½ games] until they meet them in the quaintest of all major league ball parks, the Polo grounds, on June 30. They will play a single game that day and a double header a month from today.

In the meantime, the Cubs will have other matters to engage their attention, the most immediate being the Boston Braves, who have added Pitcher Morton Cooper at a cost of $65,000 since the Cubs split a two game series in Boston May 12 and 13. The Braves will open a four game series in Wrigley field this afternoon.

Single games have been arranged for today and tomorrow and a double header is carded for Sunday. While the Cubs are battling the Braves, the Giants will be in St. Louis for two night engagements and a Sunday double header.

Pitcher Jorge Comellas was returned to the Los Angeles farm club by the Cubs on option yesterday.

Lane Defeats Quincy, 12-2, in State Meet

Peoria, Ill., May 31 [Special]—Irv Medlinger, tall left handed pitcher on Lane Tech's baseball team, tonight set down Quincy High school with three hits as the Chicago City league won easily, 12 to 2, in five innings.

The victory advanced Lane to the semi-finals, where it will meet Bloomington at 1 p. m. today.

The game tonight was called at the end of five innings due to a special ruling halting play if one team is ahead by 10 runs at the end of the fifth.

Lane took a 2 to 0 lead at the end of the first inning, and followed this with a five run barrage in the second. Three more were added in the third, and two more in the fifth, when Quincy scored its two runs.

Proviso of Maywood, defending champion, also moved into the semi-final round by defeating Springfield Cathedral, 6 to 0, in the first round. The first two Cathedral batters got hits, but thereafter the losers were held scoreless as Proviso won easily.

A third Chicagoland entrant, Kelly of the City league, lost to East St. Louis Central Catholic, 6 to 1, in the opening game.

The East St. Louis team and Proviso meet in tomorrow's other semi-final. Last year they met in the finals, with Proviso winning. Scores:

Quincy	000	02	2	3 8

Batteries—Medlinger and M. Majerith; M. Tappe and E. Tappe.

Cathedral	000	000	0	2 0

DUDAS TO MEET MAURIELLO IN GARDEN TONIGHT

New York, May 31 (AP)—The veteran Steve Dudas will seek to lengthen a comeback victory string which has reached five bouts when he takes on Tami Mauriello in a 10 round boxing contest in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Dudas retired in 1940 to work in a ship yard. He started the comeback trail last fall, altho still employed in the yard. In his last start here he defeated Fernando [the Mighty] Menichelli.

Mauriello will be trying to string together two consecutive Garden victories.

FREE FOR ALL IS HURT IN DRILL; OUT OF DERBY

New York, May 31 (AP)—The field for the 71st running of the Kentucky Derby narrowed to 13 today as John Marsch's Free For All was declared definitely out of the race and Hoop Jr. departed for the blue grass country.

Free For All, unbeaten in five starts as a 2 year old but whipped once this year, pulled a tendon in yesterday's workout at Churchill Downs. Taking no chances on ruining the son of Questionnaire for future racing, Trainer Burley Parke said the colt would not be in the post parade on June 9 at Churchill Downs.

Hoop Jr.'s Stock Booms

Hoop Jr., F. W. Hooper's impressive winner of one section of the Wood Memorial at Jamaica yesterday, left New York this afternoon, his chances of winning the Derby much enhanced by the fact he ran the mile and one-sixteenth of the Wood in 1:45. Col. C. V. Whitney's Jeep, victor in the other division of the Wood in 1:45 4-5, will leave Monday, while Alexis from Henry Lunger's Christiana stable boards a train tomorrow. Alexis was second to Hoop Jr., beaten three lengths.

With only three representatives from the east, the remainder of the Derby field will come from horses trained in Kentucky and Charles S. Howard's Sea Swallow, lone candidate from the far west.

These Still Are Candidates

As of today it looks as if the remainder of the starting field will come from a field that includes Warren Wright's Pot o' Luck; E. R. Bradley's Burning Dream; Lt. Comdr. T. D. Buhl's Air Sailor; J. K. Houssels' Buymeabond; Best Effort, which was sold by C. C. Tanner to Jay Paley of West Los Angeles tonight; Foreign Agent from the Lookout Stock farm; the Murlogg farm's Fighting SEtep; Darien from the Indian Rocks' stable; Mrs. G. W. Lews' Darby Dieppe, and possibly Icangetit, owned by Henry Tikulski.

Fox Head Girls Win 2d from St. Louis Kutis, 1-0

The Fox Head 400 Girls' softball team last night made it two in a row over the St. Louis Kutis Girls by winning, 1 to 0, in Shewbridge field.

HILLENBRAND, DON GRIFFIN TO SPARK ATTACK

Norm Verry, U.S.C. Guard, Also Signs

BY EDWARD PRELL

Lt. Col. Richard E. [Dick] Hanley came all the way from the South Pacific to Chicago to learn that there is good news on this side of the ocean, too. Last night, when a group of plus-ultra Chicagoans and Illinoisans gathered in the Blackstone hotel to do him honor, Col. Hanley was pleased to hear that Lt. William Hillenbrand, one-time Indiana university star, and Lt. Don Griffin, Illinois great of recent seasons, have signed contracts to play with the Chicago team in the All-America conference.

And that wasn't all. A third Chicago player will be Lt. Norm Verry, University of Southern California's 247 pound guard who played on the Trojans' 1944 Rose bowl team.

Col. Hanley will coach the new Chicago team and his bronzed, fighting face broke into a broad smile when the Hillenbrand-Griffin-Verry announcement was made by John L. Keeshin, owner of the club. These are the first athletes listed as members of the post-war eleven which will play its games in Soldiers' field.

Governor Is There

It was a night of handshaking and back thumping experiences for Col. Hanley, noted in collegiate athletic circles for more than two decades, first as coach of the colorful Haskell institute Indians, then as the head man at Northwestern university. Gov. Green was there, heading a group of 60 sports, civic, political, and military personages as guests of Keeshin.

Hillenbrand and Griffin, speedy, versatile half backs, were leaders of their respective Western conference teams in the last peace time season—1941—when both were sophomore sensations. Griffin was the most spectatcular Chicago prep player since Austin's Bill De Correvont. Don led Fenger High to the 1938 Public High School league and all-city championships.

At Illinois Griffin was the leading ground gainer for his team in 1941 and 1942. In December, 1942 he entered the service and now is ready to go into combat as a marine fighter pilot. The playing weight of this 5 foot 11 inch speedster in his Illini days was 190 pounds.

Hillenbrand, who was a prep star at Reitz Memorial High school in Evansville, Ind., started making headlines early in the 1941 campaign at Indiana. That year he scored seven of the Hoosiers' 15 touchdowns and threw forward passes for seven of the other eight. He accounted for 1,615 yards by running and pitching.

In 1942 Billy averaged 3.5 yards in Indiana's four conference games and had a forward pass completion average of .375. This was his final year of college competition, but he returned last August to provide some trouble for the Chicago Bears in the College All-Star game.

He'll Go to China

Hillenbrand, 23, is 6 feet tall and weighs 190 pounds. He has completed a course in Chinese and expects to go to the orient as a liaison officer between the American and Chinese troops.

Verry was an All-American guard at U. S. C. For all his 247 pounds, spread over a 6 foot 2 inch frame, the west coast native had the speed to run wind sprints with the halfbacks. He is a second lieutenant in the marine corps and since suffering an injury in amphibious landing training, has been on a limited status. Verry also has played tackle.

Gov. Green paid a tribute to Keeshin's enterprise in giving his time and money for a new sports venture. To Col. Hanley he said, "We know that under your tutelage you will have a great team. Good luck go with each and every one of you."

The Very Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, founder of the Catholic Youth organization, praised the new club and said it would be an inspiration for the youth of Chicago.

Col. Hanley, instead of making a football speech, crossed up the guests by talking of the superb spirit of the American fighting men.

American Spirit Wins

"We are fighting an enemy much more determined than the Nazis ever were," said Hanley. "We are dealing with a nation that has become civilization's greatest threat. I couldn't begin to tell you of the atrocities at Bataan and elsewhere. Yes, it's grand to think of a new football season and look forward to coming back, but I can't forget the enemy we face in the Pacific.

"I want to say to you that American youth has conducted itself as no one expected it to do and this goes for lads who have been in sports and those who haven't. The American spirit is superior to that of the Japs. I'm wondering if this is the time or the place to discuss our future in football. We're in the fourth quarter with the Japs.

"I want to build our team with marine, army, and navy personnel. For this reason we may have to wait a little while to get this type of squad—but when we do we'll have a winner for Chicago!"

As a windup to Col. Hanley's reception Keeshin presented him with a diamond ring. Herb Graffis, Daily Times columnist, was master of ceremonies.

7TH IN ROW FOR FERRISS; BEATS INDIANS, 6 TO 2

Red Sox Rookie Yields Five Hits

Boston, May 31 (AP)—Undefeated freshman Dave Ferriss, Boston Red Sox pitcher, today gained his seventh straight victory, a 6 to 2 affair, by giving a five-hit performance against the Cleveland Indians.

Only one of the Indians' hits was clean-cut, Felix Mackiewicz' single to left center in the fourth inning. After being sacrificed by Paul O'Dea, Mackiewicz scored as Frankie Hayes got a scratch single thru third baseman Jack Tobin.

In the fifth, the Red Sox outfielders misjudged three windblown pop flies, Dutch Meyer's going for a double to give the Indians their second tally.

TIGERS, 2; YANKEES, 0

New York, May 31 (AP)—Army veteran Les Mueller shut out the New York Yankees with two singles in his first starting appearance of the year today, 2 to 0, as the Detroit Tigers climbed to within one game of Joe McCarthy's leaders.

Only 5,300 fans turned out for the second twilight game in the Yankee stadium, apparently marking the end of Larry MacPhail's experiment.

BROWNS WIN, 5 TO 2

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns scored four runs in the second inning tonight to defeat the Washington Senators, 5 to 2.

The Browns took advantage of Mickey Haefner's wildness in the second to take a comfortable lead. Two walks, three singles, Haefner's error, and Mike Kreevich's double accounted for the four runs.

DODGERS SCORE 2 IN 13TH; BEAT PIRATES, 6 TO 4

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 31 (AP)—Goodwin Rosen's triple off the right field wall in the 13th inning scored two runners to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 6 to 4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates tonight before 13,126. The Dodgers spiked a Pirate rally in their half of the 13th aided by their fifth double play of the game.

REDS BEAT PHILS, 8 TO 1

Cincinnati, O., May 31 (AP)—Walter [Boom Boom] Beck turned in a five hit performance today as the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 8 to 1, to sweep a three game series.

Bill Lee started on the mound for Philadelphia and was replaced in the third by Andy Karl. These two yielded 13 hits and all of Cincinnati's runs altho they were aided and abetted by four errors on the part of their teammates.

Despite prolific hitting, Cincinnati's Woody Williams got the Reds' only extra base hit—a double in the first inning. Score:

PRIMA AMERICA'S FINEST BEER

Name Marsch Juvenile for Joliet Stakes

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

"Futurity King" John Marsch, the Chicago sportsman whose juvenile racers have been the talk of the turf since his Occupation took down the three major events for 2 year olds in 1942, will send another brilliant youngster after the big end of the purse in Lincoln Field's $5,000 added Joliet stakes at Hawthorne tomorrow.

Marsch's entrant will be the well-bred Mighty Story, gray son of Mahmoud-Little Lie, which won his only start recently during the Keeneland meeting at Churchill Downs. The colt won a 4½ furlong race from four other maiden 2 year olds, negotiating the distance in :56 4-5 on a muddy track.

26 Are Nominated

Mighty Story, being trained by Paul Kelley, has been working out on the Hawthorne strip for several days and is a certain starter for the five furlong affair tomorrow. Eurly Parke, Marsch's trainer, who groomed the youngster for his debut at Louisville, declares he well could be the successor to Marsch's other Futurity champions, Occupation in 1942, Occupy in 1943, and Free for All in 1944. Occupation won the Arlington and Washington Park Futurities and the Pimlico Futurity as a 2 year old.

Twenty-six horses were nominated for the Joliet, won last year by Henry Tikulski's Icangetit, a Kentucky Derby candidate this year in the colors of Leon Tikulski, now a soldier serving in the Aleutians. It is likely, tho, that the field will not be more than 10 or 12.

Other prominent eligibles are Mrs. R. J. Doyle's Little Snail, Hyman Freidberg's Port List, a winner at the current meeting; J. M. Hutchins' Lord Caprice, S. and S. stable's Lou Jay S.; Jess Trent's Tetramor; Peter J. Valenti's Seaman's Pal, and Steve Valenti's Joyce W., both winners at Hawthorne, and Mrs. Robert McGarvey's Over Night.

$228.80 Pay-Off on Double.

S. D. Sidell's Last Waltz, a 29 to 1 shot, opened yesterday's card with an easy victory and returned $61.40 for a $2 ticket. Bobby Campbell booted the filly in by two lengths over W. H. Bishop's Swing Sister, another outsider in a field of eight 3 year olds at 6 furlongs.

Mrs. F. F. Burrell's Book Plate, under a strong ride by Paul Glidewell, won the second race and daily double players received $228.80.

The featured sixth race, the $1,600 Cornell purse, was won by Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Harris' Diderod, ridden by Eddie Bianco. Mrs. Emil Denemark's Fire Dust was second and the Swanee River stable's veteran Corydon was third in a field of seven.

The attendance was 6,244 and the mutuel handle was $564,523.

GOLFERS SEEK P. G. A. TOURNEY BERTHS TODAY

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

The Illinois section qualifying rounds for the national championship tournament of the Professional Golfers' Association of America will be played at 36 holes of medal play today at the Oak Park Country club. The Illinois P. G. A. has been allotted approximately 10 places in the main event of the play-for-pelf artists, scheduled for the week of June 9 at the Moraine Country club in Dayton, O.

Three Chicago district professionals are exempt from today's examination at Oak Park. Two of them are Johnny Revolta of Evanston and Jock Hutchison of Glen View, who draw passes by reason of being past National P. G. A. title holders. The third is Eddie Williams of Bryn Mawr, who qualifies automatically as National P. G. A. seniors' champion.

Play in Threesomes

The field will play in threesomes, teeing off on the first 18 at 9 o'clock this morning at 10 minute intervals. The early starters include the following:

Jim Foulis, La Grange; Charles Penna, Beverly, and Byron Harcke, Twin Orchard.
Eddie Bush, Oak Park; Jimm Hines, Chicago, and Sam Bernardix, Old Elm.
Jack Grout, Butterfield; Al Huske, Glen Oak, and Ky Laffoon, Chicago.
Bob Stupple, Skokie; Johnny Gibson, Westmoreland, and Red Dennison, Midlothian.
Art De Mane, Oak Park; Jim Carberry, Aurora, and Pete Wilcox, Riverside.
Bill Gordon, Tam o' Shanter; Harry Adams, St. Charles, and Joe Paietti, Sunset Ridge.
Ralph Guidahl, Medinah; Pete Thomas, Chicago Golf; Lou Strong, Park Ridge, and Paul Schmainda, Acacia.

$26,000 for Service Centers

The dime-a-round committee of the Chicago District Golf association, which, in its first two years, turned over more than $26,000 to the Chicago service men's centers, will hold a campaign meeting Monday night at 6 o'clock in the Chicago room of the La Salle hotel.

Schurz Keeps North Section Relays Crown

Table of Points

Schurz	94½	Sullivan	17½
Lane	73	Roosevelt	6
Senn	48	Lake View	2
Amundsen	32	Taft	0

Five records were broken yesterday as Schurz High school's track team scored 94½ points to win the city league north section combined junior and senior relays in Winnemac park. Lane was second with 73 points and Senn finished third with 48 points.

In the junior division, Paul Stevens of Lane set a new broad jump record of 20 feet 5⅛ inches, while Paul Hand of Sullivan broke the shotput mark with a throw of 44 feet 5 inches. Bob Scherwaz of Senn set a shotput mark in the senior division with a throw of 46 feet 5½ inches. Ruben Huff, also of Senn, high jumped 5 feet 6 inches for a new record.

The fifth record was broken by the Schurz 440 yard relay team, which finished in :48.9, breaking the mark of :49.5 established by Senn last year.

All-American Golf Purse Is Set at $60,233

An all time high tournament purse of $60,233.63 in war bonds and stamps will be the stake in the 1945 All-American Golf tournaments to be held July 23 to 29 at the Tam o'Shanter Country club.

George S. May

This was announced officially yesterday by George S. May, sponsor of the annual three-way meet consisting of the All-American open, the All-American amateur, and the All-American Women's open.

The Men's open will offer a total purse of $57,733.63 in war bonds and stamps with prizes scaled down to the 40 low scores, doubling the number of winners in previous meets.

First prize in the Men's open will have a total war bond and stamp value of $13,600; second place, $6,666.67, and will range downward as follows: $2,666.67 for fifth place; $1,133.34 for tenth place; $800 for 15th place; $466.67 for 20th place; $333.34 each for the next 10 places; and $266.67 each for 31st to 40th place.

The Women's open will present a total of $1,950 in war bonds and stamp prizes, including $500, $400, $300, $200, and $100 to the first five winners and ranging downward to $10 for 14th place. The Amateur event offers $550 in prizes scaled for the first 10 players.

TWO FAR WEST STARS TO ENTER CENTRAL MEET

BY WILFRID SMITH

John Taylor and Jack Anderson, outstanding athletes from the far west, will represent the University of Idaho in the Central Collegiate track meet tomorrow at the Great Lakes Naval Training center. Taylor is entered in the 100 yard dash, the 220 yard low hurdles, and the broad jump. Anderson is a middle distance runner but he also may compete in the two mile run.

Great Lakes is choice to win the team championship in the 20th annual meet because of the size of its squad. Particularly the Bluejackets will depend on Grover Klemmer, Les Eisenhart, and Tom Cara, logical choices to win individual titles. Cara, former Schurz High school star, is in the top flight of the quarter milers. Eisenhart probably will win the mile and also may compete in the half mile while Klemmer will enter the sprints and the broad jump. Klemmer probably can win the 220 yard dash without undue effort for he tied the world record for the quarter mile while at the University of California. He has not run the 440 recently because of a leg injury.

Other Great Lakes athletes include Jack Kammer, two miler; Charles Parker, low hurdler, who may take this championship, and John Heintzman, who should place in this event despite the presence of Ken Wiesner, Dick Kilpatrick, and Corp. Dwight Eddleman.

Charles Beaudry, the Marquette sprinter, heads that school's entry with Wiesner. George Fuch of Wisconsin seeks the shotput championship, while Jack Dugger of Ohio State probably is best in the discus throw. Billy Moore of Western Michigan is outstanding in the pole vault, and Drake university will present Fred Feller in the two mile.

Set Deadline for Entries in Victory Golf

Preferences for pairings in the 1945 Chicago Victory National Golf team championship meet must be filed with the Chicago District Golf Charities, Inc., room 1844, La Salle hotel, by June 12. This was announced yesterday by the Chicago District Golf association, co-sponsor of this No. 1 competitive event with the Professional Golfers' Association of America and the Cook County council of the American Legion.

The team battles, as inaugurated in last year's highly successful event at Edgewater, are not mere preludes to the 72 hole Open and Amateur shows, to be decided at the Calumet Country club on June 29, 30 and July 1. They were set up to determine national partner honors in the pro ladies, pro senior and pro amateur divisions.

These are scheduled for 36 holes of medal play, 18 on June 27 and 18 on June 28, with a professional making a foursome with amateur, woman and senior partners. Last year John Revolta of Evanston won the pro ladies and pro senior titles with Lt. Patty Berg and George Hardy, respectively, while Ky Laffoon of Chicago and Steve Kovach of Pittsburgh won the pro amateur championship.

The Chicago Victory Nationals, which in the last two years have produced a total of $23,672.89 for hospitalized service men, will carry an over-all purse of $12,300 in war bonds. Twenty-five per cent of the net proceeds will be awarded as additional prize money in cash value.

HOLDS KEEPING CONTROLS MAY SPUR INFLATION

Would Create Fear, Lutz Asserts

BY THOMAS FURLONG
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, May 31—Retention of wage, price, and rationing controls after the war will feed inflation fears, Harley Lutz, Princeton university professor of public finance, said today.

Lutz said that the public is likely to interpret such controls as a government admission of a dangerous price outlook. In an earlier article published by the Tax Foundation Lutz set forth his views that savings accumulated by the public during the war years are not likely to be spent as rapidly as implied by government authorities.

Confidence Best Antidote

The real danger of an inflation stampede, Lutz said, is that the public, rightly or wrongly, gets the idea that savings represented by savings bonds, insurance and bank deposits will shrink in value.

The best antidote to this is for the government to instill confidence in the stability of purchasing power. Definite assurance should be given that the value of savings will not be diluted by foolish public spending, borrowing, and further credit inflation.

Speaking of the probable interpretation of controls as a danger sign, Lutz said: "This would be a correct interpretation, particularly if other policies were such as to create the impression that the controls were simply a process of sitting on the safety value. In any case the controls would be no more effective against black marketing than prohibition was against bootlegging."

Urged Balanced Budget

Confidence in the stability of purchasing power can best be promoted, he said, by a moderate postwar budget, financed on a cash basis which would stop credit inflation at the source; taxation to cover the budget and some debt retirement; repeal of existing inflationary legislation, and adoption of policies to foster rapid conversion to civilian production.

The promise of a reasonably adequate supply of goods would go far to prevent competitive bidding for available goods, he asserted.

AUTO INDUSTRY '45 TASK TERMED TOUGHEST EVER

Detroit, Mich., May 31 (AP)—Partial reconversion of the automobile industry for the production this year of slightly more than 200,000 passenger cars represents as difficult a job as the industry ever has tackled, George Romney, managing director of the automotive council for war production, said today. Probably the worst bottlenecks that must be broken are the complex government regulatory procedures that have been developed.

"The various government agencies actually are so enmeshed in piecemeal relaxation of rules and regulations that the effectiveness of broad policy changes involved in resumption of production of automobiles, refrigerators, and other civilian goods can be held up for weeks," he said.

Romney asserted that man power controls designed to promote stability of employment on war jobs "should be discarded now to permit an immediate redistribution of the national working force."

ASSAILS WHISKY HOLIDAY IN VIEW OF FOOD NEEDS

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—A congressional investigation of the WPB's recent order permitting distillers to make whisky during July was sought today by Rep. Hope [R., Kas.]. He told the house the July "holiday" would divert into whisky grain vitally needed for food.

Hope introduced legislation which also called for an investigation of what effect on the food supply a recent WPB order might have which permits renewal of importation of distilled spirits from Cuba and Puerto Rico. He said these imports will take sugar and molasses which otherwise would be brought to this country and which could be used to make industrial alcohol for war.

Refinery Makes Billionth Gallon of Plane Gas Today

Baton Rouge, La., May 31 (AP)—Special ceremonies will be held here tomorrow commemorating production of the billionth gallon of high octane gasoline at the Standard Oil company [New Jersey] refinery.

Asserts ICC Fostered Rail Co-operation

Lincoln, Neb., May 31 (AP)—Steps taken by the railroads during the depression of the early 1930s to eliminate competitive waste were adopted at the behest of the interstate commerce commission, Douglas F. Smith of Chicago, representing 47 western railroads, said today in federal District court as oral arguments began on a defense motion to dismiss an anti-trust suit against the roads.

Wendell Berge, assistant United States attorney general, resisting the dismissal motion, charged the railroads have operated under an agreement which he contended was "an unlawful contract in restraint of trade." He also charged the railroads had "conspired to impose on shippers higher freight rates in the western district than for comparable service in the eastern district."

Explains ICC Position

Smith asserted the ICC took the position, after refusing a rate increase, that elimination of competitive waste would have the effect of increasing rates without increasing costs to shippers.

"The attorneys for the anti-trust division contended such coöperation was bad because it resulted in higher rates," Smith said. "The public must make up its mind and take its choice.

"No group of business men in America has been more amenable to government regulation than the railroad executives. They have lived under it for three generations, but they can't have two regulatory masters. The government must speak with a single voice and not with conflicting voices."

Rate Bureaus Under Fire

The attorney contended the suit actually is an attack on the railroad rate bureaus. He said the government recognized the immunity of the bureaus under a war emergency certificate, issued at the request of the war and navy departments on the ground such an attack would endanger the war effort. He also contended the court has no jurisdiction in the suit.

The arguments are expected to last thru tomorrow.

FORM BUSINESS GROUP TO BACK BRETTON WOODS

Boston, Mass., May 31 (AP)—Formation of a nation-wide committee of business men and bankers to support the Bretton Woods monetary proposals was announced today by Ralph E. Flanders, Vermont industrialist and president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. He said the committee is preparing a series of reports on what they would mean to various industries.

"To most business men international finance is a mysterious domain," said Flanders. "It seemed to us that if we could make it clear that the Bretton Woods agreements were not mysterious financial mumbo-jumbo but practical steps which had to be taken to insure the security of post-war trade and investments, the whole subject would be placed in its true perspective.

"Without the machinery to eliminate risks in international trade and establish a procedure for orderly handling of exchange transactions we could not realize our goal of vastly expanded world trade."

FINANCE INSTITUTIONS ORDERED TO REPORT UNUSUAL CASH DEALS

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—The treasury department has ordered all financial institutions in the country to file reports of unusual currency transactions. Secretary Morgenthau today said it was part of the drive to stamp out tax evasion.

The order applies not only to banks, building and loan associations, and brokers, but also to thousands of currency exchanges, not hitherto included in treasury department orders.

The financial institutions must report any transactions "in amounts or denominations which, in the judgment of the financial institutions, exceed those commensurate with the legitimate and customary conduct of the business, industry, or profession of the person or organization concerned." Reports must be filed on transactions involving $1,000 or more of United States currency in denominations of $50 or higher, or involving $10,000 or more in any denominations—unless the financial institution knows the transaction is legitimate and customary.

Morgenthau will ask congress tomorrow to enlist in the war on alleged tax dodgers by appropriating funds to hire 10,000 new employes for the bureau of internal revenue. He said a supplemental appropriation of 30 to 50 million dollars is needed, depending on how fast the new personnel can be recruited.

WORLD MONEY PLANS TERMED ROUTE TO WAR

Entire Program Hit by 3 in Congress

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., May 31—The proposed Bretton Woods 18 billion dollar world financial program was denounced by three house banking committee members today as an instrument with power to force a "complete managed economy" on the world and to sow the seeds for another world war. Dissenters from the administration sponsored plan, which the committee approved last week, 23 to 3, were Representatives Smith [R., O.], Buffett [R., Neb.], and Sumner [R., Ill.].

The majority report, also released today, urged house approval of the program, asserting it would foster international trade and assure high domestic employment.

The report by Smith and Buffet charged that basically Bretton Woods "would constitute an authoritarian world wide trade and monetary cartel." It provides world "management" of currency, whereby the monetary units of nations may be devalued by an international superbody.

Force United States Inflation

Devaluation of foreign currencies would force the United States either to devalue its own, and thus create inflation at home, or to lose much of its export market, they explained.

Miss Sumner in a separate report warned that 1½ billion American dollars contributed to the proposed international fund may be used by Russia to work against American interests and world peace.

"A billion may seem trifling in these days of war spending," she said. "But used in impoverished European countries now, by the effective Russian world political machine, a billion and a half dollars could be as effective as any army. What excuse could justify voting for this deadly boomerang?"

Assail Propaganda Barrage

The three Republicans joined in charging the administration with seeking to force the global plan thru congress by a gigantic "propaganda" barrage. Buffett, protesting the plan of Democratic leaders to bring the proposal to a vote next week, asserted the house membership has not had time to digest the committee's hearings and reports.

The majority report said in part:

"The Bretton Woods program is directly related to our domestic objective of providing jobs for our workers in industry and assuring fair prices and markets for our farmers. If we are to expand and stabilize the export demand for our products, we must remove the currency restrictions which have been imposed on international trade in the past and encourage an adequate flow of international investment."

REORGANIZING GROUP ACQUIRES SEABOARD LINE

Portsmouth, Va., May 31 [Special]—Approximately 3,300 miles of main line, the equipment and appurtenances, and certain cash and securities of Seaboard Air Line Railway company were purchased today by the reorganization committee under the Seaboard reorganization plan on its bid of $52,000,500 subject to about 18 million dollars of outstanding equipment trust obligations and unforeclosed bond issues outstanding.

The sale must be confirmed by the courts before steps can be taken for the transfer of the property to the purchaser. A hearing has been set for June 29 in Baltimore.

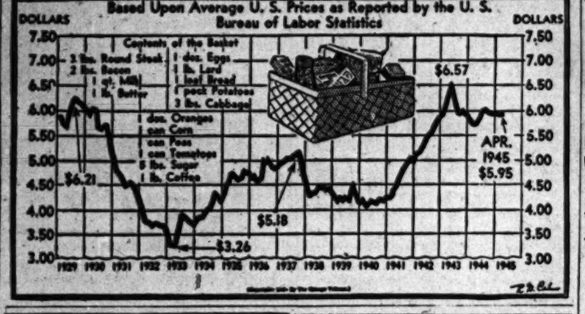

Not included in the sale were the Seaboard-All Florida lines, which were sold last year to Seaboard Railway company, a corporation chartered by the reorganization committee representing owners of securities of the old Seaboard Air Line Railway company.

Penn Jersey Shipbuilding Will Shut Down Tuesday

Camden, N. J., May 31 (AP)—The Penn Jersey Shipbuilding corporation, with a peak employment of 3,000 workers, will shut down Tuesday, E. F. Enright, general manager, said today. The last 300 men will be dismissed when fitting of an army repair ship is completed. Only a maintenance force and some office workers will be retained.

Seek Chicago Rail Workers to Move Army

The railroads' urgent need of 8,500 new workers for the Chicago district to handle the huge traffic increase caused by the redeployment of military forces from Europe to the Pacific area was described yesterday by Col. I. Sewell Morris, commanding officer of the 6th transportation zone and chairman of the railroad urgency committee.

The railroads' labor requirements include every type of job—from civil engineers to men and women to clean passenger cars. They need more men to switch trains in the dozens of yards around Chicago, more firemen and engineers, and more trainmen. Some 75 different types of jobs are available.

Expect Peak Level July 1

Col. Morris said the start of the passenger traffic peak caused by redeployment is expected about July 1 instead of about Aug. 1 as was estimated earlier. Military requirements are expected to take about 50 per cent of all passenger facilities of the western railroads, an increase of about 17 per cent.

The movement of freight from east to west already is near peak levels.

The Chicago area is a key spot of the country for both passenger and freight operations because it is America's transportation center, with lines radiating to every part of the country. The methods used in the drive for workers in Chicago are being watched in other traffic centers for possible adoption there.

Army Feels Responsible

Col. Morris said the army feels some responsibility for the railroads' plight. First it took away many of their best workers—some 300,000 men—and then it diverted materials from passenger and freight cars to tanks, guns, shells, and other war material.

Efforts are being made to induce some of the workers being released from war plants as a result of cutbacks to take railroad jobs. Government officials said, however, they do not expect many from this source because the Chicago area will get fewer cutbacks during the Japanese war than any other area in the country because of its versatility of war production.

Col. Morris and others emphasized that many of those taking railroad jobs now will be fairly well assured that their jobs will be permanent. Enlistment of new railroad workers is being handled thru the Railroad Retirement board, 409 W. Washington st.

PRICE OF BEST STEERS RISES TO CEILING OF $18

Chicago and eastern bidding created lively competition for cattle volume at the stock yards yesterday. Prime steers from an Iowa feedlot brought the $18 ceiling, the first time since the OPA placed the price lid on live cattle Jan. 29. Steers sold up to $18.50 last December.

Nearly all classes of beef animals were firm at the OPA maximum ranges in the strong to 25 cent higher trade.

Hog receipts at 13,000, direct shipments to packers included, were second largest for Thursday since March, but the four day total was lowest since September, 1939, and among the record lows for May. Buyers gave ceiling prices for nearly all offerings.

The best available matured lambs sold at $15.75 and native spring lambs brought $16.

Railroad Freight Traffic 1.6% Higher Last Week

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP).—The Association of American Railroads said today that 882,437 cars of revenue freight were loaded during the week ended May 26, an increase of 1.6 per cent over the preceding week.

People and Events

The Rock Island railroad's operating department has been reorganized into two districts instead of three with a general manager and an assistant general manager in charge of each, W. H. Hillis, operating officer, said yesterday. G. W. Raney will be general manager of the first district with headquarters in Chicago and C. L. Franklin of the second district with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo.

G. W. Raney

James H. Murphy, Conrad Tuerk, William R. Mee, and Walter F. Norris have become general partners of Cruttenden & Co. Tuerk, formerly was secretary and assistant general manager of W. F. Straub & Co. Norris, formerly a vice president of Commerce Union Bank of Nashville, Tenn., will be sales manager. Mee will continue as syndicate manager and Murphy as manager of the trading department.

The annual meeting of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, June 11 in the Drake hotel, will be addressed by Henry P. Nelson, WPB reconversion coördinator for the automotive industry, and Ray Chamberlain, executive vice president of the National Automobile Dealers' association. Paul B. Smithson is president of the Chicago group.

O. P. Olson, associated with Aldis & Co. since 1899 and manager of the Monadnock building for 27 years, retired yesterday. A farewell dinner was given by Russel Tyson, senior partner of Aldis, in the University club. Olson was born in Chicago in 1876 and has been a resident of Kenilworth for 19 years.

O. P. Olson

Charles Plohn, a partner of Newborg & Co., has been elected a director of General Finance corporation. He also is a director of Industrial Finance corporation and Universal Laboratories Inc. Plohn is a member of the New York Stock exchange, New York Curb, Chicago Stock exchange, Detroit Stock exchange, and other exchanges.

W. Russell Arrington, Allan Healy, Paul B. N. Lind, and George Fielder announced the formation of a new law firm under the name of Arrington, Fielder, and Healy. Arrington is a Republican state representative from the 6th [Evanston-Rogers Park] district. John J. Healy, father of Allan Healy, will be associated with the new firm as counsel.

Appointment of William R. Crawford, former public relations officer for the maritime commission's gulf-Great Lakes region, as advertising manager for the Reconstruction Finance corporation Chicago regional office in charge of surplus property disposal was announced by Peter I. Bukowski, regional manager.

Raymond T. O'Keefe Jr., Chicago, vice president in charge of industrial relations at the Kropp Forge Aviation company, has been appointed to the national advisory board of the National Association of Personnel Directors.

Dugald F. Gordon, who has returned to civilian life after three years with the army, has joined the copy department of Charles Daniel Frey advertising agency.

STOCK MARKET REACTS AFTER 5 GAINS IN ROW

Losses Run to $2; Some Trimmed

New York, May 31 (AP)—The stock market reacted today after five successive rising sessions to the highest levels since August, 1937. Prices weakened after a fairly steady opening and losses ran to 2 or more points altho some were reduced before the close. Individual spots of strength were in evidence, and the lightness of offerings encouraged bulls. Transfers of 1,210,000 shares compared with 1,600,000 Tuesday.

The turn to selling after the holiday was based partly on the thought of a technical correction, discussion of further government steps to restrain speculation, and the possibility of international complications in the dispute in Syria. Idle investment funds and post-war prosperity hopes persisted as support factors.

Average Declines 0.5

The Associated Press 60 stock composite dropped 0.5 to 66.1. Of 926 issues appearing, 452 declined, 268 rose, and 206 were unchanged.

Prominent losers included Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, United States Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, American Smelting, and International Nickel.

On the Curb, Fedders Manufacturing advanced 1⅝ on its first dividend since 1942. Pantepec rose 1¼.

KATY BONDS STRONG

New York, May 31 (AP)—Large gains in issues of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad and several other rail liens stood out in a quiet and uneven bond market today.

Without benefit of any generally known specific news developments Katy adjustment 5s boomed 8 points to a new top at 94 on sales of $103,000. The road's 5s, 4½s, first 4s, and 4s of 1962 rose 1 to 2¼ points on relatively heavy turnover.

Refunding 5s of the bankrupt Minneapolis and St. Louis railway soared 4½ points to 15½ and the 4s rose 1½ to 19½. Other strong issues included New Orleans Terminal 4s, Susquehanna refunding 5s, Rio Grande Western 4s, and Third Avenue adjustment 5s.

CHICAGO PRICES CLIMB

Prices again advanced yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange in turnover of 31,000 shares. Volume leaders included, Peabody Coal, Central and South West Utilities, and Curtiss-Wright, unchanged, and Chicago corporation and United States Steel, down fractions. Coleman Lamp and Stove soared 4½ to a new peak.

MORE NEWSREEL AND MOVIE FILM GRANTED BY WPB

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—More film will be available in the July-September quarter for the production of motion pictures and newsreels, the WPB announced tonight. It allotted 271 million feet of 35 millimeter motion picture film for entertainment pictures and 56,860,219 for newsreels.

The allotment for entertainment pictures was an increase of 10 million feet over the second quarter and 15 million over the first quarter. The allotment for newsreels was about 4 million feet above both the first and second quarters.

Keep 2 Roads in Operation, Trustees Ask

A report of the trustees of the Chicago, North Shore, and Milwaukee railroad, urging that the property be kept in operation and that after additional study a fair and feasible plan of reorganization be formulated, was approved yesterday in the federal District court of Judge Michael L. Igoe.

Heeding a request of the trustees, Judge Igoe ordered that 20,000 copies of the 90 page report be printed and that a copy be sent to every security holder and creditor. The document is elaborately illustrated with maps and pictures.

Urges Aurora-Elgin Continuance

At the same time the trustee of the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin railroad recommended that the road be kept in service, but said a number of factors should be considered before any reorganization is settled on. Among these are: Effect on the road's business of gasoline rationing and its lifting, development of the city's traction plans, and possible higher operating costs.

The Aurora-Elgin reported earnings of about $67,000 a year for 1943 and 1944, and it was indicated this might be wiped out by a moderate hike of pay rates.

The North Shore, which serves a large population between Chicago and Milwaukee, is in much better position financially, mainly because of traffic increases resulting from the war. A big factor is the travel of soldiers and sailors at Fort Sheridan and Great Lakes Naval Training center.

Costs Rise with Revenues

The trustees, John B. Gallagher and Edward J. Quinn, reported net income from operations was $464,000 in 1943 and $471,000 in 1944. Gross operating revenue in 1943 was $8,425,000 and in 1944 was $8,991,000; showing costs went up almost as much as revenues. Gross of the Aurora-Elgin was about one-fourth that of the North Shore.

Both railroads have been in receivership or bankruptcy for many years and in the depression years piled up huge deficits. Gallagher and Quinn held that if there is to be a North Shore reorganization it would be wise to scale down the company obligations. On this and other points the owners and creditors were asked to make suggestions.

PLAN 4 MILLION CIVILIAN RADIO TUBES MONTHLY

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—The WPB today said it plans to authorize the manufacture of 4 million radio tubes monthly for civilian purposes.

Under present plans the tubes would be used for replacements rather than for new home radio receivers. WPB estimated that the first million tubes available would restore 666,666 sets to operation, tho the same number would equip only 200,000 new five tube sets.

NO ADDED HIKE IN RATIONS OF GAS EXPECTED

Awaits Jap Defeat, Says Wilson

Except for the recently announced increase in gasoline rations, civilians probably can expect no further relief until after Japan is defeated, Dr. Robert E. Wilson, Standard Oil company [Indiana] chairman, told stockholders at the annual meeting in Whiting yesterday.

Robert E. Wilson

The OPA and the petroleum administration for war last week announced a 50 per cent increase in A gasoline rations for civilians, effective this month. The value of A gasoline coupons will be increased from four to six gallons on June 22 and mileage ceilings for B cards will be raised on June 11 to 650 miles a month thruout the country.

Plan to Improve Quality

However, improvement in the quality of gasoline for civilians should be possible soon thru expected release by the government of more lead for making the tetraethyl lead, said Wilson. The percentage of premium gasoline available then could be increased nearer motorists' needs.

Wilson and A. W. Peake, president, appearing at their first annual meeting as top officials, reported net earnings in the first quarter of 1945 were slightly higher than a year earlier. Production of special war products increased 62 per cent.

"In so far as these profits come from crude production they are to some extent fictitious because we are in effect selling off our shelves goods which cannot be replaced at anything like the previous cost," Wilson asserted.

Finding Costs Increase

"The office of price administration justifies ceiling prices on crude on the basis that most producing companies are showing good earnings, but this overlooks the fact that the cost of finding new domestic crude reserves has increased three or four fold during the last decade."

Reviewing company plans for large capital expenditures to improve refining facilities and products, Wilson predicted an increased demand for all petroleum derivatives after a temporary post-war slump in gasoline demand. He and Peake previously had announced

YARD IN INDIANA BUILDS 11 MILES OF STURDY LSTs

40 a Year Goal Is Topped by Wide Margin

BY CHARLES CHEADLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Evansville, Ind., May 31 – The LST, the navy's work horse landing ship that has made invasion anywhere possible, was not invented here, but more of them have been built in a bend of the Ohio river that was swamp four years ago than in any other ship yard.

The LST is a flat bottomed ship that goes almost anywhere and does almost anything. In Sicily, Italy, France, and in Pacific landings, the LST got men and guns and supplies where they were tagged to go.

The LST is that ungainly craft you see in pictures with its front gates open and a ramp filled with equipment or men being hurried onto a beach. It runs up on the beach just before high tide and drops a kedge anchor so that its stern deck winch can help ease the ship back into deep water.

Most Built at Inland Yards

It has been built by the hundred, mostly at inland yards many of which, like this, did not exist before the war. The Evansville yard of the Missouri Valley Bridge and Iron company, sponsor for seven companies, within a month will have turned out 167—nearly 11 miles—of LSTs.

The seven companies are the Missouri Valley company, Winston Brothers company, C. F. Haglin and Sons, Sollitt Construction company, Bechtel-McCone corporation, W. A. Bechtel company, and H. C. Price company. None had had any experience in ship building. They have built more than a half billion dollars in war plants.

The yard started in business on Feb. 11, 1942, with a goal of 24 ships. It never has been rated above 40 ships a year, but has not built so small a number since 1942.

Builds Other War Vessels

In addition to the LSTs, it found time to turn out four APBs, converted LSTs used as mother ships for small landing craft; 17 YFs, seagoing barges with a ship's hull used as floating warehouses; and 13 DYFs, self propelled ammunition lighters used for coastal and interisland work.

The yard hit a production peak in April and May 1944 when 20 LSTs were commissioned in 60 days. A dozen were turned over to the navy in May, a record for all shipyards.

To understand the extent of the job done by the farmers, lawyers, barbers, clerks, housewives, and beauty operators who went to work here when they were needed most it should be noted that not one employe in 100, including supervisors, foremen, and company officers, ever has been on a seagoing vessel, much less helped to build one.

Employes Learn Rapidly

Yet 19,300 persons, at the peak of employment reached here, were on the job. Welders learned their trade in four to six weeks. Others spent even less time grasping the fundamentals of shipbuilding. Mistakes were made, but rarely was the same one made twice. There never was a work stoppage for any reason.

"Most of our employes came to work here because they wanted to help win the war," said Frank Harrison, general manager. "They soon knew their jobs were just as important as those of millions of men in uniform, and they have been giving all they have.

"They worked thru rain and snow and never missed a date with the navy to turn over a ship. Every one was delivered on time or in advance of its due date. We are proud of our workers, who deserve all the credit."

Will Close in July

The workers have turned out 215 million dollars' worth of ships. The job here will be done by mid-July. Employment has fallen to 5,000. There have been few layoffs. Mostly the working force has dwindled thru normal turnover and a letdown in hiring efforts. Most of the remaining workers are willing when the last ship is commissioned to return to their old jobs or to keeping house again. The income has been welcome, and there are millions of dollars in war bonds tucked away.

Typical of a dozen women who said they wanted to get back to their homes was Elvira Larson, a welder supervisor. She said:

"The navy asked us for a landing barge that would take men and equipment to a beach and get them safely ashore. It was willing to spend $1,500,000 for each such craft and abandon it on the beach.

"Instead, it has been getting real ships, heavily armed [they carry about a score of guns, now] that can hit the beach dozens of times, have traveled as much as 100,000 miles, and are really winning the war. Most of us are satisfied that we have done a good job. We'll stay on as long as we are needed. Some of us will go to work in other places. I'm going home and get acquainted with my family again."

The navy has about 6 million dollars invested in temporary buildings, tools, equipment, and other facilities here. Some will be sold, some transferred to other yards, some abandoned. Officials said the net loss will be less than half the investment, or about 1 per cent of the value of the ships built. They don't think that's a bad deal.

CONTINENTAL BAKING

Continental Baking company has announced that, in addition to planning an issue of debentures for refunding, it proposes to reclassify its preferred stock.

Holders of the present $8 preferred stock would be offered 1.05 shares of new $5.50 dividend preferred, plus $7.50 cash, for each share. There are 241,500 preferred shares outstanding on which the annual dividend requirement is $1,932,000. On the proposed 253,575 shares of new preferred, the dividend would total $1,394,662, a saving of $537,338, equal to about 50 cents a share on the 1,075,429 common shares.

The company also expects to sell $16,500,000 of 3 per cent debentures and to apply part of the proceeds to the prepayment of its outstanding serial notes, consisting of $12,670,000 of 3⅛s and $2,505,000, with an average interest rate of 2.01 per cent from date of issue in 1941 to maturity. Interest charges last year were $527,722, compared with $495,000 interest on the proposed debentures. If the latter are to constitute the sole funded debt, the interest saving would be about $32,000, or 3 cents a common share, without allowance for the cost of the refinancing, premium for redemption of the old notes, or federal tax adjustments.

Earnings on the common last year amounted to 95 cents a share and in 1943 to $1.57.

UTAH OIL PLANS STOCK SALE TO BUILD PIPE LINE

Details of the proposed financing of a 4½ million dollar 10 inch oil pipe line to be built in the west were disclosed yesterday when Utah Oil Refining company registered with the securities and exchange commission 198,828 shares of $5 par common stock. Standard Oil company [Indiana] owns 75.2 per cent of Utah's outstanding common.

Utah will supplement the $1,784,873 net proceeds from the sale of stock with a $3,200,000 loan from banks in Utah, Colorado, and Illinois to build the line. It will extend from Rangely oil field in Rio Blanco county, Colo., to the Wamsutter station in Wyoming on Utah's main pipe line from Hunton Junction, Wyo., to Salt Lake City.

The shares will be offered to stockholders at the rate of one for each six held at $9 each.

Wilson said Standard's new administration was committed to the policy of expanding operations at least as fast as over-all demand expands in its marketing territories. It plans upgrading of products and research to develop new ones as well as to assure success in making products from raw materials other than liquid petroleum.

Anticipate Free Competition

Plans for the future were based on anticipation of conditions of free competition with other units in the industry.

"We are convinced that vigorous competition, whatever its headaches for management, is a necessary and powerful stimulus for invention, improvement, change, growth, better service, and all the other attributes of a healthy and progressive economy," he said.

Directors elected Bruce K. Brown vice president in charge of development and Buell F. Jones vice president and general counsel. Brown was general manager of research and development and Jones was general counsel. Joseph K. Roberts, director of research, was promoted to general manager of research. Directors and all other officers were reëlected.

ILLINOIS PACKER TELLS DISCOUNT ON A. & P. BUYING

Danville, Ill., May 31 (AP)—Frank A. Hunter, president of Hunter Packing company, East St. Louis, Ill., today testified in federal court his firm gave the A. & P. food chain a 5 per cent discount on sausage products beginning in 1940, and that it never before had given a customer a discount. He said the price list was lower than that which the company gave its salesmen, but that the latter was used as a guide and that salesmen could sell below list prices.

Hunter testified in the suit in which the government charges the New York Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company and 28 officers and subsidiaries with violating the anti-trust law.

Hunter said the discount was on a cost-saving basis and that sales to A. & P. were direct, and not thru salesmen.

DRY GOODS

NEW YORK, May 31 [AP]—Activity in cotton textiles today was confined to small sales of print cloths and sheetings for quick delivery. Trading circles looked to Washington for possible changes in textile ceiling prices or subsidy payment to mills as an incentive to increase production.

The scarcity of wool goods was unrelieved and allocations for fall lines to the converting trade was small. Only a limited volume of rayon goods moved to the cutting up trade as mill production was taken up by heavy military orders.

ENTERS RAIL DISPUTE

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was permitted to intervene in a Chicago hearing on a dispute between the Illinois Central railroad and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers over seniority rights of firemen promoted to engineers. Huston Thompson, Washington, D. C., attorney and chairman of the emergency board appointed by President Truman, said he believed the hearing would be completed by June 9.

FEDERAL RIVALS VIEWED AS MAIN UTILITY THREAT

Gail Belden, president of Central and South West Utilities company and American Public Service company, whose parent is Middle West corporation, yesterday said in his annual report to stockholders that the principal threat to the welfare of the electric light and power industry is subsidized government competition.

After a post-war adjustment period, the companies should continue to grow and develop with the territory they serve, but if they are forced to compete with government agencies which are financed by public funds and are exempt from taxes they cannot survive, Belden said.

Central and South West Utilities net income in the year ended Dec. 31, 1944, amounted to $1,824,357, compared with $1,762,545 in 1943. Consolidated net income of American Public Service was $1,004,728 last year, against $1,262,583 a year earlier.

GEN. ELECTRIC TO BUILD NEW BIG LABORATORY

New York, May 31 [Special]—As "General Electric's vote of confidence in the future," Charles E. Wilson, president of the company, announced today that an 8 million dollar research laboratory will be constructed near Schenectady, N. Y., within six months, or sooner if materials are made available.

It will be constructed on a 219 acre site overlooking the Mohawk river, "to enable scientists to continue into peace time the amazing progress that they have made during the war." Wilson said that industry's expedited research to produce better military equipment would result in better civilian products.

The laboratory will replace two of 20 maintained by the company. Its personnel will be increased from the 550 of the two present Schenectady laboratories to 800 as soon as technicians are found, he said.

WFA FIXES $1.38 AVERAGE LOAN ON 1945 WHEAT

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—The war food administration today announced growers loans on 1945 crop wheat at rates averaging $1.38 a bushel nationally. A similar program last year averaged $1.35.

The rates are an average of those applicable to wheat stored on farms. Loans will be made on wheat stored in suitable facilities on farms and in terminal markets.

The loan rates at terminal markets include: Number 1 hard winter at Kansas City $1.54, at Omaha $1.54, at Chicago $1.59, at St. Louis $1.59; number 1 heavy dark northern spring wheat at Minneapolis $1.56, and number 1 red winter at Chicago and at St. Louis $1.59.

ROCK ISLAND REDUCES TIME OF WEST COAST FAST TRAIN ONE HOUR

The Rock Island Lines will cut one hour off the running time of the Golden State Limited, all Pullman train between Chicago and Los Angeles, effective Sunday as a result of opening the new President Harry S. Truman bridge at Kansas City, A. D. Martin, passenger traffic manager, said yesterday. A more direct route was provided by the bridge, built in conjunction with the Milwaukee road, and a 12 million dollar track relocation development.

The Golden State Limited will leave La Salle st. station at 9 p. m.—one hour later than at present—and will make up most of the time before departure from Kansas City at 9:20 a. m. the next day.

The relocation program involved 100 miles of new roadbed and track between Davenport, Ia., and Kansas City, which reduced curves and grades.

SEC APPROVES COM. & SOUTHERN ONE STOCK PLAN

Philadelphia, Pa., May 31 (AP)—The Commonwealth and Southern corporation recapitalization plan providing for a single class of common stock was approved today by the securities and exchange commission. The plan provides for distribution of 8,979,234 new common shares and the common stocks of four subsidiaries on the basis of 85 per cent to present preferred and 15 per cent to present common stockholders. It gives no recognition to common stock purchase warrants.

The subsidiaries to be distributed comprise Commonwealth's northern group: Consumers Power, Jackson, Mich.; Central Illinois Light, Peoria, Ill.; Southern Indiana Gas and Electric, Evansville, Ind., and Ohio Edison, Akron. C. & S. would retain five utility subsidiaries operating in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina, and Florida.

CUT IN RESERVE BANK GOLD NEED VOTED BY HOUSE

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—The house today passed legislation reducing from 40 to 25 per cent the requirements of gold reserves to be held by federal reserve banks against federal reserve notes in circulation and from 35 to 25 per cent the gold required behind the deposits in federal reserve banks. The senate has passed similar legislation, with some different language, which must be adjusted before the measure goes to the White House.

GRAIN FUTURES RISE EARLY, BUT CLOSE IS UNEVEN

Grain futures closed irregular yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade after a strong opening in which wheat, oats, and rye rose ⅛ to 1¼ cents a bushel. Profit taking and large sales of wheat futures from the southwest, believed to be hedging operations against large receipts, unsettled the market.

Wheat closed ⅛ lower to ⅝ higher; corn, ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher; oats, ¼ to ⅝ higher, and rye, ½ to ⅞ lower.

Flour Demand Large

All deliveries of wheat set seasonal peaks early on unfavorable crop reports from Texas, Kansas, and Oklahoma; heavy mill buying, and short covering on Wednesday's announcement by the office of price administration of an immediate increase of 3¼ cents a bushel in wheat ceiling prices. The price increase was considered a stimulating force altho it had been expected. A more active influence, however, was an accelerated commercial demand for flour along with continued government buying.

Directors of the Board of Trade are expected to meet today to revise ceilings on wheat futures in line with the cash grain ceiling boost.

Corn Futures Strong

July corn sold at the ceiling thruout the session, its strength stimulating buying of deferred contracts, and both September and December went to new seasonal highs. September was only ¼ cent below ceiling at one time.

December rye delivery reached a new seasonal peak as did September and December oats.

FARM MACHINE QUOTAS LIFTED MONTH EARLY

Washington, D. C., May 31 (AP)—In a move to increase production of farm machinery, the WPB today eased manufacturers' restrictions for June to permit output and shipments above their quotas before July 1, when all quota restrictions will be removed. Today's action had the effect of permitting manufacturers to go ahead a month earlier.

Producers may use any material in inventory or obtained without priority assistance.

WPB advised its farm machinery and equipment labor advisory committee that it was imperative to increase farm machinery production 30 per cent in the next crop year from the level scheduled for the year to end July 30.
